It is Hermann against the field and he will be the winner.

While our favorite sons are all right and we are proud of them, we have not got offices enough to go around, and as Hermann has been true to every trust imposed in him by the people, there is no doubt but he will again be the choice of the coming convention.—Toledo Reporter.

There is a disease among horses in eastern Oregon which is very liable to spread to this valley and which has already caused great loss where it first originated. Mr. McLean, state veterinarian, acting under orders from the Oregon Domestic Animal Commission, has quarantined about six hundred head of horses infected, some of which have been shot, for which the owners can recover no damage. This mange has already been discovered among horses in the Willamette Valley and every effort is now being used to check it. Great care should be used that our own stock be not exposed for the ailment is not only very contagious but incurable.

T. O. S. F. T. E. O. I. C. S. are the initials, according to the prevailing style of the newest organization in the country. Translated, it means The Oregon Society for the Emancipation of India from Caste Slavery. It is being promoted by some ladies scattered over the state and has reached the "reception period," enlivened with reading "Life in Bombay," and "brilliant musical numbers." The society meets in Portland on Wednesday evening, April 6th, but the date is unannounced as to when active work will begin in India. It may require a musical or church fair or both before they are ready to start, but when they do start old Mr. Caste will take to the Ganges river at once.

Lethargy on the part of the better class of people in Oregon will cause the defeat of the proposed local option law. Enthusiastic, persistent effort will win the day. How much do good temperance people really desire the privilege of ousting the saloon from a community where the majority have no use for it? As much as the adherents of the saloon and its influences desire that the sign "hands off" shall remain official as now? The latter are showing their faith by their works and are letting no grass grow under their feet while throwing obstacles in the way of the passage of the measure. May the temperance people, be as fervent in spirit in a righteous cause as are their opponents in an unrighteous one.

Great Importance to Newberg.

Another mutual telephone company has been organized with C. S. Calkins, Thos. Herd and six or eight others as members. This is the second line to cross Chehalem mountain, north, and is called the Fairview Telephone Company, and goes by way of Calkins', Herd's, Soper's and Bowman's, to connect with Scholls Ferry line, which will give Newberg direct communication with over six hundred more telephones, including Hillsboro, Tigardville and Portland City limits. Newberg will then have free exchange with about 1500 phones, reaching from Portland to Dallas and Sheridan. The plan is so cheap, and the benefit to be derived therefrom so great, that no one can afford to be without a telephone in this day and age.

When a company of eight or ten is organized, and brings a line into town, it costs each member from twenty-five to thirty dollars, including one of the best phones. Then he has the privilege of talking all over the entire mutual system, for only twenty-five cents per month. Each company owns its own line, and each member his own phone. People are beginning to see the advantages of the Mutual telephone system and companies are organizing all over the country.

The poles are being made ready and preparations are going on to complete the commercial line between Newberg and McMinnville.

The Newberg company has a night operator, and is placing new phones every week. New lines are being run in. Some now in contemplation will add twenty or thirty more to our system.

The Champoeg branch is adding new phones in Marion county to its line. Sheridan has a lot of phones and is arranging for a switch-board. Dallas and Monmouth are organizing, as is North Yamhill. Dayton, McMinnville and other towns keep adding new phones.

Nothing has ever spread so rapidly and given such good results as the mutual telephone system in Oregon for the last two years. Everybody should talk mutual telephone.

A SUBSCRIBER.

A Bull.

A bull, or as sometimes called, an "Irish Bull," is a statement or expression the terms of which are absurdly inconsistent.

A prominent store in Portland known as the "Different Store" has a high price ad writer who was certainly imbued with a strong bovine spirit of recklessness when with hyperbolic eloquence he headed his advertising effusion in last Friday's Telegram as follows: "The Man with the Hoe" directs the course of this grand old mercantile ship. With firm hand and steady eye he steers it past the rocks etc., straight for the port of success—and he keeps on digging."

That's good, "steering and digging." Digging what? The writer then informs us he is "digging weeds." That's better still, "steering the ship and digging weeds" at one and the same trip. But how can this "Man with the Hoe" steer that ship and dig weeds with his own "firm hand" and his one "steady eye" unless he holds the hoe in that one "firm hand" to steer with and digs the weeds with that one "steady eye." This would be hard on that one "steady eye" but this "man with the hoe" we are told in the next line learned to dig years ago when he dug down under where this big establishment stands today. And he kept on digging. Now if this "man with the hoe" kept at it as stated here, what is he doing out there among the "shoals and derelicts" with that one "firm hand and steady eye," when he is also "still digging" down under Sam Gardner's engines and boilers in the second or third strata of the basement.

Shades of J. Francois Millet and Edwin Markham, for they both invented the "Man with the Hoe," give us a rest, but don't let that Bull loose in the china shop on the top floor of the Different Store or it will be a different store with a big D.

You want one that is pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all of these conditions. There is nothing so good for the coughs and colds incident to childhood. It is also a certain preventive and cure for croup, and there is no danger whatever from whooping cough when it is given. It has been used in many epidemics of that disease with perfect success. Taking Desperate Chances.

It is true that many contract colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand each succeeding cold and paves the way for more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of colds, can be had for a trifle. For sale by C. F. Moore & Co.

I have, I believe, sold fifty boxes of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets on the recommendation of one lady here, who first bought a box of them about a year ago. She never tires of telling her neighbors and friends about the good qualities of these tablets.—P. M. Shore, druggist, Rochester, Ind. The pleasant purgative effect of these tablets makes them a favorite with ladies everywhere. For sale by C. F. Moore & Co.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at F. H. Caldwell & Co's. drug store.
