J. W. Nevitt has been suffering more than usual from the accident he sustained last summer, for the past few days, but is now able to be around on the streets again.

G. A. Demo, a telegraph operator of Minneapolis, Minnesota, visited with C. W. Train and family a couple of days the first of the week. He thinks Newberg a fine place, and looked around with a view of buying.

If it should be decided to build another public school building, probably about the best site in town where a full block could be had would be the west half of the grounds owned by the Friends church, but this is not on the market.

C. J. Edwards has sold the engine and boiler at the electric light plant to H. A. Grafe & Son, and will put in a larger power plant to keep pace with the increase in business. The change will not be made however until later in the season.

That petition which was circulated so very quietly a short time ago, asking the council to grant a license for a billiard hall has been folded up and laid away since the city election was held, as the makeup of the new councilmen don't look good to those who were fathering the scheme. The people of Newberg may be caught napping some time and allow the bars to be let down for the entering wedge for a saloon in town, but that time has not yet arrived.

Dr. Thomas Hester came up from Portland Tuesday evening to attend a meeting of the Kaak Development Company. Seth A. Mills has been elected superintendent of the fishery in Alaska owned by the company and it is his intention to leave here with his wife and the younger children for that point about the first of March, and will be gone probably eight months. The first work at the fishery will probably be on halibut, as they have a good offer from a Seattle company for all they can put up.

From reports that come in regarding the condition of the roads north and east of town it appears that the time is auspicious for a "good roads" meeting.

W. C. Woodward left on Monday for Southern California, expecting to take in the sights from San Francisco south, and intending to be gone a month or more.

Omer Moore got one of his hands a little too close to a saw at the mill on Monday and Dr. Minthorn had to take several stitches in order to put the injured hand in a proper way for recovery.

Claud Ferguson who sold his farm up the valley some time ago, moved to town the first of the week and is occupying the neat cottage just north of G. W. Mitchell's residence, recently built by J. W. Forsyth.

Mrs. Mary Johnson who lives on a farm six miles northwest of Newberg, will make a public sale of personal property on Saturday, February 6, consisting of horses, cattle, hogs, farming implements, grain and various other articles. L. M. Smith is billed as auctioneer.

The college athletic association is arranging to make some decided improvements in the gymnasium. It is proposed to cut out the north side and add on a room with seats in tier for spectators; also next season to enlarge the gymnasium proper. Such changes will make a very satisfactory and creditable gymnasium.

The winter has been so mild that no unusual amount of fuel has been required, but the price of wood that is dry runs up into the pictures, on account of the short supply cut last season. A large amount of wood is required to supply the home demand, and any man who has timber need not fear having it cut into wood as the price will be remunerative.

President Charles E. Lewis left here on Monday for League City, Texas, in response to a telegram announcing the very serious illness of both his parents who are well along in years, they having celebrated their golden wedding some time last year. League City is twenty-five miles north of Galveston. Later—a telegram came Monday afternoon announcing the death of his mother.

The street leading from the Portland road to the cemetery was plowed and graded last season and being so narrow that travel is concentrated on one track, almost without variation, it has now become so muddy that it is almost impassible. With a light coating of gravel this street would be all right, but it was poor policy to plow it up and leave it as it was left in the fall, for it would have been much better for travel this winter without any work having been done on it at all.

If you want to see a neat and up-to-date job of papering drop into the new Bond building on First street, where the Pressnall Brothers are opening out with a new and complete stock of paints and wall paper. For rich and tasty effects, the papering on the walls of the room is about the swellest thing in the line of decorations in town. The boys are preparing to meet the demand for high-grade work in painting and paper-hanging, and they will be glad to have the public call on them in their new quarters.

Prof. Kelsey has made some changes in his plans for the work of the Knox-Kantner quartet during the spring months, and he and Mrs. Kelsey returned home from California the first of the week. The quartet will fill dates already made as far south as Sacramento, after which work will be taken up with the Antisaloony League for two months prior to the election. The League is very fortunate in being able to get them, for, while Knox and the other boys will put up a high class entertainment, Prof. Kelsey will make a more logical plea for temperance legislation than half the big speakers give the public on such occasions.
