Local Events.

Rev. John F. Hanson was up from Portland last Friday.

Rev. Lewis I. Hadley, pastor of the Friends church in Sunny-side, Portland, was in town last Friday night.

Uriah Cook, of Montecristo, Washington, has been in town during the week visiting his brother Martin.

J. F. Steinbeck, son-in-law of Alonzo Hadley, was down from La Grande last week visiting his wife who has been here for several weeks.

Miss Lelia Littlefield, who was taken to a Portland hospital last Saturday for surgical treatment is reported to be getting along nicely.

County Commissioner R. L. Booth, who was in town Wednesday, said there was no great amount of snow in the Coast Mountains except in the north side canyons.

Mrs. Lizzie White was called to Portland last Sunday on account of the death of the wife of her nephew, Ed Pool. She also went on to Eugene where the burial of the deceased took place.

Rev. A. T. Ware, brother of Mrs. McGrew and at one time pastor of the Friends church in Newberg and who has been engaged in church work in Maine for several years, has accepted a call to the East Main Street church in Richmond, Indiana.

State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. W. Baily, who was up from Portland the first of the week, bought five dairy cows of the David Bros. to fill an order at Astoria. He says he regards the David herd as being one of the very best dairy herds in the country.

War has been declared on the coyotes that have been annoying the farmers on Parrett mountain and men and boys with dogs and guns have been scouring the hills and giving chase to the pesky varmints. One was laid low by a sure shot the first of the week and two more will make three, as the lad remarked who was killing rats.

Miss Frances C. Gage, traveling secretary for the Y. W. C. A., spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday in town in the interest of the work. On Sunday night she gave a very entertaining talk on missionary work in Turkey, she having spent five years in mission work in that field. The college young ladies say she is the most practical secretary that has ever visited them.

It has been indicated that there is likely to be pressure brought to bear on the city council to try to get the ordinance placing a fire limit on First street repealed. Such a step would certainly be a retrograde movement and it is to be hoped that it will not meet with any favor with the members of the council. If the ordinance stands there will soon be a demand for some substantial brick buildings, if the time is not already at hand, and as for cheap, wooden buildings, we have enough already.

O. K. Edwards has been laying awake of nights for some time, working on a plan for cheapening the cost of handling brick in Portland and he has succeeded in working it out to his satisfaction. Brick are now packed in crates holding five hundred and these crates are loaded on the cars by the use of a swinging crane, which is again used for loading the wagons from the car at Portland. It requires only ten minutes time to load a wagon and this saving in time with the small loss by breakage compared with the former method of handling, makes a total saving of about fifty per cent in handling. With this method Mr. Edwards figures that they can now lay brick down where they are wanted in Portland as cheaply as they are in the outskirts of the city can get them hauled in by team.

Elder G. C. Carl will preach in the Brethern church Sunday night.

Darius Tallman was up from St. Johns a day or two last week on business.

Dr. J. H. Nelson was down from McMinnville last Saturday visiting with his son Roy.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hodson have a new born son who should have been announced several days ago.

Mrs. Emma Bell is moving from Portland to Touchet, Washington, where her son Rob is farming.

Dr. Littlefield was up from Portland the first of the week visiting with his son Dr. Harry Littlefield.

Lincoln Evens, of Hamilton county, Nebraska, was here last week visiting with his old time friend G. W. Hume near town.

W. C. Kruger left for Spokane and the Coeur d' Alene mining district the first of the week with the prospect favorable for his remaining until spring at least.

Sam Jones, who located at Washougal on the Columbia river some time ago, is reported to be doing a good business at blacksmithing although this is the dull season.

C. F. and A. E. Moore went to Lents last Sunday to see their father who has been in feeble health lately. They found him better, and in fact quite well for one of his age.

Late Mears and family returned to their home at Astoria last Monday after having spent a week here visiting with relatives. Late has been working in a box factory for the past four years.

John Jay Howser, of Blaine, Tillamook county, in sending his subscription to the Graphic wrote underneath his name and address on the envelope, "The land of milk and honey," which indicates that he believes in his country and wants the world to know it. This is the spirit that wins. We need more of it in Oregon.

When Mail Agent E. S. Piper fails to crane his neck from the door of the mail car of mornings and evenings it is pretty safe to conclude there is something unusual the matter, for while others come and others go, Piper goes on—well the next thing to forever. For several days he has been laid off with a severe attack of tonsillitis.

Some people are inclined to shy a stone at the festive frog that is philosophical enough to accept conditions as he finds them, and say he is premature in his piping this early in the season. Better take your cue from the little innocent and instead of borrowing trouble for the future enjoy the fine weather while we have it and do your croaking later.

Principal Kirk states that in a fire drill held at the public school Wednesday, four hundred and seventy-five pupils filed out of the rooms in one and a half minutes and in three and a quarter minutes they were all back in their seats. This will be good news to many people who have had some misgivings as to results, in case of a fire in that immense building. It certainly indicates that the building has been well planned for such an emergency, and it also shows good discipline on the part of the teaching force.

At a called meeting of the Board of Trade held Wednesday night with less than twenty present, sixty dollars was raised and a special committee composed of John Larkin, D. C. Coulson and Maynard Redmond, was appointed to solicit further funds to be used in defraying expenses incurred when efforts are being made to further the interests of Newberg. It is certainly a move in the right direction and one that ought to appeal to everyone who is interested in the general welfare of our town. The members of the committee should be met with the glad hand and a ready response when they are out soliciting.

If the silks and laces offered for sale by a couple of women who are making a canvass of Newberg don't hold together any better than the stories they tell of sales they have made to others, they are a very poor quality.

J. H. Wilson has sold his interest in the furniture store to Mr. Hollingsworth and has since bought Roy Nelson's interest in the Valley Tea & China Co. store. Mr. Nelson says he has not yet decided what he will engage in but the Graphic hopes he will find something to interest him in a business way in Newberg.

The Oratorical Contest.

On Friday evening of last week the annual contest was held in the college chapel to determine who should represent the college in the state oratorical contest to be held at Albany early in March. The orations were all very creditable and ranked well with those delivered in the past on similar occasions. The judges on delivery were Rev. Herbert L. Howard, pastor of the Baptist church, A. L. Alderman, county school superintendent and Principal R. W. Kirk. Paul Maris was given first place and will be the orator at Albany. Miss Mary Minthorn took second place and Lewis Saunders third place.

The program follows:
