

OREGON YEARLY MEETING IN SESSION.

An Unusual Number of Visiting Ministers and Workers of the Friends Church Present—Earnestness and Enthusiasm Pervade Meetings.

Largely isolated from its sister Yearly Meetings, visiting members and workers are probably welcomed at Oregon Yearly Meeting with more than usual heartiness. New faces and new messages cannot but give new inspiration and the life and zeal which is attending the opening sessions of this year's gathering, can in part be traced to the presence of so many members from a distance.

In fact the keynote of the Meeting was sounded in the able sermon delivered by Pres. C. E. Tebbetts on Sunday morning from the text, "I came that ye might have life and have it abundantly." Spirit-filled life with its possibilities for service is the theme of the week.

The opening public service was held Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, and was largely devotional. Grouped around the clerk's desk on the platform were Willis R. Hotchkiss, the missionary to Africa whose name, within the past few years has become a household word where missions are considered, Rev. Harry R. Keats of Pasadena, California, President C. E. Tebbetts of Whittier, California, Timothy Nicholson of Indiana, Rev. G. W. Willis of Ohio, Rev. and Mrs. Amos Cook of El Modena, California, Rev. A. A. Bailey and Rev. E. H. Janeway of Kansas, and Amanda Way of Whittier, California. "Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy gates," were the appropriate words read by Pres. Tebbetts, who spoke of the church as the source of abounding blessings. Rev. Keats gave a very impressive lesson from the life of Moses, encouraging his hearers to place themselves in line with God to be used by him. "Individual qualifications for individual duties" was the thought expressed by Rev. Bailey, Amos Kenworthy, J. F. Hanson and others following with earnest words.

The reading of the credentials of the visiting workers was made an informal introductory service in which also those members without credentials were asked to let themselves be known and be made welcome. The words of greeting by local members were so many the clerk was compelled to cut short this service by allowing one general expression by rising vote.

Some routine work in the way of announcing and making committee appointments was transacted at the morning service. The Meeting ordered a message of sympathy wired to Robert Douglas at Berkeley, California, who was taken seriously ill there when en route to Newberg to attend the Yearly Meeting.

On the opening of the business session of the afternoon, those who have been efficiently serving the Meeting as clerks were re-elected as follows: presiding clerk, Pres. H. E. McGrew, recording clerk, Mrs. Mabel Douglas, reading clerk, Mrs. F. A. Elliot, announcing clerk, John S. Richie. At a succeeding session Miss Bernice Woodward was chosen as assistant recording secretary. Following the appointment of the nominating committee, the statistical report of the church in Oregon was read, which showed very encouraging conditions for the past year. The fact of a decided increase in the membership was held up as a matter for much encouragement, and called forth a general expression as to the spiritual state of the church, which occupied the greater part of the afternoon.

The first department work to be considered was that of temperance, taken up Wednesday afternoon. After the reading of the usual reports, an address was given by W. V. Culver of Kansas Yearly Meeting, who is a field worker in the cause of prohibition. Others spoke briefly, the general thought expressed being that the different temperance organizations should quit fighting each other and go after the saloon.

To-day's sessions will doubtless prove the most interesting of the Yearly Meeting, when the cause of missions will be given attention. Unusual interest is given by the presence of Willis R. Hotchkiss, the missionary to "Darkest Africa." He will occupy the afternoon session and tonight will give the story of his life and experiences in the dark continent.

Aside from the visiting ministers mentioned above, others who have been in attendance at the Yearly Meeting are:
