Local Events.

Andrew Pickett has lately installed some new machinery in the laundry in the way of a patent extractor.

The musical kindergarten will meet at the appointed time—Saturday morning, in the college chapel. Those under 10 at 10 o'clock and those over at 11 o'clock.

T. B. Cummings & Co. now have their new undertaking parlors neatly fitted up and furnished, making them much better prepared to take care of this department of their business.

D. W. Emmerson and sister, Mrs. Lottie Decker, arrived home the first of the week from their visit at their old home in New Brunswick. The latter says she doesn't expect ever to have so good a time again.

A moving picture and stereopticon view entertainment will be given by the Women of Woodcraft on the evening of December 5, at Crater's Hall. Admission free for Woodmen, Circle and invited guests.

Miss Bertha Swaim, formerly of Indiana, but who is now making her home with a sister in Portland, came up to Newberg Saturday evening and visited until Tuesday with her cousin, Mrs. N. C. Maris.

Mrs. Louisa P. Round passed through Newberg recently enroute to her home at Falls City after having spent two weeks in the eastern part of the state, in public work in her capacity of evangelist in the state W. C. T. U. She takes as her special work, peace and arbitration and mercy.

A daughter, Elizabeth Edna, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Edwards in Portland on Monday. Grandfather Jesse gave out the news here with great gusto, for though he has five grandsons, the above named young lady is the first granddaughter to make appearance.

To see what he can do in the way of artistic work in finishing a room, J. E. Pressnall asks nothing more than that people will step in and take a look at Hess & Bidwell's new confectionery parlors. Some gilt edge panel work is found on the walls and the ceiling is done in fresco in water colors, making all together a job which might well be termed "swell."

Burglars broke into the Springbrook cannery Monday night and secured tools in the engine house with which they did a neat job of breaking into the safe in the office. They drilled into and broke the combination, and succeeded in getting into the safe without the use of explosives. The cupboard was bare however and they had their work for nothing.

Are Newberg people easy? They must be considered so by the cheap theater bums and hangers-on in Portland and elsewhere, judging by the frequency with which the town is plastered with flaring and highly colored lithographs, borrowed for the occasion, advertising "refined repertoire" which is put on by broken down sports. Newberg should turn down all such raw grafts and turn them down hard.

W. E. Purdy received by express this week an elegant bridle of fine workmanship, made by an inmate of the Montana state penitentiary, accompanied by a letter from the latter, presuming upon Mr. Purdy's kindness to raffle it off for him. The bridle is made of horsehair, between twenty and thirty thousand strands being used according to the letter, and has elegant mountings. It was over two months in the making and is valued at something near fifty dollars. Mr. Purdy is making arrangements to dispose of it as suggested by the convict manufacturer.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mills left this morning to make a week's visit with Hinchman Cooper and wife at Estacada.

For a last chance hunt M. O. Pickett spent yesterday, the last day of the pheasant season, on the Starr farm above Dayton.

Mr. F. T. Morris of Boise, Idaho, has been visiting in town this week with his cousin, James Patterson, whom he had not seen for fifteen years.

Mrs. Percy Smith of Middleton, Idaho, better known in this vicinity as Miss Elma Brown, is visiting here with her sister, Mrs. H. B. Clough.

Mrs. F. A. Elliott left last Friday for La Grande, her trip being occasioned by the illness of her baby nephew, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hill. The little fellow is reported as now improving.

Mr. H. A. Hinshaw, accompanied by his family, is visiting in town with Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hanson, the latter being his sister. He is station agent at Hillsboro, and is enjoying a fortnight's vacation.

Eli Haworth and son, Earl, leave this week for Bend, Crook county, to work at ditching in the new irrigating district. They are taking over a load of prunes and salmon for which they expect to find ready market.

Harry Williams, a recent arrival from North Dakota who has located in Portland, visited in Newberg the latter part of last week with his uncle, Howard Williams. Mr. Williams saw service in the Philippines as one of Uncle Sam's boys.

Geo. W. Lauth, the young man who shot and killed Mrs. Lenore Jones, formerly of this place, early in September was tried at Oregon City last week and on Wednesday evening the jury brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree.

H. W. Johnston, who with his family spent some time here earlier in the year, writes from Springdale, Arkansas, that there is something about Newberg and surrounding country that makes a fellow long to be back here, and that he hopes to come west again, bringing several others with him. It was ever thus.

On getting off the train here Tuesday evening, Mrs. C. H. Eggers was robbed of her purse. She had it in a shopping basket with other articles and missed it when looking for her trunk check, which it contained. There was about three dollars in the purse. With a narrow little platform, always jammed with people, and with no light whatever, such little pieces of crookedness are rendered comparatively easy.

Dwight Coulson has been showing to friends a beautifully tanned snake skin, recently sent him by an aunt in Cuba. The skin is only five feet long and five or six inches wide, the snake being a young one, it is explained. In answer to a smile of mild incredulity, Dwight says he has another at home over at Scotts Mills three times as long. The species is said to be harmless, but speaking for number one, the reptile would be welcome to all the road in case of a meeting.

The union services held at the Friends church last Thursday were much in keeping with the day, a very able and helpful sermon being preached by Rev. F. C. Stanard of the Baptist church. The spirit of thanksgiving was not lost in the appeal at the close of the service by President McGrew for subscriptions toward supplying legal talent to defend the cause of prohibition in Yamhill county in the contest brought by the saloon forces. In a little while the sum of one hundred and eleven dollars was contributed, indicating clearly the pulse of the community on the saloon question, and the determination with which the evil is to be fought all along the line.

Uncle William Macy and wife of Dayton are visiting Newberg relatives this week.

John Gilbert has been spending several days up at Rosedale with his son, Levi and family.

Miss Emma Dorrance visited in the city over Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Roy L. David in the latter's new home.

John Bristow is preparing to put up a business building on his lot between Hodson Bro's store and Austin & Boyes' meat market.

Jasper Bales accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John Hutchinson home to Oiler, California, last week, where he will seek suitable employment.

Miss Mabel Knight of Salem came down on the boat on Thanksgiving, making a short visit with her sister, Miss Sara, who is in college.

Arthur Logan, when up in Clark county, Washington, last week, purchased an eighty acre dairy ranch, to which he will move his family soon.

The Newberg steam laundry has been rented by Andrew Pickett, the proprietor, to J. T. Osborn, who took charge of the same Monday morning.

Last Thursday proved to be very truly a day of Thanksgiving to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Boyes as it dated the arrival of a little daughter in the family.

Miss Olive Stratton worked at the Chehalem Valley Bank during the Thanksgiving vacation and has accepted a regular position there after Christmas, when her school will be out.

Walter Miles, Dollon Kenworthy and Fred Wilson represented Pacific College at the state Y. M. C. A. convention at Salem which was held from Friday to Sunday inclusive.

Rev. Herbert Cash has kindly undertaken to assist the college boys in their athletic interests in the capacity of basket ball coach. He was in Portland the latter part of the week getting some extra pointers on the game.

Among those who came up from Portland to eat Thanksgiving dinner with Newberg relatives were Dr. Woods Hutchinson and family, John Vestal, Miss Bertha Vantress, Mrs. A. W. Rees and daughter, Miss Georgia, and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Partridge.

It was a very pleasant afternoon for all concerned at the Cash home last Thursday when the pastor of the Friends church and his wife received parishioners and friends in a social but informal way, callers being served with tea. Very naturally the infant twin daughters, to whom the affair proved something of a "coming out party," were the center of attraction. As a matter of interest it was noted by observing ones present that aside from the babies there were "halves" of four other pairs of twins in the parlors together, in the persons of Mrs. Oliver Cash, Miss Mayne Elliott, James Vestal and Ray Pemberton. As to whether it was the better half in each case the writer is not prepared to say.

To Our Friends and Patrons.

We will have our annual Grand Holiday opening of Christmas goods Saturday, which will be the best one we have ever had in the line of latest books, novelties, game boards, etc. Everybody invited to call and inspect our line.
