In the presence of a large company of citizens the stars and stripes were flung to the breezes from the new flagpole with eclat Saturday afternoon. Clarence Butt made a few appropriate remarks and patriotic songs were sung by the school children. May the display of Old Glory never fail to awaken enthusiasm.

Dr. H. C. Dixon came up from Grants Pass last week and after looking about, decided to enter upon the practice of dentistry in Newberg. To that end he has purchased a corner lot on First street east of the home telephone office, upon which he will have a two story building erected as soon as possible. His family will arrive in a few days and they will rent either the new house being erected by J. W. Forsyth or the cottage occupied by Claud Ferguson, should the latter desire the new building. The Dixon brothers have been very successful in business in Grants Pass, but Elmer is forced to take a rest on account of poor health, and as H. C. prefers Newberg for a home he comes back among friends while there is an opening.

Hon. B. L. Eddy of Tillamook, republican candidate for circuit judge for this the third district, and Dr. G. S. Wright of McMinnville, republican candidate for joint senator for Yamhill, Lincoln and Tillamook counties, drove down from the county seat Saturday afternoon and made a brief visit in Newberg. They have no cause for worry in this part of the county.

Coroner T. B. Cummings made a trip to Dayton Friday to hold an inquest over the body of Mrs. Martin Drake who was found dead in the creek near her home four or five miles southwest of town early that morning. The verdict was suicide, caused by mental derangement brought on by illness. She left the house without the knowledge of the family at some late hour in the night, her absence not being discovered until next morning.

If some people in this town would give their boys and girls as much attention as they do their cows, which they secure by staking out in sight of home, the prospects for a lot of young people going to the bad would not be so brilliant. Girls in the foolish and giddy stage who imagine themselves young ladies are allowed to roam the streets day and night with empty pated young cigarette fiends, loaf in the postoffice and other public places, and put themselves in a questionable light before the public. If dire results do not follow, it will be more from chance than from the guiding and restraining influence of parents who are criminally negligent of their duty. This may sound rather harsh but such words are better uttered now than after something happens.

General Joubert whose name figured prominently in the newspapers during the South African war as one of the Boer leaders, is billed to lecture in Newberg Saturday evening in the Friends church under the auspices of Pacific College and the public school. He tells a graphic story of the lost cause, and gives a good idea of the Boer people and their history. In speaking of his address in the Marquam Grand at Portland, the Oregonian says: "He surprised his hearers by his flashes of humor and told many witty stories which relieved his address of somberness. His plain, unvarnished account of his own wounding and capture after a half-hour's fight by himself and six of his staff against a force of 600 British soldiers was intensely dramatic. His address displayed a large grasp upon the history of his people, a deep devotion to the cause for which he fought and an unwavering resolve not to pass under the yoke of the conqueror." Admission to Saturday night's lecture 25c.
