A. H. Partridge of Portland visited in Newberg this week.
The Misses Sibyl and Bernice Woodward visited in Portland over Sunday with the family of E. P. Trueblood.

Mrs. R. M. Cahill has been enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. Koch, who has just lately returned with her husband from a visit with the latter's relatives in Holland.

W. G. Allen who has been on a business trip up in the Puget Sound country, joined his wife and baby here last Thursday evening, the family returning home to Eugene the following day.

Howard Williams has sold a half interest in his draying business to S. P. Timberlake, who moved here from Willamina several months ago and put up a neat cottage on Sixth street between Meridian and River.

L. S. Hill, of the Booth Kelly Company, and family have been down from Eugene visiting Newberg relatives this week. Lon says he is of the minority in Lane county, not yet having been indicted for land frauds.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. David who had been making a short visit here returned home to Portland Friday. Roy is managing the business end of their Romeda dairy, but says he greatly prefers life on the ranch.

P. E. Parent and Mrs. Ida Grove and the latter's little daughter arrived the latter part of last week from Los Angeles, California, prepared to locate somewhere in this section. They are Indiana friends of Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Bowers.

Wm. Levis of McMinnville was down Tuesday circulating announcements of a farmers' rally to be held at Carlton on Wednesday, January 25, when addresses will be made by Dr. James Withycombe, Hon. J. W. Bailey, Col. R. C. Judson and others.

The directors of the Springbrook Canning and Preserving Company met Tuesday afternoon and elected the following officers for the coming year: A. R. Mills, president; C. E. Newhouse, vice president; J. H. Rees, secretary; Wm. Kincaid, treasurer and manager.

C. C. Ferguson created a surprise last week by selling his livery business and equipment to E. E. Fleishauer, who was formerly engaged in the business in the old west end stables. Mr. Ferguson retains the ownership of the barn which he has leased to the new proprietor for three years. His future plans are not matured.

The college boys met defeat in basket ball at Salem last Friday evening at the hands of the Willamette University team, the score being 29 to 14. Their opponents gave them credit for better team work and quicker handling of the ball but the Salem players were big, tall men, and the Newberg forwards, who are unfortunately of low stature, could not cope with them successfully.

The executive committee of the Intercollegiate Oratorical Association met in Newberg Friday to transact business preparatory to the annual contest which will be held at this place early in March. Lewis Saunders, of this college, president of the state association, presided at the meeting, there being representatives in attendance from six colleges and universities. Judges for the contest were chosen and three or four amendments to the constitution and by laws recommended. The drawing for positions on the program gave the following order in which the different orators will speak: Willamette University, Albany College, Pacific College, University of Oregon, Oregon Agricultural College, Monmouth State Normal, McMinnville College and Pacific University.

M. O. Pickett is on a business trip to Salem and Cottage Grove. Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Allen arrived home last night from their extended sojourn in Eastern Washington and Idaho.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Caldwell having steadily improved, Frank left for Salem Sunday to assume his legislative duties.

Elijah Elliott of Indiana, who is spending the winter with his son Nate in Salem, visited in Newberg over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson.

C. B. Wilson, who returned home after the organization of the legislature, was given a clerkship from Yamhill county and returned to the capital city this week.

A. E. Bowman was in town this morning and reported the sudden death of E. M. Arthur, formerly of this vicinity, which took place yesterday at Seattle, from heart trouble.

The handsome doll given away Christmas by C. F. Moore & Co. was presented to Wm. Rich with ticket No. 82. The toilet case goes to ticket No. 59, the holder of which has not put in an appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Crabtree and Mr. and Mrs. Woolworth of Dayton visited in Newberg Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clemmens and were present at the G. A. R. and W. R. C. installation and dinner.

The Margarita Fischer Co. which appeared in Newberg a few months ago will play a return engagement of three nights in Crater's hall, beginning Thursday evening, January 26. The company has been reorganized since it was here before.

At the home of the bride's mother on North Meridian street, Miss Carrie Nevitt was yesterday married to W. W. Hubbard, Rev. H. Gould officiating. It is understood that the young people will make their home on Mr. Hubbard's farm near La Fayette.

Henry Etwiler, who lives out west of Newberg, was in town Monday and reported that he and one or two others had taken advantage of the snowfall and had been leading the coon family a hard life. On Saturday, they brought in nine and five on the following day, when beside the coons they secured a hundred pounds of wild honey.

The county commissioners after being down last week and examining the bridge on the Dayton road which was partially washed out three weeks ago, gave the contract to Adriaan Bowman for putting in the necessary repairing at which work he has been busy this week. The height of the water and strength of the current has delayed the job somewhat but Mr. Bowman will have the bridge ready for travel again in a few days.

The great, far famed Mozart Symphony club of New York, heralded as giving one of the most popular entertainments before the American public, will appear in Newberg as the third attraction of the Newberg Lyceum Association on Tuesday evening, January 31st. The club consists of Miss Marie Stori, violin soloist and prima donna soprano, Miss Julie Peterson, flute virtuoso, R. Stoelzer, viola and viola d'amour soloist and Herr Theodore Hoch, cornet virtuoso and Alpine echo horn. They interpret three centuries of romantic, classic and popular music on the instruments of the different periods. Descriptive circulars will soon be issued. No such organization has ever been heard in so small a place in Oregon and everybody in Newberg will want to hear the Mozarts. Tickets will be placed on sale at the drug stores Tuesday morning, January 24th, at eight o'clock. "Fair warning to all." Remember the date. Admission, reserved seats 50c, general admission 35c.

Andrew Pickett is building a 26x46-foot addition to his feed store building, to be used as a warehouse.

Evangelist Jones closed his meetings at the Baptist church last night. However, a praise service is announced for this evening by Pastor Stanard.

Granville Everest has leased his small farm east of town to L. M. Parker for a term of five years, and about the first of March he will leave us and locate near Woods, Tillamook county, where he has leased the Compton dairy ranch for five years. He thinks he has a good opportunity for branching out in the dairy business, and his Newberg friends will hope that his highest expectations may be realized.

Tuesday was a gala day with the local G. A. R. post and W. R. C. The members and invited guests partook of a sumptuous dinner together at noon in Masonic hall, the social feature being enjoyed no less than the feast. In the afternoon occurred the installation of the new officers of both organizations, which were announced in these columns a few weeks ago. Short speeches followed by several members. Before the company dispersed, the G. A. R. veterans lined up before the camera.

The flurry of the "beautiful snow" mentioned last week developed into quite a snow storm for Oregon. At Dallas a coat of nine inches was reported and almost as much at Sheridan, the other end of the county. There was but three or four inches here but enough to give the boys and girls and their sleds a chance to get busy. On Friday a number of farmers, particularly those more recently from "the states," came to town in sleighs, or sleds rather, and all that was needed to complete the winter effect was the merry jingle of the sleigh bells.

Class oratorical contests are the order of the day over at the college, by which the speakers on the college contest, which takes place January 27th, are determined. A long list of Sophomore orators contested Saturday afternoon, Paul Maris winning first and Ralph Rees second honors. The Juniors followed Monday evening, the winners being Walter Miles and Miss Mary Minthorn. The Seniors were judged on composition alone, the orations of Misses Florence Wilson and Eunice Lewis being given first rank. As Miss Lewis' state of health will not permit her to go on the contest, the Seniors may have but one representative, and the Sophomores may be allowed two in place of one as usual. The Freshman contest takes place this evening.

Those who failed last Sunday to hear Dr. E. S. J. McAllister, attorney of the Oregon Anti-Saloon League, are the losers, and have the sincere sympathy of all those who did hear him. It seemed to be the unanimous verdict that he made out the clearest, most logical and telling case against the saloon which has ever been heard in Newberg. It was an original and scholarly presentation, and the comment heard on the streets the following day indicated how impressive it was. Dr. McAllister showed himself to be an orator, but it was his attitude of the student and master of the underlying principles of society, which so greatly impressed his hearers. In the morning he occupied the pulpit of the Friends church and spoke of the saloon in its relation to the basic institution of society, the home. In the afternoon he addressed a mass meeting in Crater's hall and showed the saloon to be an institution without any inherent legal rights, as held by the Supreme Court of the United States. The saloon as an economic factor was treated in the Friends church in the evening, when the theory that it makes business, was exploded.
