Deafness Cannot Be Cured

Beafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deamess, and that is by constitu-tional remedies. Deafness is caused by an in-fiamed condition of the mucous liming of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hear-ing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of thermucous surfaces. Dividing the Spoil. The lion, jackal, wolf and fox Went out among the hills and rocks To hunt-so Aesop says-and caught A fine young deer. At first they thought Of how they fairly might divide So fine a meal. Who should decide What share to each would rightly fall,

The lion was the first to speak, For all his comrades looked so meek : "Divide this deer in four," said he. "Oh; wise judge," cried the other three. "Thanks, loyal friends; since I am king, The lion said, continuing, "Each one, I know, will call it fair To grant to me, your king, first share."

The three bowed low. The lion then,

"As judge, one quarter falls to me." And bowed once more, less low, the three "As one who helped to catch the deer I'll have to take a share, I fear; Now, let him take the rest," said he, "Who wants me for his enemy."

In Hama the ancient "entering in of Hamath," the Syrians have accomplished a feat that makes one think of lifting one's self over a fence by tugging at one's boot straps. They have harnessed the historic Orontes, or Nahr el Asi, as the Syrians call it, into the work of lifting itself many feet toward the zenith and trained it thus to water their fruitful gardens and orch-For me to wear, our mother Just "takes them in," seams, legs and all, ards.

As for size the water wheels which do this work are as to other water wheels what Niagara is to other waterfalls. As one stands by one of these great wooden frames revolving upon its wooden axle and looks up at its perimeter forty feet above one thinks it large and is astonished when he turns his gaze upstream to see that relatively it is not a great wheel, for in the distance looms up one sixty feet in height. Even then he is not prepared for the spectacle of one ninety feet in diameter, grunting around on its cumbersome axle just outside the town. TAG TOLD IT WAS NEW.

Card on Man's Hat Affords Amuse ment to State Street Throng. State street was crowded with shoppers yesterday afternoon, when a young man came out of a popular hat store wearing a new crush hat. There was not only the conscious look upon his face which indicated that fact but he carried his head in the peculiar waythat only the possession of a new and stylish hat can produce in the average young man. Everybody that looked at him saw at a glance that he wore a new hat.

It was not alone from the signs already mentioned that the circumstance was apparent, and the young man, of course, did not give himself away by carrying his discarded hat tied up in brown paper under his arm. No; but years old. The fact that she is now a on the band of his hat was the shop grandmother has not affected her poputicket, bearing the price mark and some other cabalistic characters intellilarity, nor her remarkable vivacity nor her popular title of "Miss." gible to no one outside of the hat store.

On he went, all unconscious of the attention he was attracting and of the remarks his hat was calling forth. Young women looked at his hat and giggled, but he did not imagine for a moment that anything in his appearance was the cause of their mirth, least of all the new hat which proudly adorned his head. But alas! the young man was soon to be radely awakened by a friend calling his attention to the adornment of his hat.

The telltale ticket was soon removed and the young man went his way sadder and wiser. He carried himself humbly and looked neither to the right nor left, but boarded the nearest street car in order to escape as quickly as possible from the scene of his humiliation. Something in his eye indicated that it would be a long time before he patronized that hat store again .--- Chicago Tribune.
