FRIDAY, MARCH 18, 1904.

The war in the Orient is entirely too slow to suit the big daily papers.

County roads are reported to be very much like colds just now. They are bad.

Buffalo Bill has been married to his wife for forty years and now asks for a divorce. The old fools are not all dead yet.

It is stated that General Nelson A. Miles has signified a willingness to accept the nomination for president on the prohibition ticket.

As the night brings out the stars, so each bright day brings out the music of the hammer and the saw. Simply a precursor of the general chorus we may expect in Newberg with the coming of settled weather. Let'er come.

Westerners are, indeed, a nomadic people. Glance up and down the streets of Newberg and you can almost count on the fingers of one hand the men who are now engaged in business here who occupied the same positions five years ago.

This man Smith of Utah says he has five wives and claims to get along nicely with the entire lot, while here in Newberg it seems to worry some fellows to trot by the side of one wife through sunshine and cloudy weather and keep sweet.

It is very unfortunate for Oregon that it has become the custom in assessing property, to place the valuation so far below its actual worth, that the rate must necessarily be put high in order to raise the necessary amount of money. With a higher valuation the rate could be lowered in a corresponding ratio and no one would pay out any more money for taxes on account of the change. Under the present system it scares a stranger to tell him the high rate we are paying. County assessor Chandler is to be commended for his efforts in trying to make a twenty per cent increase in values in the assessment this year.

The farmers up in Polk county evidently believe in asking for the whole loaf. At a recent grange meeting a resolution was passed asking the postoffice department to require rural carriers to carry the mails every day in the year, holidays and Sundays included. This reads like the story which goes that a boy who fell in the river was saved from a watery grave by a fellow who plunged in and at the risk of his life, saved the boy. The father of the lad arrived soon after and seeing that his son was safe, made a request of the rescuer that as he was already wet to please swim out and get the boy's hat that was floating away.

With the best effort that may be put forth it is more difficult to keep a church or a public hall that is only used once or twice a week in as good a condition, from a sanitary point of view, as a room that is in daily use; and with the little attention that is usually given to this matter it is little wonder that persons in poor health hesitate to attend public gatherings, especially during the winter season. Medical Talk says: A church may become a very death-trap for a congregation if it is not properly ventilated. The air becomes vitiated and filled with the carbonic acid gas breathed out by the many people. Then the congregation goes home, the church is closed, and the impure and polluted air is allowed to remain in the church throughout the week. The next time the people assemble they must re-breathe this same old, dead air. If it is in the winter time the air has been heated making it that much worse. The windows are all closed. The people come in from the out-door air and sit down to breathe this stuffy atmosphere. They become drowsy and fidgety and nervous. Their heads begin to ache. They don't know what is the matter with them. They never think of opening a window and letting in some fresh air. When they go out into the winter air again they take cold. They have tonsillitis, bronchitis, pneumonia, and they lay the foundation for consumption. All because the church had not been ventilated. If you go to church or have anything to do with a church, let your voice be heard in this matter. Insist upon it that the church be aired thoroughly after every service, and that during every service there be some means of ventilation provided. If you are a preacher, preach to your people the gospel of fresh air. Provide them with air and they will not go to sleep while you are talking. Drive home to them the sin of polluting their lungs with poisonous air. Impress upon them the sacredness of the body and the harmfulness of contaminating it with the unclean air of an unventilated church. Never talk to them about saving their souls while their lungs are being poisoned by foul air. See that your church is swept and cleaned and dusted, that the life-giving oxygen is allowed to play through every corner of it, that the health and comfort of the congregation is assured—this will constitute a more lasting benefit than all the prayer and song service that could be uttered in a close, stuffy, unventilated room.

For the special benefit of the Telephone-Register, the Graphic will say that its columns are always open for any one who may desire to say a word to the public; and when the writer signs his name to the article, the editor does not always consider it incumbent on him to make comments on the same. When the editors of the T.-R. suggest that such a course is necessary, they simply advertise themselves as spring chickens in the newspaper business.

A Monopoly.

A woman once asked a little girl of five if she had any brothers.

"Yes," said the child. "I have three brothers."

"And how many sisters, my dear?" asked the woman.

"Just one sister and I'm it," replied the little girl.—Ex.

The Name Witch Hazel.

The name witch hazel is much abused. E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago are the inventors of the original and only genuine witch hazel salve. A certain cure for cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, tetter, piles, etc. There are many counterfeits of this salve, some of which are dangerous while they are worthless. Good Enough.

A certain parson of the old school, who had preached a sermon of the finest, old-fashioned flavor, after deploring the new-fangled doctrines of some of his younger brethren—especially the ideas of the heaven and other historic places which they inculcated in their discourses—wound up his own discourse by saying, "Brethren, the hell of our fathers is good enough for me."—Ex.

Colds Cause Pneumonia.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Jenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of one minute cough cure. She says: The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used one minute cough cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength. Sold by F. H. Caldwell & Co.
