Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Lewis said farewell to Newberg friends Monday morning and left for their home at Paonia, Colorado, expecting to stop a few days at Berkeley, California. They have done an excellent work for Pacific College the past year for which the friends of the institution are very grateful.

Chas. Larkin has sold his farm on the Dayton road five miles southwest of Newberg to a Mr. Johnson, a recent arrival from Wisconsin, the consideration being $10,800. It is understood that Mr. Larkin will move to Newberg for the present on giving up possession of the farm.

At a called meeting of the city council held Monday evening it was decided to improve the city water works by putting in a new concrete reservoir with a capacity of 150,000 gallons. It is the purpose of the council to put in the reservoir close to the present one and to use both the new and the old one. The improvement will begin as soon as possible.

M. F. Corrigan has appointed Vine W. Pearce of North Yamhill as his deputy. This is a good appointment as Mr. Pearce is thoroughly qualified to perform all the duties of the office and is a very pleasant and agreeable person to transact business with. Mr. Corrigan and deputy have been in the office part of this week making themselves acquainted with the various duties they will have to perform.—Telephone Register.

John J. Spencer of McMinnville died Saturday afternoon from paralysis and was buried in the old family burying ground at Dundee on Monday. "Jack" Spencer, as he was well known all over Yamhill county, was a man of very great native ability and had in him the making of big lawyer had he properly applied himself. At one time he was prominent in Yamhill county politics. Mr. Spencer was fifty-two years of age and unmarried.

The new proprietor is out after some business in this section and attention of hop growers is called to his advertisement which appears in the columns of the Graphic.

Abner B. Cook, a brother of the wife of Dr. Aaron Mills, died at St. Vincent's hospital in Portland last Friday morning of brain fever. The deceased was born in Hendricks county, Indiana. He had been a Christian from early manhood and was a member of the Friends church. Two years ago he came to Oregon from Missouri with his three children, two sons and a daughter. He assisted in the work at the oil well west of Newberg when the prospecting was being done, but for a year or more he had been running a dynamo in the Macleay building in Portland. The remains were brought here for burial on Saturday evening and a short funeral service was conducted at the grave by Mrs. M. E. K. Edwards. Mrs. Mills who lives at Fisher, Lincoln county, was unable to get out for the funeral as the distance was too great, a day and a half being required to reach Philomath, the nearest railroad station.

MILES THE FINAL WINNER.

Pacific College Wins National Prohibition Oratorical Contest at Indianapolis.

"It's most too good to be true." That was the general thought and expression here yesterday morning when the word was passed around that on the previous evening Pacific College's orator, Walter R. Miles, met all comers in the final national prohibition oratorical contest at Indianapolis and walked away with first honors. He was expected to give a good account of himself, but his strongest supporters scarcely dared hope that the boy would defeat the mature and seasoned orators from all over the United States which would be pitted against him at Indianapolis.

News of the victory came by telegram from Prof. R. W. Kelsey, which stated that Miles received three firsts on delivery and that the state of Illinois was awarded second honors. Details of the contest are not yet obtainable, but the headlines contain enough news to satisfy for some time to come.

This victory will mean for Pacific College the biggest advertisement in its history. Its scope is national. It speaks forcibly for the small educational institution which can win out over the big universities of the country. One of the orators defeated by Miles was W. Clifford Smith of the University of California who won the Pacific Coast contest last year and who was hailed as such a wonder. The Friends colleges are maintaining an enviable record in prohibition oratory, the first national contest held at Chicago in 1900 being won by Miles' trainer, R. W. Kelsey of Earlham College.

It is understood that Mr. Miles will visit Indiana relatives for a few weeks before returning home. A hearty welcome awaits him at this end of the line.
