Mrs. C. E. Newhouse of Springbrook, Yamhill county, has been here visiting this week with the family of C. E. Hoskins.—Gold Hill News.

President Edwin McGrew is to deliver the oration at the Fourth of July celebration at Dayton Saturday. The people of Dayton will hear a good address.

Owen Maris and brother, Ralph, left Saturday morning for Hot Lake, where they will work under their father, who is manager of the Wade fine stock farm.

C. A. Hodson and family left the middle of the week for Newport to spend the summer, Charlie to take charge of Dr. Min-thorn's bath house during the season.

C. J. Edwards went out to Newport Monday to do some work for Dr. J. H. Minthorn.
He was accompanied by his family, who went for recreation on the beach.

H. Cooper, who is in the employ of the Portland Anchor Fence Company, after spending a few days in Newberg, left the first of the week for Colfax, Washington, where he will make his headquarters for some time.

Young Charlie Fogg, son of A.
S. Fogg, formerly of Newberg, took the civil service examination for clerk some time ago, and has received notification that he ranks third among the candidates with a good grade. He will probably be given a position in the Portland post office soon.

With no celebration here Saturday, the people of this vicinity are preparing to let the eagle off easy this year, though the small boys will doubtless sing his tail feathers with firecrackers as usual. Several people will drive to Dayton, some to North Yamhill, while others will go on small picnic excursions.

Mrs. L. D. Barr, accompanied by her little daughter, Annabel, arrived Friday evening from Los Angeles, California, for a visit with relatives and friends, from whom she received a warm welcome. She says she can't see why people rave so over California, and for her part will take Oregon every time she gets the chance.

Aside from having a very good time in Portland at the State G.
A. R. Encampment last week, D.
H. Turner received the honor of the election as State Commander, which is a matter of congratulation, not only for Mr.
Turner, but also for the town he represents. The new commander was one of the youngest soldiers in the Union army in the civil war, serving both in the One Hundred and Thirty-second and in the One Hundred and Forty-eighth Indiana infantry. The greater part of his service was under General Thomas in the Army of the Cumberland. Mr.
Turner well merits the honor accorded him.

Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Nash of Beaver visited with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Eggers Sunday, the latter being a relative of theirs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Carter arrived home from Corvallis last week and will probably spend the summer at Chehalis Center.

Mackie & Dunstan are having their big warehouse near the depot, which they purchased of Ward, Barclay & Jones, neatly painted. H. L. Ward of Rex is slinging the brush.

M. Sears and his son, Zef, have purchased the J. G. Hadley building on West First street, which they will occupy together, the former with his shoe shop and Zef with the jewelry business.
They will live in the rear of the building.

By removing the partition between the two store rooms, Hollingsworth & Cooper have greatly added both to the appearance and convenience of their well supplied furniture house.
They have persisted in adding to and improving their building until they now have it just about right.

Walter and Curt Parker drove up to McMinnville Sunday and had an exciting little runaway just before reaching the county seat. At the first dash Walter was rolled out of the buggy and the lines were lost, leaving Curt in the rig riding at a perilous rate between the fence on one side and a deep ditch on the other. With a wild acrobatic leap he managed to light on the horse's back, get hold of the reins and stop the animal before any damage was done.

Hervy M. Hoskins, who has been attending college at Haverford, Pennsylvania, is expected home by his parents any day now. He was visiting relatives in Indiana and Kentucky, but did not say how long these visits would extend. While hoeing in the garden recently, D. E.
Wheeler unearthed a valuable gold ring. This should be an incentive for other McMinnville men to follow. Stir the soil, which often yields something more valuable than potatoes.—

'How the Old Horse Won the Bet' wouldn't be the proper heading to the story of the little 'speed a way' which came off on the road north of I. E. Holt's place Tuesday afternoon. Daddy Barton had made free to declare that his old gray could start even with Ralph Cooper and beat him in a race of two hundred yards. There were backers of the boy who maintained otherwise, and as there is but one proper way of settling such an argument, it was arranged to make a practical test of the proposition. News of the race was soon noised about, and as a result, two hundred sportily inclined spectators were present when the gun started the contestants. The pistol shot didn't seem to worry the old gray particularly, for it didn't get unlim-bered sufficiently to make the race interesting, the boy coming out twenty or thirty yards to the good. The sports demanded something more exciting and a sort of local 'Derby' was soon arranged. Elza Hadley and Willard Evans raced their ponies for a small purse, and as the first heat was a tie, they tried it again, Hadley's pony winning out. The sporting blood of some of the elders had become warmed up by this time, the result being a race between Lon Hadley on his big iron gray and H. E. Follett on his bay pony, the gray coming in winner. 'And the day was over.'
