

Text of Paper Delivered to 58th Congress.

CAUTIONS AGAINST EXTRAVAGANCE Irrigation, Forests, Public Lands, Alaska and Our Island Possessions Receive Due Consideration.

The following is the text of the message of President Roosevelt to the 58th Congress:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: The Nation continues to enjoy noteworthy prosperity. Such prosperity is, of course, primarily due to the high individual average of our people...

Capital and Labor. And especially of organized labor, to each other and to the public at large...

In the District of Columbia and in the States generally, the problem of labor is no less important, but it is simpler. As long as the States retain the primary control of the public utilities...

Unions of Government Employees. Men who refuse to give promises which they cannot in conscience give.

Corporations. In the field of the General Government, it is an absurdity to expect to eliminate the abuses in great corporations by state action.

factor in every kind of work, of hand or foot, must be the man's own good sense. More important than any legislation is the personal feeling of responsibility and forbearance among capitalists and wage-workers alike.

Cautions Against Extravagance. Irrigation, Forests, Public Lands, Alaska and Our Island Possessions Receive Due Consideration.

Public Lands. Every administrative officer concerned is convinced of the necessity for the proposed consolidation of the departments of Agriculture, and I myself have urged it more than once in former messages.
