The committee in charge is preparing for a big local option rally, the mass meeting to be addressed by Dr. E. L. House of Portland. A big attendance is assured, as Newberg people have heard this man before. Some entertaining features are being prepared and a big meeting is expected. Date, Friday, April 15.

Walter R. Miles goes to Philomath this (Friday) evening to speak for Pacific College in the prohibition state oratorical contest. Our college will be ably represented, and Mr. Miles' friends expect him to make somebody hurry if they beat him. The distance to Philomath is such that he will probably go unattended by any of his schoolmates.

At the meeting of the city council Monday night, the finance committee recommended that persons engaged in the following avocations be taxed per quarter as follows: draymen, two-horse vehicle, $5, one-horse, $3; real estate agents $10; bowling alleys $20; owners of buildings where public dances are held, $5 per each dance; insurance agents, life $5, fire $3. The council concurred and instructed the recorder to draw up an ordinance embodying the above. In the meantime there will be several counties heard from or our guess is wrong.

R. W. Kelsey gave his friends an unusually glad hand on his last trip to Newberg, he being nominated last week by the prohibitionists of the First District for congress.

Chas. Skidmore, a traveling man, took dinner with his former teacher, Clarence Butt, Friday. Mr. Skidmore's father performed the ceremony at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Butt at Fairview some ten years ago.

When politics and general litigation are not sufficiently strenuous to engage all his attention, M. O. Pickett will be found holding the strings over that colt—a recent purchase of his from which great results are expected.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Mills, with their three youngest girls, leave the latter part of this week for Kaak, Alaska, where Seth will manage the business of the Kaak Development Company the coming season. They will probably be gone until September or October.

A large audience gathered at the Friends church Saturday evening to hear the Knox Concert Company talk and sing for local option. Prof. Kelsey, in his opening remarks, stated that it was not an occasion for entertainment, but aside from the main purpose of the meeting, the audience would nevertheless have voted itself royally entertained. The male trio gave some good selections in keeping with a local option campaign, and Mr. Knox came to the fore as of yore with some of his choice readings. As the champion of the proposed measure, Prof. Kelsey gave an excellent exposition of the bill, speaking enthusiastically of the results probable in case of its passage, and he expresses himself as being confident that it will pass. In his estimation, it is the strong sentiment of the people that the fundamental principle of representative government shall obtain in Oregon, and that people shall have a right to say saloon or no saloon. The amount of nearly seventy dollars was raised in the meeting to carry on the local option campaign.
