G. A. R. Veterans Capture Brouillette Home by Surprise Sortie.

Members of the Shiloh Post, G. A. R. with their wives, representing the Relief Corps, gave Rev. T. Brouillette a pleasant surprise party on Saturday Dec. 10th, the occasion being his 62nd birthday. A delightful evening was spent. A number of musical selections were rendered by Miss Louise Cutts and Mrs. Chas. Lapp, delicious refreshments were served, and reminiscences of the war of the Rebellion enlivened the festivities.

The many experiences of the battlefield as well as the less tragic tales of the "old camp ground" can never lose their interest for the defenders of the Union, and the veterans seem never happier than when they get together and find sympathetic listeners to the un-written history of their matchless struggle.

The guests brought a number of lovely presents, but the gift which commanded special appreciation was tendered by Wm. Clemmens, commander of the Post. This consisted of a beautiful watch fob. His presentation remarks were very appropriate and breathed a true spirit of fraternity, loyalty and charity. In reply Rev. Brouillette expressed the hope that the spirit of the hour might be always the dominant element among members of the Grand Army.

The guests felt that the evening had been both enjoyable and profitable, and all expressed the hope that their host might see many returns of so delightful an occasion. Aside from the Brouillettes, those present were: Post Commander Wm. Clemmens and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Linville and son Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Geo.

Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Sykes, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Eggers, Mr. and Mrs. Frazier, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hevland, Mrs. Cutts and daughter, Miss Louise, Mrs. Huntley and daughter, Miss Edna, Mr. G. W. Evans, Mrs. Vina Yergen, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lapp and Dr. and Mrs. Bowers.

Osteopathy—The Science of Drugless Healing.

Osteopathy has triumphed beyond the expectations of the most sanguine. Its growth has not been mushroom, but steady, vigorous, rapid and symmetrical, abounding in success and eliciting the praise of multitudes. It is now accepted as a genuine necessity.

The fundamental principles of Osteopathy are unlike those of any other school, hence the methods of examining the patient are radically different. The osteopath looks for the primary cause of the disease itself and for all possible causes that should stand in the way of nature in performing her legitimate work. The natural bodily forces must be liberated. Adjustment is the keynote of Osteopathy.

When the osteopath says the muscles along the spine have contracted and failed to relax, producing derangement of nerve impulses, or an abnormal flow of fluid, thus obstructing life forces, he is positive of his ground, and backed up by experience that makes it an impregnable position. He alone knows how to relax them according to nature's own good plan.

"Our School is young, but the laws that govern life are as old as the hours of all ages. We may find much that has never been written nor practiced before, but all such discoveries are truths born with the birth of eternity, old as God and as true as life."

Osteopathic colleges are well established in nine different cities of the United States.

The body is a wonderful mechanism and reservoir of vital forces. The osteopath understands its operations as thoroughly as the engineer understands his locomotive, and by mastering its construction, its nerve centers, its blood and nerve supply, he can with trained hands affect these centers with as much certainty of result as the engineer when he opens a throttle or applies a brake. There is no mystery or mysticism or necromancy about it. It is reasonable, reliable; its effects are reconstructive, recuperative and remedial, its philosophy is sound and its practical application demonstrates its efficiency. It is not mystery; it is merely an intelligent use of the knowledge of anatomy and physiology which any good osteopath uses. It is not magic; it is correcting any abnormal condition that may be found so that the normal forces of the bodily activity may be liberated. It is not massage; it is freeing—or knowing how to free—to the fullest extent, man's vital capacity. There is nothing wonderful or marvelous about it at all, it is plain unadorned simplicity.

Osteopathy is and has been endorsed by various state governors, and United States senators, prominent literary men, as Opie Read and Mark Twain, and men of Science, as Thomas A. Edison.

Osteopathy is said, by the highest authorities, to be the greatest boon of the century to woman. It reduces the pain and difficulty of labor to a fraction. Thousands of grateful women are living to-day to testify to the incomparable benefits received from osteopathic treatment. Mrs. Joseph Benson Foraker, wife of the United States Senator from Ohio says: "If Dr. A. T. Still had discovered nothing new in medical science but what he has done for women his name would go down the ages as the greatest physician of any age and one of the historical benefactors of his race. His system has made it possible for woman to escape most of the ills which she has been supposed, traditionally, to be condemned to suffer; he has made it possible for her to approach maternity in calm tranquility, having assurance that its pains will be almost entirely overcome. He has demonstrated that women need not spend their lives nursing functional derangements without finding succor. Who before has done so much in medicine?"

Chest development is of marked significance in all healthful living. Deep breathing and chest expansion are just as necessary and beneficial in female complaints as any other. The essential principle of Osteopathy that the health of the tissues is maintained by normal nerve and blood supply implies chest development. Oxygenate the blood by deep breathing in God's pure air and sunshine! It stimulates the liver and induces cheerfulness, and in turn, these improvements tend to relieve congestion, enhance the circulation and the function of every organ in the body. Heart and thorax contracting and expanding accelerates the circulation in the arteries, veins and lymphatics. The red, oxygenated, vitalizing, arterial blood circulates much more freely than the blue, sluggish, vitiated venous blood. Remember this: "A disturbed artery marks the beginning of disease to the hour and to the minute." And the blood is the life of the tissues. But the breath is the life of the blood.

Osteopathy successfully treats all curable diseases, and many formerly regarded as incurable. It reaches, in its way, many conditions of hitherto unknown nature, not classed under the ordinary headings of disease. It treats and cures Diseases of the Digestive System, Diseases of the Kidneys, Diseases of the Blood and Ductless Glands, Diseases of the Circulatory System, Diseases of the Respiratory System, Infectious diseases, Constitutional diseases, Nervous diseases, Skin diseases, Spinal diseases, Diseases of women, Diseases of men, Tumors, Cancers and Dislocations, also some forms of Deafness, Blindness, Atrophy of the Optic Nerve, Retinitis, weak eyes, short or long sightedness, Astigmatism, some cases of Cataract, Granulations, Pterygium, Discharges from the ear and noises in the ear.

Have recently cured cases of Tonsillitis, Constipation, Appendicitis, Ascites (abdominal or peritoneal dropsy), Renal calculus, Floating Kidney, Anemia, Goitre (big neck), Dropsy (cardiac and renal), Measles, Rheumatism, Paralysis, Epilepsy, Neuralgias, Insomnia, Locomotor ataxia, Vertigo (complication of the Gastric and Ocular forms), St. Vitus Dance, Irregular, painful or suppressed Menstruation, Menorrhagia (bleeding), Womb displacements, Ovarian Disease, Varicocele, Astigmatism (convergent or internal), and dislocations of the elbow, shoulder and knee. Can furnish names to any interested parties.

Grip Quickly Knocked Out.

"Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of la grippe with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Egleston of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Knees and joints aching, muscles sore, head stopped up, eyes and nose running, with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, aiding the same with a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by its liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip."

It is a good plan to take a dose of the Tablets when you have a cold. They promote a healthy action of the bowels, liver and kidneys which is always beneficial when the system is congested by a cold or attack of the grip. For sale by C. F. Moore & Co.

If you are troubled with indigestion get a bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and see how quickly it will cure you. Geo. A. Thomson, of Spencer, Ia., says: "Have had dyspepsia for twenty years. My case was almost hopeless. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure was recommended and I used a few bottles of it and it is the only thing that has relieved me. Would not be without it. Have doctored with local physicians and also at Chicago, and even went to Norway with hopes of getting some relief, but Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only remedy that has done me any good, and I heartily recommend it. Every person suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia should use it." Sold by F. H. Caldwell & Co.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.
