Local Events.

G. C. Carl moved his family to Portland the first of the week.

Mrs. C. F. Moore and children visited at Dayton this week with A. P. Macy and family.

Dr. H. A. Littlefield left for San Francisco the last of the week to spend a few days there with friends.

Prof. and Mrs. R. W. Kirk have rented the Allen home on south Meridian street to which they are moving this week.

A son was born Sunday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Porter N. Skinner at their Chehalis Mountain home, Farview.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Board of Trade will be at the home of Mrs. C. J. Edwards, Saturday at 2:30 o'clock.

Several of the prohibition war horses are in Portland in attendance at the Lewis and Clark Worlds Temperance Congress. Tremble, King Alcohol!

Wm. Stratton left Saturday for Iowa to make a visit with his aged mother and other relatives. He expects to be gone for two or three months at least.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hodson came down from Seattle last Friday and will spend a few weeks at their pleasant Newberg home on north Meridian street.

Prof. E. Partington, who has been spending the summer vacation in Seattle, got back to Newberg Saturday evening, ready to begin another year of college work.

John Norman of Lake Crystal, Minnesota, is visiting in this vicinity this week with school-mates of the days of yore in the persons of C. E. and S. W. Newhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Knight and baby, who have been visiting here for a few weeks with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Elwood Knight, started home to Clarks, Nebraska, yesterday morning.

Mrs. J. H. Leezer of Pendleton was in town the first of the week looking for a suitable school in which to place her son. After visiting different college towns in the Valley she chose Newberg as the most desirable.

T. B. and C. B. Cummings have begun the erection of a cottage for Dr. Snapp on the lot north of the house they built for him last year. Dr. and Mrs. Snapp are in Eastern Oregon but it is understood that Mrs. Snapp at least will spend the winter here.

The writer is in receipt of a souvenir postal from Prof. C. W. Kantner, dated August 27, S. S. Zealand, 337 miles out of New York, Prof. and Mrs. Kantner being on their way to Europe where he will pursue his musical studies. He made a memorandum of heavy swells but added the significant entry—"All quiet along the alimentary."

Marvin Blair left yesterday for Oskaloosa, Iowa, where he will spend the year in study at Penn College, in which college he will also do some work as instructor in the department of Science. He expects further to study physical training under the city Y. M. C. A. director, to which he looks forward as a possible vocation. His friends are glad of his opportunity to continue his educational work.

Fruit men are finding this a freak year as regards the prune crop. While the French prunes as a rule ripen several days ahead of the Italian, such is not the case this season. The latter have ripened early, and what is worse have ripened almost at once, which fact, with the rains, has worked a hardship both on the growers and operators of dryers. Several hundred bushels are reported lost in the Dundee orchards, the big evaporators being unready to handle the fruit. While the Red hill district generally comes in after that of the valley, such is not the case this year.

I. N. Macy and wife of Iowa are visiting Anderson Hodgsons, who are relatives of theirs.

Rev. R. W. King of Washington will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

Miss Lillian Heacock is working at the Y. W. C. A. restaurant at the Lewis and Clark fair grounds.

Readers will find in this issue the announcement of Prof. Carrick relative to the musical work of the College.

Mr. J. H. Morris of German-town, Indiana, spent a few days in town this week with his cousin, M. P. Elliott.

Miss Lillian Savings, of London, England, is visiting at Farview Home with her sister, Mrs. P. N. Skinner.

Mr. Pearl Scott of Connell, Washington, visited here a few days last week with his aunt, Mrs. Jennie Remington and cousin Miss Hallie.

J. C. Duncan and Orville Westfield went down on the lower Columbia this week to fish for salmon hoping to bring back a load to sell in this vicinity.

Rev. Cook, late of North Dakota, will preach in the Free Methodist church Sunday, September 24 at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. All are cordially invited.

Mrs. Robert Howie arrived the other day from Colorado to make a visit with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Howie at their mountainside home west of town.

Elijah Elliott, who has been spending the year with his son N. D. Elliott in Salem, visited here the past week with his brother-in-law Joseph Wilson. He returns soon to his home in Indiana.

Miss Reinwand, successor to the Hutchens Sisters, will have her opening on next Monday and Tuesday, September 25 and 26. Do not miss this opportunity of seeing the latest styles in fall and winter headwear.

W. E. Purdy's house west of the depot caught fire Friday evening a little before seven o'clock, but the flames were extinguished without the aid of the fire companies which the alarm called out. The fire caught from the flue.

Herman Kramer, a young man who has been over from Germany but a few months, has rented the Jas. Heater farm east of town. He lost no time in getting on the Graphic's subscription list, setting a good example for newcomers.

Rev. and Mrs. Bowman wish to express their thanks to the friends who so kindly contributed to the defraying of the expenses of their trip to Southern Oregon. They leave to-day for Riddle where Mr. Bowman hopes to recuperate from his illness.

C. C. Jensen, who has been working on a government pile driver at good wages at Hammond, Clatsop county, for some months arrived home Sunday and says he is going to settle on the farm in West Chehalis to be "father's boy" for a while.

Sunday's Oregonian contained a comprehensive write-up of the "Logging Industry of Willamette Valley," prominent attention being given to the operations of the Spaulding Logging Company, in connection with which excellent views were presented of Newberg's big sawmill. It was a good advertisement both for the company and for the town.

Mrs. John Johnson, aged twenty-five years, who had been ill for many weeks with heart trouble, died last Friday morning. The family moved here from Newton, Kansas, about a year ago, and the bereaved husband and two little children, accompanied by Mrs. Sam. Paulin, mother of Mrs. Johnson who came out a few weeks ago on account of the illness of her daughter, started back to the old home with the body Saturday morning.

Wm. Jones is putting up a new house on his place east of town.

Miss Anna Dudley leaves today for Albany where she is to teach this year.

W. W. Hollingsworth went down to Portland Tuesday to attend the meeting of the Oregon Funeral Directors' Association.

The weather man having put an end to his job as fire warden for this season, Prof. and Mrs. F. H. Buchanan arrived home from Buell Monday morning.

LaFayette Tyler, who came down here from North Yakima, Washington, recently, died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Mears and was buried Tuesday. He was in his ninetieth year.

Miss Mary Emmerson, of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, who is seeing the Pacific Coast this summer, visited here a few days ago with her uncle, D. W. Emmerson, and aunt, Mrs. Lottie Decker.

Addison Pemberton and wife, of Iowa, who are visiting Oregon relatives this summer, spent a few days here last week with Rev. Elwood Knight and family. He is a brother of Rev. H. E. Pemberton, of Scotts Mills.

Henry Burdick of Iowa who had been visiting a ranch which he owns up in Washington, spent a few days here within the past week with H. R. Cobb and family. Mrs. Burdick had been visiting here for two or three weeks.

Atkinson Brothers sent some Mangel Wurzel beets down to the county exhibit Monday, which were beaters. Three of them weighed 35 or 40 pounds and as they were planted late in the spring they were not nearly grown.

Rev. H. Gould is in attendance at the annual M. E. conference now in session at Albany. It has been announced that changes will be made in the majority of the pastorates of the state, and it is generally expected that Rev. Gould will be given another charge the coming year.

Mrs. Helen D. Harford, lecturer and organizer for the national W. C. T. U., left Monday morning for Nevada where she will be engaged in public work for a month, after which she will labor in Northern California. She does not expect to be at home until the holidays.

In these days of rural telephones and rural mail delivery routes, farming has become more like other business and is conducted accordingly—or should be. Name the farm and have us put out for you some neat letter heads and envelopes. It looks businesslike and gives you standing. See us about it.

An eastern friend writes: "With your Portland fair it is as true of all great things, we do not appreciate them until they are about gone. As the exposition is near its close the eastern people are waking up to the fact that you are having a good show out there." Yes, the exposition will soon be a thing of the past, but we hasten to assure our eastern friends that the greatest show—the great Northwest—is a continual fair and the Oregon roses are ready to welcome them at any time of the year.

Bon Eldredge can say as did Mark Twain, who when reported dead in England once upon a time, cabled the terse message to inquiring American friends, "Report greatly exaggerated." After being stunned by lightning the first of last week, a dispatch from Woodburn to the Oregonian reported him as dead, since which time the valley papers have been taking turns singing his requiem. In the face of all the reports young Eldredge has one satisfaction—he knows they are not so, though he wasn't so sure of it at first. Getting shook up by a bolt of lightning is a new way of gaining notoriety in Oregon, but Bon doesn't care for any more of the lime light effect if you please.

When you buy a Wagon buy a RUSHFORD

because

The Rushford is built for sturdy use, of the right stuff and in the right way—the wagon for the hardheaded farmer who rightly wants full value for every dollar. It's a wagon that stands the racket—has more real strength and wear than you ever saw for the same money; and yet a Rushford Wagon is neither over-heavy nor clumsy.

Every one here goes to the making of the Rushford Wagon—just the way that comes if you'll look one over. Want to show YOU a Rushford—come in and see—today.
