NEWBERG FURNITURE STORE—Messrs. Hollingsworth and Cooper, besides operating the leading furniture store in this section of western Oregon, are practical, up-to-date embalmers and undertakers. These gentlemen are business men of Newberg who have been here for some time and have been identified with the growth and prosperity of this section for a number of years. Mr. Cooper was connected with the butcher business for several years prior to three years ago when Messrs. Hollingsworth and Cooper united their forces as a firm. Mr. Hollingsworth is a skillful embalmer and knows undertaking in all its phases and he takes full charge of funerals from crape to flowers, relieving the bereaved of all trouble, anxiety and labor. Their establishment is fitted up in a far different manner from the ordinary undertaker's place, being bright and attractive in appearance and modeled after the leading houses of the eastern cities. These gentlemen are of the progressive type and believe in keeping abreast of the times. We take pleasure in awarding this house a high place in these columns.

GEO. LARKIN, Dentist, D. D. S.—Dr. Larkin is a gentleman who not only knows his profession thoroughly but he is also public spirited, liberal and progressive in his dealings. He is skillful and sympathetic with his patients and the most nervous can resign himself with perfect confidence to his care. He is well fitted up with everything that the high-minded, capable and conscientious dentist should have. Dr. Larkin has had an excellent training for his profession and is a distinguished graduate of the North Pacific College and is on the State Board of Dental Examiners. He has practiced here two years and the reputation he is establishing needs no encomiums at the hands of the press. We award him prominent mention here.

MARK M. HEACOCK, Jeweler and Optician—This establishment is one of the most popular of the many commercial establishments of Newberg and the stock of jewelry, silverware, optical goods, etc., carried were selected with a view to meeting the approval of the most particular and fastidious of this community. As a jeweler Mr. Heacock is conspicuous for delicate workmanship and artistic design. Beautiful gems of the purest rays serene, in all the latest and fashionable settings, watches, clocks, etc., go to make up a display of goods that delight the eye and Mr. Heacock is a gentleman of such sterling integrity that he will have none other than the best to adorn his shelves and counters. He has been here one year, studied optics at the National College of Optics at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and taught school four and a half years in Ohio, the commonwealth of his nativity, prior to pitching his tent on the Pacific Coast.

MISS HUTCHESS, Millinery Emporium—This is a millinery establishment that merits a good word at our hands. The latest hats and bonnets are here displayed and prices are never high and we do not hesitate to say that our ladies can do just as well in this establishment as they can at any other place in the state. These ladies have excellent taste and they deal only with the leading firms in the millinery line and they have the latest styles just as soon as any other firm and they take great pains to suit their customers. The parlors of these ladies are well stocked with hats that would please the most fastidious and they command a remarkable trade though established only since the 10th day of last February. Misses Hutchens are ladies of refinement, sound business judgement and are doing well. On these merits we award them a high place in these columns.

PORTER & LARKIN, General Merchandise—Here is an institution so thoroughly identified with the growth of Newberg and community that we award it a very prominent place in this review of Newberg in Biography. The firm of Porter & Larkin has been established here four years and their career has been one of striking success during their entire mercantile life here. Their stock of general merchandise goods and prices cannot be duplicated hereabouts. They are gentlemen who buy for their patrons, anticipating their needs and they believe in stocking up with the best on the market.

GLEN HOTEL, Mrs. R. A. Fletcher—In view of the fact that this edition will be extensively circulated, identifying the business men and firms of prominence with the phenomenal growth and prosperity of Newberg, the Glenn House comes in for very generous mention and should be assigned a leading position in these pages. It is the leading first class hotel of Newberg commanding the commercial trade and a very large local custom. It is a caravansary that leaves no stone unturned for the comfort of their guests. The service, table and appointments are everything that could be desired and the rooms are large, well furnished, lighted and ventilated. Mrs. R. A. Fletcher, the popular proprietress has conducted the Glenn House since last November. She has resided in Yamhill county seventeen years and is one of the most genial hotel hostesses on the Pacific Coast. She gives personal supervision to every detail of the business and moreover sees that her patrons are properly looked after. Her rates are very reasonable by day, week or month and nowhere in Newberg will the traveler be treated more "royally" than here.

DR. H. C. DIXON, Dentist—Dentistry is advancing these days by leaps and bounds and it is more than even necessary to seek only those practitioners who are well educated both in theory and practice and who are also high-minded, conscientious and sympathetic. It is proper that our dentists should occupy a leading position and Dr. Dixon is a gentleman who has no superior in his profession in this section of the state. He has practiced dentistry here seven years and has built up an excellent practice. Dr. Dixon has the faculty of inspiring confidence, is gentle and sympathetic and is well adapted in every way for his calling. He has just completed a two story office building 24x40, and is also erecting a fine five room cottage in the rear of his office building. Total cost about $2500.

HODSON BROS.—Gents Furnishings—No resume of the prosperous and flourishing city of Newberg would be complete unless we spoke highly therein of the Hodson Bros. and their enterprising establishment. No stain has ever rested on their good name and they rank among the most successful merchants we have. Their large store of men's furnishing goods is one of the best in the entire west for up-to-date goods and moderate prices. They have operated here seven years and their volume of trade each year is constantly growing. Mr. Hodson has served the interests of the community on the city council and moreover never lags behind in any worthy movement aiming at strengthening the stays and enlarging the borders of our city. They are gentlemen of the progressive type that merit a high place in these columns.

J. H. DOUGLAS, Photographer—None of the "arts" come nearer our homes and affections than does photography. By its means the poorest as well as the richest are enabled to preserve the pictured semblance of loved ones and to adorn their walls with pleasing reproductions of the best works of the masters. Among the most skillful members of the profession in this part of the state is Mr. Douglas, of Newberg. He is a true artist of talent and attainment who puts heart and soul into his work. Mr. Douglas has operated in photography here during the past three and a half years. He is a graduate of Wilmington College, Ohio, and studied for sometime abroad, taking post graduate work. He followed the broad and noble field of teaching for some seven years. He taught for some time at the Pacific College at Newberg and owing to his ill health was obliged to resign and enter into other avenues. Having thorough knowledge of the art of photography he adopted it as a business for recreation and remuneration and we are glad to note his success. Mr. Douglas is a gentleman of sterling qualities and his record in every way entitles him to very high mention.

BANK OF NEWBERG—One of the chief causes for the prosperity of this favored section is the development and extension of our banking facilities and the history of this institution has been an unbroken record of success and progress since its inception in '89. It has been conducted on sound conservative principles and its management has been characterized by sagacity, energy and the most honorable principles. Altogether the affairs of this bank are in a most gratifying condition. It is an incorporated institution and capitalized at $30,000. The officials are men of the highest social and commercial standing and are rated as gilt-edged in all the relations of life. The officials are B. C. Miles, president; E. H. Woodward, secretary; and J. C. Colcord, cashier.

F. H. CALDWELL & Co, Druggists—There is no branch of commercial enterprise more important or more representative in character than the drug business and we wish to draw particular attention to this firm. It is a model establishment and we do not think any town in the west can boast of a better equipped or better managed concern. The best and purest of drugs, proprietary medicines, toilet articles, perfumeries, cigars, stationery, etc., are found here, and prices are always reasonable. This pharmacy keeps pace with the progress of our city. Its popular proprietor, Mr. Caldwell, is our newly-elected democratic representative to the legislature and is also a member of our august body of "Town Fathers." He is a registered pharmacist, native Oregonian, progressive business man and esteemed resident, that we award a very high place in these columns. Mr. L. B. Ferguson is the popular & Co. of this enterprise and has been connected with this seven years. He is one of the best pharmacists in the state and is a native Oregonian and esteemed resident that commands very favorable mention.

CAPT. R. B. LINVILLE, Racket Store—While too much cannot be said in favor of the young blood and rising generation, due consideration must be awarded those who have blazed the trails and paved the foundations for our "commonwealth." They are the advance guards, the scouts, so to speak, of civilization. Captain Linville, proprietor of the Racket Variety Store has operated here two years. He is an old G. A. R. veteran and served his country's flag from September '61 to '65. He attained the ranks of Sergeant Major, Adjutant and Captain, commanding a company for two and a half years. Captain Linville was born in Missouri and resided in Kansas for a number of years prior to coming west. He has officiated as county surveyor.
