J. B. Parker has bargained for the purchase of the home of F. A. Elliott at the price of $1150.

O. K. Edwards' residence on South College street is being rapidly pushed toward completion.

W. D. Comer came down from Seattle Saturday, returning on Wednesday, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Nellie Abbe.

Chas. E. Sawyer, representing the Columbia River and Oregon Timberman, made the Graphic a pleasant call when in town Wednesday.

O. V. Allen of Boise, Idaho, visited in town this week. He declares that he never saw a town improve as much in six months as has Newberg.

There are three different chairs to be had at Porter & Larkin's and you can just as well have them all without any extra expense to yourself.

W. S. Clayson, brother of A. A. Clayson and Mrs. E. R. Horton, and a prominent business man of Corona, California, arrived with his wife Saturday evening to make a visit here.

While shingling the roof of Noah Lapp's barn Tuesday, G. W. Mitchell and son Jay took an unexpected slide to the ground. The former was pretty badly shaken up, but not seriously injured.

Landscape paintings while you wait were done to order at Pressnall's paint and wall paper store the latter part of last week, and the artist attracted a great deal of attention by his rapid work. His paintings sold like hot cakes and butter.

The Misses Williams, who have purchased a lot on North River street just south of Miss Inglis' new residence, are planning to build them a home thereon. The cottage which they are erecting in the north part of town near the railroad will be for rent or sale.

Harry and Clyde Horner, young sons of Mrs. J. T. Boothby, had a narrow escape from drowning last Thursday when swimming in the Chehalem. The little fellows, who were in beyond their depth, were about gone when hauled out by some older boys who went to their rescue.

J. R. and L. M. Smith and H. R. Morris, who own the tin shop and plumbing building, have bought the vacant lot between it and Ferguson's livery barn. Mr. Morris says it is their intention to have their building moved over next to the barn some time and make room for a good building on the corner.

A good many Newberg people availed themselves of the rare opportunity of hearing the great pulpit orator and lecturer, Newell Dwight Hillis, by attending the closing sessions of the Gladstone Chautauqua assembly, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. To hear Hillis was the inspiration of a lifetime, and one could not but exclaim, as did the men of old of the Galilean, "Whence hath this man this wisdom and these mighty works?"

Dr. Romig reports a striking coincidence. S. M. Burnett of Ray's landing received a postal card from his brother in Portland dated July 22, announcing the arrival of twins, as follows: "Don't be discouraged. We have a Pete and Repeat." About that time there were similar returns in the family of the brother at this end of the line, and on Monday a card was sent back to the Portland brother, saying, "We are not discouraged. We have a Kate and a Dupli-Kate."

District Organizer H. L. Day of Portland installed officers of the Newberg camp of W. O. W. as follows Monday evening: D. Tallman, consul commander; I. W. Ellis, adv. lieutenant; W. Boyes, escort; M. J. Comer, watchman; W. Inman, sentry; G. W. Mitchell, manager. Portland and west side camps have started out to gather in one thousand members by January 1, and of this number the local camp will try to take care of thirty-two. The company of the uniform rank is preparing to drill in competition at the coming state fair.

Whips, 20 dozen, all kinds and prices at H. C. Lawer's.

Mrs. I. A. Horton and little girl took a short trip to Bridal Veil the first of the week.

W. B. Sims is at work on his greenhouse at his floral gardens on North Meridian street.

Herman Woodward is visiting at Middleton with Mr. and Mrs. Al Craven.

New shipment of gents' hats, eastern styles; also neckties and shirts. Just received at Porter & Larkin's.

W. O. Robertson and family visited above Dayton the first of the week with the family of Sanford Goodrich.

L. B. Ferguson and A. C. Seeley are recuperating from the strain of business cares by an outing at Newport.

J. R. Smith, E. F. Fleishauer, John Stratton and John McDonald returned home Friday from a trip to Newport.

Miss Mamie Marr went to Salem Saturday for a few days' visit with a former schoolmate, Miss Leon Ammerman, who had been visiting relatives here for a short time.

Miss Lillian Heacock left Tuesday for her Tillamook home—stead near Dolph. She was accompanied by her father, L. S. Heacock, who will assist her in improving her claim.

The Jas. W. Duncan Furniture Co. has opened up for business on First street in the east rooms of the bicycle building, with the expectation of occupying the whole building later. Watch for company's announcement in the advertising columns of the Graphic next week.

Rev. and Mrs. John Henry Douglas and daughters, Miss Melie and Mrs. Stilwell, arrived Friday night from Long Beach, California, and will spend the summer here with the Douglas and Taylor families. Having recently sold their Long Beach property, it is their intention to buy and build again this fall on their return to Southern California.

Mrs. Huber Smith, who had been visiting here for a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Hadley, started back to Tillamook Tuesday. She was accompanied by Miss Olive Stratton, who will spend a two weeks' vacation in Tillamook with her sister, Mrs. Geo. Lamb. The ladies drove from here to North Yamhill, where they took the stage.

Copies of the Republican Trumpet of Tracy, Minnesota, are at hand containing very readable articles from B. R. Bass, who bought the Barr place east of the big bridge, in which he tells his Minnesota friends about Newberg and the Willamette Valley. Should newcomers make a business of such contributions to the local papers of their old communities, Easterners would know more than they do about Oregon.

Prof. R. W. Kirk unintentionally gave the returning Newberg Chautauquans a little flurry of excitement at the Oregon City dock Monday morning. As the boat was ready to leave, Rev. Stanard and Prof. Kirk started to jump off, intending to get on again at the locks. Just then the deckies started to haul in the gang plank and Rev. Stanard retreated, but Kirk, evidently expecting to make it the "second yump," made a leap at the wrong time, which landed him in "Beautiful Willamette," the waters of which closed peacefully over the professor's descending head. It was basely insinuated that the affair was a carefully executed ruse of the Baptist pastor to get a good Quaker under water. A hasty "amen" would have been all of the baptismal service he could have gotten in, however, for as if by instinct the young man was out of the water dripping off almost simultaneously with the ladies' startled screams. The day was warm and the professor soon steamed out, suffering no ill effects from his sudden plunge.
