Canada's Monopoly of Asbestos.

While asbestos is found pretty much all over the world Canada comes near having a monopoly in its actual production. Twenty-five years ago only 300 tons, valued at $200,000, was mined in Canada. Now the annual export of asbestos is about 40,000 tons, valued at $1,000,000, and the industry is still growing. About 85 per cent of the world's product is mined in the vicinity of Richmond, Canada.

Science AND INVENTION

The recent news of the sinking of the level of the Sea of Azof, threatening some of the commercial interests of Russia, is supplemented by a report that the Aral Sea and Lake Balkash, the first 1,000 and the second nearly 2,000 miles east of Azof, are rising, although up to 1891 the Aral Sea had for many years been sinking. Some geologists think these changes are due to slow upheavals and subsidences of the earth's crust.

There will soon be added to the natural curiosities at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington an albino deer, which was shot recently in the Canyon mountains in Oregon. The coat of the animal is snow-white and very soft, and its eyes were pink. It was in company with ordinary deer when killed. Hunters have occasionally told stories of seeing and chasing albino deer, but they very rarely get within gunshot, and are usually seen alone, the herds of their relatives apparently avoiding their company.

A company has been formed to develop the great Victoria Falls, on the Zambesi River in Africa, as a source of electric energy. These falls rank among the greatest cataracts in existence. The total descent of the water is more than 400 feet. At Niagara the total amount of energy running to waste has been reckoned at 7,000,000 horse-power, but the corresponding energy of the Victoria Falls is said to be no less than 35,000,000 horse-power. When utilized, it is thought that this energy can be employed for working a large part of the South African Railway, and that it can be transmitted by cable to the gold mines of the Rand, 800 miles and more away.

Ants with long and powerful mandibles have been successfully used for making surgical stitches. The majority of Greek surgeons keep stocks of them, and upon the arrival of a person suffering from a clean cut the ants are brought into use. The edges of the cut are brought together with the fingers of one hand, while the ant, held with a pair of forceps, is brought close to the wound with the other, its mandibles biting through the flesh on both sides and holding the edges together. Its head is then promptly nipped off, and the mandibles are left to take the place of surgical stitches. As many as fifteen or twenty are sometimes used for a single cut, and they are usually left on for three or four days. Their removal is then far easier than the withdrawal of the wire ordinarily used for the purpose.

"I have no doubt," said M. Currie, "that a kilogram of radium would be sufficient to destroy the population of Paris, granting that they came within its influence. Men and women would be killed just as these mice were killed. They would just feel nothing during their exposure to the radium nor realize that they were in danger. And weeks would pass after their exposure before anything would happen. Then gradually the skin would begin to peel off, and their bodies would become one great sore. Then they would become blind. Then they would die from paralysis and congestion of the spinal cord." Despite this rather gloomy prospect, certain experiments at the Pasteur Institute may encourage us to believe that, for all its menace of destruction, radium is destined to bring substantial benefits to suffering mankind.

Dashed to Earth Again.

"It's real interesting to read about these folks that lived in mythological times," said Mr. Cobb, as he put a slip of paper in his library book and shut it carefully. "Seems as if nine o'clock came quicker than ever I knew it to before."

Mrs. Cobb was putting a large patch on one elbow of her waist, and she held it close to the lamp in what seemed to her husband an ostentatious way. He turned sidewise in his chair to avoid the view.

"There was that feller Atlas," he said, musing. "He was strong beyond anything we have nowadays. Why, he supported the heavens on his head and hands; held 'em up in place till they got kind of set, I judge. What muscle such a man as that must have had!" and Mr. Cobb doubled his right fist and brought it up to his shoulder while the fingers of his left hand felt his arm with apparent satisfaction.

"What an appetite he must have had!" said Mrs. Cobb, tartly; "and while he was supporting the heavens—work the Lord could have done without any of his help—I'll risk but what his wife was supporting him! And tomorrow I guess your cold'll be well enough so you can go over to the squire's and begin on that wood they want chopped and piled."

An Inference.

NO APPETITE - EMACIATED - NERVOUS.

Many Women During the Spring Months Suffer From Extreme Lassitude, Loss of Appetite and Nervousness---What They Need Is

PE-RU-NA, THE GREAT TONIC.

Miss Bertha M. Rush, 5435 Kincardine street, Pittsburg, Pa., Superintendent Junior Society of Methodist Protestant Church and leading soprano of the choir, writes: "Words cannot describe my thankfulness to you for Peruna. I was a sufferer from systemic catarrh for years and was in a very much run down condition. I was extremely nervous and had the most foolish fears over nothing. I was thin and emaciated."

"My physician advised me to leave this climate but as it was not convenient to do so at this time, I took the advice of a friend to use a bottle of Peruna. I took it faithfully and when the first bottle was gone I felt so much better that I bought six more and took them faithfully, after which I looked like a new woman."

"I gained in flesh, my appetite returned and all my old symptoms had disappeared. I am more than thankful to Peruna."—Miss Bertha M. Rush.

I AM TIRED.

Everybody Is Tired—Spring Weather Does It—Every One Should Be Cautious.

Depression of the nervous system at the approach of spring is the cause.

General lassitude, dull, heavy sensations, continual tired feeling, with irregular appetite, and sometimes loss of sleep. Peruna meets every indication and proves itself to be perfectly adapted to all their varied peculiarities. Peruna invigorates the system, rejuvenates the feelings, restores the normal appetite and produces regular sleep.

That tired feeling which is the natural result of the depressing effect of warm weather immediately after the invigorating cold of winter, quietly disappears when Peruna is taken. Thousands are daily testifying to its priceless benefit.

Mrs. H. Kassatt, 1309 W. 13th street, Des Moines, Ia., writes: "I am happy to give my endorsement for your valuable medicine, Peruna, as I consider it a valuable medicine to take when the system is run down from overwork. About two years ago I felt that I must take a long rest as I had been unable to work for over a month and could not regain my strength. I could not sleep at night and was in a very nervous, high strung condition. I decided to try what Peruna would do to build up my strength, and am pleased to say that I began to improve very shortly, and in less than two months I was able to take up my work, and felt better than I have for years. I take it now twice a year and find that it keeps me in perfect health." Mrs. Kassatt was for over ten years the manager of a plant furnishing ladies' wear and employing hundreds of women.
