Who will be the Goddess of Liberty on the 4th?—A penny a vote—at both drug stores.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchinson is visiting in Portland this week with her son, the doctor, and family.

Mrs. W. E. White and Mrs. T. E. Wright are visiting at their old home at Goldendale, Washington, with their parents.

Mrs. H. W. Grabel and boys left Friday to join Mr. Grabel at Grass Valley, Eastern Oregon, where they will remain during the summer at least, if not longer.

Say, boys! we have those Dynamite and little Giants; the loudest and best crax made. Come and try them at Moore's pharmacy. Also a fine line of flags.

Though at first he declined, Judge Galloway of McMinnville has notified the management that he will be here to deliver the address of the day on the Fourth.

Arthur and Leonard Heacock, the Alaska boys who have been attending college here the past year, started home last Friday morning. They are uncertain as to whether they will return next year.

Mrs. T. S. Townsend came up from Portland Saturday evening with the Cook young people to attend the funeral of their father, who was a cousin of hers. She remained over for a few days visit with friends.

Prof. and Mrs. R. W. Kelsey have sold their home property to Mrs. Cahill of Dayton, mother of Roscoe Cahill who is a student in Pacific College. She will take possession as soon as the property is vacated.

Miss Maud Wills who was graduated last week from the State Normal at Monmouth, arrived home Friday morning with her mother and sister Miss Mildred, who were in attendance at the exercises of Commencement week.

Shepherd Ong drove over from Scotts Mills the latter part of last week, bringing with him for a visit with Newberg relatives Mrs. E. P. Dixon and children of Grants Pass and Mrs. Mary Dixon, who had been visiting at Noble with the family of C. C. Elliott.

Silas R. Moon, missionary of the Friends church at Kaak, Alaska, arrived Saturday evening and is making a visit with his son Ray, who makes his home with the family of N. G. Kirk. Mr. Moon will be in attendance at Oregon Yearly Meeting, which begins next Tuesday.

Mrs. J. L. Zimmerman died at a sanatorium in Portland Friday and was buried here Sunday afternoon. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. A. Wyman of the Adventist church of which the deceased was a member, and were held in the Baptist church. The deceased, twenty-nine years of age, was the wife of J. L. Zimmerman, Mrs. J. W. Childs being her mother.

A great deal of complaint is heard against those who stake their cows out across sidewalks. It is all right to allow the faithful beasts to graze upon the commons and vacant lots, but if owners do not show more consideration for pedestrians, they may find themselves deprived of the privilege altogether. If more care is not taken, shutting up the cows entirely will be about the next step in the evolution of the cow question in Newberg.

Dr. and Mrs. Knapp of Portland visited in Newberg over Sunday with Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Romig, the ladies being old time school friends.

The Springbrook cannery has already beaten its manager's own estimate as to its capacity. In last Saturday's run 5130 cans of cherries were put up.

Master John Elliott and cousin Miss Alice Hill of La Grande returned Monday from Salem where they had been visiting with their grandfather, Rev. Jas. Price.

Fireworks of all kinds; also the Dynamite walking stick; no fire and big noise; best crackers made. Do not buy the cheap ones; we have a large stock at Moore's pharmacy.

Mrs. C. N. Terrell and babies of Portland came up to Newberg last week for a visit with Mrs. W. E. Terrell. Cliff came up Saturday evening and remained until Tuesday when they returned home.

Wm. Courtney who lives on Chehalem Mountain brought his fifteen year old daughter, who is hopelessly ill with stomach trouble, home from Salem Monday where she has been receiving treatment in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Morris went up to Monmouth the first of the week to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. G. Keller. Henry went with the purpose of angling for the festive trout along the classic Luckiamute.

Woodard Charles moved back to Newberg from Independence with his family Monday, where he has been working in the Independence Enterprise office, to accept a job driving the Newberg Meat Company's ice wagon.

The writer is in receipt of an elegantly gotten up prospectus of the Washington Meteor Mining Co. of Seattle, at the head of the official directory of which appears the familiar name of O. J. Hobson as president. The company's mining properties are situated in northeastern Washington.

Geo. Lamb of Tillamook spent Monday in Newberg, his wife, who had been visiting relatives here, returning with him in the evening. That is, they started to return, for it must be remembered that it takes just about as long to make the trip from here to Tillamook, some seventy miles, as it does to go to Chicago.

Acting on the impulse, Mrs. C. W. Frazier started out on a tour Friday afternoon, which caused her folks a good deal of worry and anxiety. Leaving home at 4 o'clock on her bicycle she started toward Portland followed by the family dog. When she failed to return in the evening her husband and parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Hollingsworth, began to make inquiries. Mr. Frazier telephoned to police headquarters in Portland and started out after her early Saturday morning, went as far as Portland and returned in the evening without having found trace of his missing wife. In the meantime Mrs. Frazier dropped a card to her mother from Portland, stating that she was all right, looked about the city on Saturday, spent the night with friends near Oregon City and returned home without mishap Sunday evening. It is considered a good joke on the Portland police, that with a good description of Mrs. Frazier and her faithful dog, she was about the city all day Saturday without being apprehended.
