Local Events.

C. C. Ferguson and Hugh Nelson attended the big horse sale in Portland the fore part of the week.

David Sears and wife, of Sherwood, formerly of Cottage Grove, visited Mrs. G. U. Snapp Monday.

Mrs. E. R. Steigleder, of Portland, came up Saturday evening on business and spent two or three days with friends.

Pres. and Mrs. Edwin McGrew entertained the faculty of the college at their home on North Meridian street Tuesday evening.

Miss Agnes Hammer, who has been teaching school for the past eight months at Lexington, Morrow county, arrived home Tuesday evening.

Fred McCrea came down from Umatilla county a few days ago and is spending several days here visiting at his old home at the foot of River street.

Mrs. W. N. Welch, who had been visiting for a few weeks in Portland with her brother N. C. Maris and family, returned to Newberg Tuesday evening.

Mrs. W. O. Robertson and sister-in-law Mrs. Yocum, who had been here for a few days, visited Dayton Prairie relatives together Sunday, the former returning home Monday morning.

W. J. Vestal, who has been head sawyer at the Independence sawmill of the Spaulding Logging Company, came home last week on the mill shutting down, and has gone to Portland to look for a similar job.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Buchanan were agreeably surprised last Friday evening by quite a number of neighbors and friends, who gave them an old fashioned house warming in their new home. The guests brought refreshments and games, and a very pleasant evening was passed.

Clarence Brown and Ralph Rees drove up to the county seat Friday and in the evening heard the debate between Albany and McMinnville colleges, won by the former. At the executive meeting of the Oregon College Debating League Ralph was elected treasurer for the coming year.

Jarrett Todd and family of Dayton Prairie visited here Friday with Mrs. Todd's mother, Mrs. S. A. Deskins. J. P. was an enthusiastic supporter of Hawley for congressman and Edwards for state senator in the direct primary campaign and is naturally feeling pretty good, thank you.

The Graphic is pleased to announce that Dr. Jas. Withycombe, republican candidate for governor, has accepted an invitation to deliver the memorial address at Newberg on May 30th. His presence on that occasion will be a signal honor to Newberg and the old veterans in particular and will give our people an opportunity to see and meet our next governor.

On Friday afternoon of next week the teachers of the public school will keep "open house," when a public exhibit of the work of the pupils in all departments will be made. The occasion will be similar to that of last year which was so successful in every way and which gave outsiders an excellent idea of the work in progress. All patrons and friends of the institution, and this should include everybody, are invited to attend.

Clarence Coe, while working at the handle factory last Friday forenoon, had ascended a ladder to adjust some part of the machinery when he was struck by a belt and hurled with violence to the floor, a distance of over twelve feet. He struck squarely on the head and was rendered unconscious for a period of eight hours. It was feared for a while that he had suffered internal injuries, but when consciousness returned it was found that nothing more serious than a severe shaking up and resulting shock had occurred.

Mrs. W. E. Terrell and children are making a fortnight's visit with relatives in Portland.

John Nelson, a lumber dealer of Sauk Centre, Minnesota, who is looking for a location in Oregon, visited here over Sunday with old friends in the Dimond family.

Paul Macy received a telegram from Moses Votaw yesterday saying that Mrs. Votaw, his daughter, was at the point of death. The Votaws have been for some time near Phoenix, Arizona.

Mrs. Nerva Wright Parker, who accompanied Mr. Parker on a hurried business trip from Spokane, Washington, to Portland last week, came up to Newberg Friday evening and enjoyed a visit with old Newberg friends over night.

B. F. West of Salem, an employee in the state printing office for the past sixteen years, visited a couple of days in Newberg, in company with his wife, the first of the week, with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Fisher.

Wednesday was an ideal spring day and as a result Newberg and vicinity was well represented at Champoege, at the annual celebration of Oregon's birthday anniversary, or the establishing of the first provisional government in Old Oregon.

The first issue of the Crescent, under the new management with Cecil Hoskins as editor and Clarence Brown as financial manager, will be issued Saturday. It will hereafter be gotten out on fine, heavy calendared paper which will greatly improve its appearance.

On next Sunday morning at the M. E. church Rev. H. Gould will speak on "The Ballot," in anticipation of the coming election. He will give attention to the proposed amendment to the local option law and show why all friends of good government should vote against it next month.

The college athletic team, accompanied by several supporters, will drive over to Forest Grove Saturday and meet the Pacific University team in the afternoon. The boys here have defeated the university athletes this year in both football and basketball but realize that they will be up against a hard proposition Saturday.

Everett Heacock was in Portland and Sellwood the first of the week soliciting orders for doors, windows and turned posts, to be made by the Newberg Sash and Door Factory. These are busy days at the factory, the Heacocks having all the work on hand they are able to turn off.

Mrs. Sarah M. Elliott and daughters the Misses Mayne and Martha, who have been visiting here for some time with F. A. Elliott and family, started back to their Illinois home this morning. Their departure was somewhat hastened by the continued ill health of Mrs. Elliott's son Will, who is soon to undergo a surgical operation.

Rev. Herbert Cash arrived home Tuesday evening from a ten days' trip into the Sound country of Washington, Seattle and Everett being the principal points visited. He spent a few days very pleasantly at Sultan, a small place some thirty miles east of Seattle on the Great Northern, with Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Clough, who are prospering and enjoying life in their new home.

A very successful teacher's institute was held at the public school Saturday, a good representation of teachers from other parts of the county being present. In the literature department, Pres. McGrew talked of Longfellow and his work, giving an interesting account of a visit to the old Longfellow home. The pedagogues expedited proceedings in the afternoon and adjourned in time to take in the field meet at the college between McMinnville and Pacific College.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rittenhouse on Tuesday, May first, a son.

The Misses Susie and Orpha Arnold, of Ashland, Southern Oregon, are visiting in Newberg with their uncle, E. C. Lugar.

Oliver Kenworthy, pastor of the Salem Friends church, visited with his parents here this week and with his son Earl, who is in college.

Rev. H. T. Cash went to Middleton to-day to conduct the funeral services of Fred Olds, who was well known to many in this vicinity.

John McCrea and Miss Ora Skelton drove to McMinnville yesterday where they were united in marriage. It is understood that they will make their home on the McCrea farm across the river.

Hervey M. Hoskins is being strongly urged by many leading citizens, not only of this county but also of Tillamook, irrespective of party affiliation, to come out as an independent candidate for joint representative. He has not yet given a definite answer, but if he decides to make the race his friends believe there would be little question of his election.

Mr. Paul Reimers, a German recently arrived from Shanghai, China, who is looking for a well improved Oregon farm, is sizing up Newberg and vicinity. He says he has had his eye on this valley for some time, even before leaving China. Such wide publicity is the fruit of the advertising which Newberg has been doing within the last year.

H. C. Lawer received the sad news yesterday over the wire of the sudden death of his mother at Mapes, South Dakota. Within the past four months he has lost both parents and his grandfather. The news was all the greater shock to Hugh from the fact that he was expecting his mother out here to visit him in the near future, but he can also look back with greater satisfaction to the visit which he paid her a few months ago.

The case of A. P. Oliver et al versus the city of Newberg, relative to the payment of the assessment for the improvement of First street was called in the Circuit Court Monday. Jas. McCain of McMinnville and Judge M. L. Pipes of Portland appearing for the former and Clarence Butt of Newberg and R. W. Montague of Portland for the city. Monday and part of Tuesday was spent in hearing testimony, when the case was continued. At a later date the attorneys will argue the case. The witnesses called for the contestants were A. P. Oliver, L. W. Harger, Andrew Pickett, Adrian Bowman, L. F. Hall and J. C. Cooper. Those for the city, M. H. Pinney, Sam Anthers, Wm. Clemmens, H. R. Morris, W. W. Nelson, T. Brouillette, B. C. Miles, Jesse Edwards, Joseph Wilson, G. W. Henderson and D. H. Turner.

Mrs. B. E. Starr, of East Portland, who will be remembered in this neighborhood as Donnie Mitchell, daughter of Charley Mitchell, deserted her husband Saturday night and departed to join her "spiritual love," who is none other than the notorious Joshua Creffield, apostle of the Holy Rollers, who in February finished serving a two year term in the state penitentiary for his licentious practices carried on in the guise of extreme holiness. Since his release from imprisonment he has gathered a few followers about him away out in Lincoln county where he is reported to be carrying on very much as of yore. Mrs. Starr is said to have fallen under the influence of Creffield three years ago, when the Rolling prophet was playing havoc with weak minded women, and had remarked to her husband recently that she still had a spiritual love for him. She left in the night, taking what money she could find in Mr. Starr's pockets. She left a note to her husband saying she did not disturb him for fear the children would cry, adding that "He said that Christ will take care of them," "He" referring to Creffield. The Starrs have three little children, the youngest a seven months old babe which Mr. Starr's mother has taken. Mrs. G. W. Mitchell went down from here Tuesday morning and in the evening brought back the two pretty little girls, aged five and three years, to whom they will give a home.
