Fully one hundred people went from Newberg to Champoe Monday to attend the celebration of Oregon's natal day, though a great number caught the down boat too late to attend the exercises. The program, arranged in honor of Oregon's sixty-first birthday anniversary, is reported as being excellent. The day was ideal for such a gala occasion.

An unusually sad and tragic accident happened in the Prather family Tuesday morning. The Prathers had just moved to the John McCleery house, and had left some bottles in a back room. Their little eighteen months old boy was playing, about, and his mother noticed soon that he had a bottle, on taking which she smelled carbolic acid. The little fellow ejaculated, "Oh, mamma, it burns!" and was almost at once dead in her arms. The bottle was not labeled and though it contained some carbolic acid it is not known just what the deadly poison was. The funeral took place on Wednesday, interment being made at Middleton. Since the above was written it is learned that the bottles mentioned were in the house when the family moved in and as both parents were in rather poor health, they had not taken the time to remove them.

The Graphic has just put out a nice lot of stationery for the Yamhill County Board of Exhibit for the Lewis and Clark fair, of which J. M. Atkinson of this place is secretary. The board is taking up the work with zeal and should have the active co-operation of the county in putting old Yamhill strictly to the fore at the big centennial next year.

On arriving home Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. John Larkin found that zealous friends had adorned the premises in a way to give the bride and groom an appropriate welcome. The verandahs were gaily festooned with old shoes of all sizes and descriptions, pierced cupid's hearts, etc., the effect being heightened by a big "welcome home" ensign.

The local post of the G. A. R. has procured a fine 90-foot flag pole, which the veterans have carefully dressed and neatly painted. On the day of their next regular meeting, Saturday, May, 14, they expect to erect the pole near the band stand, the raising to be accompanied with appropriate exercises.

The Pacific College boys did better than they anticipated in their field meet with McMinnville Saturday, and had they taken along enough men to win more second and third places, would have given the county seat collegians a hard race. As it was, the latter came out, with about twenty points to the good, not counting the discuss event. Orville Johnson won the mile run, Perry Macy the half-mile, Aubrey Kramien took the shot put and tied for first place in the pole vault, Wilfred Pemberton gathered up the one hundred yard dash, while Worth Coulson at least tied for first place if he did not win the high hurdles. But the event which doubtless gave Newberg the most unalloyed satisfaction was the half-mile run, in which Perry Macy, in the first race of his life, beat Cummins, the much vaunted McMinnville long distance runner.
