The Corvallis Times makes a strong plea for Oregon colleges, and holds it little short of treason for young people to go to neighboring or distant states to acquire an education. It holds, and rightly, that our educational institutions will never be developed and strengthened as they should be if the young people of the state fail to attend them. The argument may well be carried a little farther. Young people living in communities where there are small, though deserving colleges, should stay at home and go to school, loyally supporting the home college, rather than hiking off to some state institution of somewhat more pretension. These home institutions, reared by sacrifice and without state aid, are most worthy of support. And that they do efficient work, the roll-call of the great and good men who have come from the small colleges, will testify. All these things considered, it comes with poor grace to see representatives of state schools, voluntary or otherwise, snooping around trying to draw away young people from the very shadow of deserving schools. Stay by the stuff young man! You may miss a few of the frills at home but there's something better and more lasting in store for you.

An eastern traveling man who was in town the other day stated that his company has a list, supposed to be complete, of every town in Oregon of a thousand or more inhabitants, and doesn't know of the existence of Newberg. The fault may be with us. But when this gentleman learned of Newberg, in Seattle we believe it was, he inquired of his resident agent in Portland, who has lived there five years, as to the location of the Jefferson street depot, and the man couldn't tell him. The fault in this instance lies largely with the Southern Pacific people. A newcomer would never know of the Yamhill division or of any other than the union depot, unless he should get lost and end up at the Jefferson street station. We are not getting a square deal. We are on the map, we patronize the Southern Pacific liberally, and the company should let the traveling public know how to find us.

As is the case everywhere, there are a few citizens in Newberg who won't need "colored glasses to protect their eyes from the glare of the buildings" when they visit the fair. Their optics are already so generously smoked that nothing looks bright to them and they do their best to make their neighbors look through the same glasses. In short, they are "grouchers." Don't put on the goggles. It's better to squint a little in the sunshine than to see everything in the dark shadows. When the croaker begins his gloomy forecast, just tell him to take off his extra pair of eyes.

To facilitate a more accurate handling of the mail by rural free delivery carriers, the postoffice department, according to the R. F. D. News, is arranging for the numbering of all mail boxes. The department is also inaugurating a new policy in the matter of painting the boxes, the carriers to become knights of the paint brush and receive an additional compensation for their extra work, which, by the way, will not be compulsory. The department will furnish the paint.

Are the citizens of Newberg inclined to rest upon their oars? Is the reputation which the town has gained for progress and enterprising activity to be maintained? Is past endeavor sufficient for present vital needs? If not, isn't it time for a re-awakening? Shouldn't there be more than a corporal's guard present at meetings called to consider questions vitally related to the future of Newberg and her people? Yes? Well, were you present at the last one? No? Then won't you promise yourself to brace up and do your share toward keeping things moving in this vicinity?

An alumnus of the McMinnville high school has a letter in the Telephone-Register in which he makes a plea for more Latin in the high school curriculum. He signs himself "an alumni," thereby furnishing proof of the limitations of the Latin course in the county seat. However, the editor makes wise comment to the effect that the letter really pleads far more strongly for a more thorough training in English inasmuch as in his "copy" the high school graduate made not fewer than thirty errors in spelling, punctuation and capitalization. A point well made.

No city of size and enterprise should be without a committee, even if there is but one on it, to see that "the stranger within the gates" worthy to be welcomed and shown the residence and business attractions, suggests the Washington County News. The disposition is too often "to take him in" to his immediate sorrow and occasionally lasting regret. Our citizens could profitably employ some one of integrity, courtesy and good judgement to get busy with the visitor here in a right way.

The Oregon State Press Association will hold its annual meeting in Portland Friday and Saturday, September 8th and 9th. The members of the Washington Association will gather in the city at the same time and the Oregon editors should be on hand in force to help entertain the visitors. Lay down the pencil, sheathe the scissors, and enjoy a couple of days with the boys in the Rose City.

A professor is said to have discovered among some ancient ruins what is supposed to be the eleventh commandment. The text is as follows: "Emas rot yltpmorp tseyap uoht sselnu repapswen a daer ton tlahs uoht." The commandment is easily translated by beginning at the end of the sentence and reading backward.

Those who want to hear some good music, and who does not, should attend the fair while the Royal Hawaiian band is filling its two weeks' engagement there. The Kanakas are musicians clear to their finger tips, and their work is meeting with such appreciation that the management is endeavoring to secure them for a longer engagement.

Annie Besant's assertion that she knows what becomes of us when we are asleep reminds the Hillsboro Independent of the widow who said there was some consolation in the fact that, now she had buried her husband, she knew where he was nights.

There have been many arguments offered of late years in behalf of diversified farming in the Willamette Valley, but the clincher is found in the comparative failure of the grain crops both of last year and this. A change of policy among farmers is bound to come and the sooner the better.

By the terms of treaty agreed upon Tuesday, Russia and Japan are at peace and the nations of the earth rejoice. While Japan does not get any indemnity, a review of the treaty agreed upon shows the fruits of victory to be abundant.

The East Oregonian, of Pendleton, is undergoing a boycott from a number of Pendleton business men because it has been making a fight for enforcement of the laws regarding gambling and the saloon business. A very poor advertisement for Pendleton.

The Russians should become warm advocates of arbitration—the only avenue through which they can claim victory.

There was a partial eclipse of the sun at about six o'clock this morning—so we are told.

Only six weeks left in which to attend the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition.

Theodore Roosevelt—the man behind the treaty.

Cured of Lame Back After 15 Years of Suffering.

"I had been troubled with lame back for fifteen years and I found a complete recovery in the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says John G. Bisher, Gillam, Ind. This liniment is also without an equal for sprains and bruises. It is for sale by C. F. Moore & Co.

No Unpleasant Effects.
If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what pill pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. Justice of the Peace Adam Shook, New Lisbon, Ind., says: "Some three years ago I had a spell of grip and felt outdone and I happened to get a trial box of DeWitt's Little Early Risers and they gave me strength and muscle." They do not gripe or make you feel sick. Sold by F. H. Caldwell & Co.

No man can do more than his best, but a good many men can do more than they think is their best.

Got Off Cheap.
He may well think he has got off cheap, who, after having contracted constipation or indigestion, is still able to perfectly restore his health. Nothing will do this but Dr. King's New Life Pills. A quick, pleasant and certain cure for headache, constipation, etc. 25c at F. H. Caldwell & Co.'s drug store; guaranteed.

Yong mau, beware of the girl who lets you do all the talking during courtship; she's playing a waiting game.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
This is a medicine of great worth and merit. Try it when you have a cough or cold and you are certain to be pleased with the quick relief which it affords. It is pleasant to take and can always be depended upon. For sale by C. F. Moore & Co.
