

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited. Few are entirely free from it. Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it. Common indications are bunces in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought.

"My daughter had scrofula, with eleven sores on her neck and about her ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla was highly recommended and she took it and was cured. She is now in good health." Mrs. J. E. Jones, Parker City, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

Remember the Gas.

The wedding was to occur soon, and she was telling her mother about her plans.

"When Fred is out late at night," she said, "I shall not scold him. I shall try to be reasonable. I think I shall go so far as to keep a light burning for him to make him cheery when he returns."

Her mother was silent. "Don't you think it would be a good idea to keep the light burning?" she persisted.

"Well, it might do very well for the first month or so. But after you have paid a few gas bills you'll probably conclude that it will be just as well to put the matches where he can find them and turn the light out."

Her Boast.

City Boy—Swampland, where we went this summer, was terrible hot.

Mother—Yes, it was.

"But you just told us Struckup you slept under blankets every other night. I was'nt roasted."

"You forget, my pet, that you were not the one who had the ague."

The best mathematics—that which doubles the most joys and divides the most sorrows.

ITCHING ECZEMA

In July, 1883, I began to break out with Eczema on my head, legs and arms, and began treatment with local doctors, but did not get much relief. They said the disease had become chronic. I then quit them and tried various ointments and soaps for another two years, but as soon as cold weather came I was as bad as ever, so I finally decided to let medicine alone, and for twelve or thirteen years did nothing towards curing the Eczema, except bathing. This seemed to do about as much good as anything I had tried.

During the time I lost about one-half of my hair. I began S. S. S. doubtful of a cure, because the disease had run so long, but soon discovered your medicine was doing me good, and continued to take it. I used seven bottles, when I was completely cured, not having a single spot on my body, which before was almost completely covered.

F. C. NORFOLK, 107 Hackberry St., Ottawa, Ia.

The head, feet and hands are usually the parts affected, though the disease appears on other parts of the body. While external applications allay the itching and burning temporarily, it is the acids thrown off by the blood that cause the irritation and eruptions upon the skin. The acids must be neutralized and the system cleansed of all humors and poisons before the cure is permanent.

S. S. S. is guaranteed entirely free of Potash, Arsenic and other minerals. Book on the skin and its diseases sent free. Medical advice furnished free.

An Unfortunate Choice.

Mrs. Black, with a family of eight, could keep a cook, but Mrs. Green, who paid the same wages and whose family numbered only two, experienced the greatest difficulty in persuading one to stay with her. Mrs. Green was troubled about it, and naturally sought suggestions wherever she could get them. One day the two women happened to meet at a news dealer's stand.

"I'm buying," explained Mrs. Black, "a Swedish newspaper for my cook. She likes to read, and I take one home to her occasionally."

"Why?" exclaimed Mrs. Green. "I wonder if that's the reason you're so successful in keeping a girl. I've always wanted to know the secret."

"Possibly it's one of the reasons," admitted Mrs. Black.

"I'm going to try it myself," announced Mrs. Green, promptly taking a copy of the same paper.

A week later the two women met again near an agency where Mrs. Green was looking for a new cook.

"Well," asked Mrs. Black, smiling, "how did the newspaper scheme work?"

"It didn't work at all," confessed Mrs. Green. "I bought a Swedish paper, and the girl was a Finn."

Six Doctors Failed.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 24 (Special).—After suffering from Kidney Disease for three years; after taking treatment from six different doctors without getting relief, Mr. J. O. Laudeman of this place found not only relief but a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. Speaking of his cure Mr. Laudeman says:

"Yes, I suffered from Kidney Trouble for three years and tried six doctors to no good. Then I took just two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they not only cured my kidneys, but gave me better health in general. Of course I recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to others and I know a number now who are using them with good results."

Mr. Laudeman's case is not an exception. Thousands give similar experiences. For there never yet was a case of Kidney Trouble from Backache to Bright's Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills could not cure. They are the only remedy that ever cured Bright's Disease.

Don't Grit Your Teeth.

"No teeth to fill," the dentist said to the man in the chair, "but you are grinding off your teeth more than you ought to. Do you grit your teeth in your sleep?"

And the man said he didn't stay awake long enough to know about that, but were they much ground off?

"More than they ought to be at your age," said the dentist. "You have worn the enamel off from some of them and got down to the dentine."

"What's going to happen?" asked the victim.

"Why, if you keep on grinding them off," said the dentist, "the teeth will hollow out and we'll have to put plugs in them with gold tops to give them new grinding surfaces."

This wasn't a very pleasant prospect, so later the man sought to ascertain for himself whether he did grit his teeth unduly. And while he was still unable to stay awake long enough to find out, he did discover that he had a habit at times of grinding his teeth in his waking moments, when he sat back from his work to think of something, for instance. And he made up his mind that he would stop that, anyway, and he hoped that he might thus stop grinding his teeth in his sleep, if he did so grind them. For, fine as they might be, he didn't want any of those nice little gold-capped plugs put in his teeth if he could help it.—New York Sun.

Growth of European Population.

Few persons have any idea of the extraordinary manner in which the population of Europe has increased during the last century. According to statisticians this population has more than doubled itself from 1880 to 1900. To this increase the Latin nations of the west and southwest contributed the least and the greatest growth was in the east, where the people have not yet become thoroughly saturated with the ideas of modern civilization.

HOW TO COOK MEAT.

Oven Rules Determined by Scientific Investigation.

The cook book compilers have adopted certain empirical laws regulating the cooking of meat, but as these are largely the result of casual observation, they do not accurately represent the facts, says the Philadelphia Record. For several years the University of Illinois, working in co-operation with the State experiment station, has been studying the question of losses in cooking different kinds and cuts of meat, consequent changes in its nutritive value, the development of flavor, etc., and the results of their experimentation have just been published by the government.

As regards temperature, authorities on cookery agree quite generally that meat should be subjected at once to a degree of heat which will sear the outside of the roast, so that the juices may be retained. The experiments just concluded show that with oven temperatures ranging from 182 to 500 degrees Fahrenheit the losses in weight, due principally to the evaporation of water, varied from 6 to 20 per cent, and, generally speaking, the higher the temperature the greater the loss.

However, in order to develop the characteristic flavors of cooked meat a temperature of at least 482 degrees Fahrenheit is necessary. When meat is baked for a short time at a very high temperature—500 degrees—the outside layer is apt to be overdone and the center too rare for use. When baked slowly, at a comparatively low temperature, the roast is evenly cooked throughout and the juices well retained, but the savoriness and flavor produced by higher temperatures are lacking. In regard to the length of time required to attain any desired degree of cooking, as indicated by the color, it was found that thirteen minutes per pound and thirteen minutes to the oven gave that degree of cooking known as "rare." Fifteen minutes to the oven and fifteen minutes to the pound produced the degree of cooking known as "medium." Twenty minutes to the oven and twenty per pound gave that degree known as "well done." It is evident that the time element is an important one as regards the degree of cooking and the losses incurred in the process.

The effect of different shapes and sizes of pans was also observed. Closed pans, while effecting a saving in weight, produced a meat of inferior flavor and lacking in attractive appearance. The average loss in a large number of experiments was about one-sixth the original weight. The color and flavor of the drippings appear to be influenced considerably by the area of the pan, the smaller area giving the lighter colored drippings.

RUSSIAN PROPHECY

Predicted Japanese Supremacy Nearly 100 Years Ago.

That the Japanese would one day be rulers of the ocean coast of Asia is the prediction made almost a century ago in the book of a Russian naval observer, whose prophecy seems not unlikely of fulfillment at the present time. In 1811 Capt. Vasil Golawin, of the imperial navy, was instructed to cruise among the coral archipelagoes of the Pacific to ascertain which of these were inhabited by the Japanese, and accordingly he set sail from Odessa in the Diana, arriving some two months later off the coast of Yezo. But one or two copies of Capt. Golawin's book are extant, one of them being in the library of the Winter Palace at St. Petersburg.

Published in 1815, "Capt. Golawin's Captivity in Japan" throws an interesting light upon the physical and moral characteristics of the Japanese nation at a time when little, if anything, definite was known by Europeans—particularly in Russia—of the traits of the Mongolian island people. Of the observations contained in Capt. Golawin's book the following are of current interest: "I praise the Japanese for their skill. They will one day be, probably, rulers of the ocean coast of Asia. And what can Russia do, being so far away from this border? Should the Japanese introduce European civilization and European political systems, the Chinese would be obliged to do the same, and those two people could then give Europe another face." Happenings such as the Chwostow raids (1791) would give suggestion to them to build European warships, and a small fleet could be raised to begin with. Many European inventions could be reproduced in Japan—and without the brains of a Peter the Great—simply by the combination of circumstances and the natural advantages of Japan.

"Certainly, with European models, Japan could build men of war very easily and man them quickly with brave soldiers. The population is peculiarly adaptable to naval requirements by reason of the insular position of the country. The people comprehend easily, and, given adequate instruction, would supplant Europeans as navigators.

"The Japanese lack only one quality, namely: terrestrial bravery; but their deficiency in this respect is only because of the peace-loving character of their government. After a very long time they lose all capacity to shed blood. I think an entire people not timid, however, whose forefathers were the terrors of the whole world."—New York Times.
