O. K. Edwards attended in Portland Monday a meeting of the clay workers of Oregon, Washington and Idaho at which a Pacific Northwest organization was effected, annual meetings of which will be held hereafter. O. K. was a member of the committee on organization.

Master Harry Barrel aged seven weeks, made the Graphic office his first call Tuesday afternoon and filed an application for a job, to be taken somewhat later on. Harry is a promising youth and if he takes to the art preservative as readily as did his mother before him in this office, he can begin work any time he gets ready. A job awaits him.

Thousands and thousands of the most beautiful violets have been finding their way within the past several weeks from the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Holt to the sales rooms of Portland florists. The latter declare they have never seen finer ones anywhere and will gladly take all that can be furnished. Eighteen hundred were sent down last week and nearly as many this.

Warren McConnell received a telegram last Thursday afternoon announcing the death of his father, Dr. Geo. W. McConnell, which had just taken place at Ashland, Southern Oregon, and driving across country to Woodburn, caught the night train for home. Newberg was the home of the McConnells for years, the doctor enjoying a large practice in this vicinity, and many are their friends here who sympathize with the bereaved family.

The members of the Pacific College debating team, Lewis Saunders, Clarence Brown and Walter Miles, and the alternate Ralph Rees, went over to Forest Grove Friday and in the evening listened to the debate between Pacific University and Whitman College upon the subject of freight rate legislation. The same subject is to be debated between McMinnville College and the boys here and both teams were on hand to receive pointers. Whitman won out for the affirmative of the proposition, and while Newberg has the other side to uphold the boys are not discouraged as they say the statement of the question as they will debate it with McMinnville is more favorable to them than that at Forest Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Taylor visited at McMinnville last week and over Sunday.

Mrs. W. W. Nelson has been ill for the past week with appendicitis but is improving.

Completely equipped as it now is in every particular, the Newberg Sash and Door factory is turning out a grade of work which is a credit to Newberg and a good advertisement away from home. The plant is running steadily with orders continually coming in, and there is prospect of sufficient business a little later to employ some fifteen men.

The republicans will have no trouble in finding a man willing to sit in the county judge's chair next term. H. H. Winslow of Sheridan and Amos Nelson of West Chehalis are avowed candidates for the nomination and Ex-Judge R. P. Bird of McMinnville is considered among the possibilities. The office which seems to be seeking the man is that of representative, no candidates for a seat in the lower house of the legislature having been reported. Emoluments seem to be more in demand than honor.

Miss Isora Edmiston of McMinnville is a candidate from this county in the Oregonian subscription contest for the Yellowstone Park trip. Miss Edmiston taught in the public schools here two years ago, proving herself to be a teacher of unusual worth and capability, and making many friends by her attractive personality. As Newberg has no candidate in the contest many have expressed a desire to vote for her. Arrangements have accordingly been made whereby coupons or votes may be deposited in a box at Moore's drugstore. Every daily Oregonian contains a coupon. Save it and vote it. For particulars of contest see the Oregonian or call at the Graphic office.
