The Voter on Election Day.
 "The proudest now is but my peer,
 The highest not more high;
 To-day, of all the weary year,
 A king of men am I.
 To-day, alike are great and small,
 The nameless and the known;
 My palace is the people's hall,
 The ballot-box my throne."

"While there's a grief to seek redress,
 Or balance to adjust,
 Where weighs our living manhood less,
 Than Mammon's vilest dust,—
 While there's a right to need my vote,
 A wrong to sweep away,
 Up! clouted knee and ragged coat!
 A man's a man to-day!"

A nearer ideal nominee for congressman than W. C. Hawley has never before been before the people of Oregon and they are coming rapidly to appreciate the fact too.

Two years ago North and South Newberg precincts gave the largest majority for the local option law of any locality in the state and we will do better still next Monday.

You may have a neighbor who needs a little information regarding the two local option measures that are to be voted on. See that he gets it before election day.

The ballot to be voted next Monday will be a long one and will require a little study by the average voter. Get a sample ballot and look it over carefully before you enter the booth so that you can act intelligently.

Members of all political parties are free to admit that Mr. Edwards is one of the best qualified men for the office to which he aspires that has ever been named for the office in Yamhill county. You will make no mistake in voting for him.

Jesse Edwards has made a clean, dignified campaign and he has the assurance of many voters who are not members of his own party that they will vote for him. It is now simply a question of the size of his majority.

All you need to know about the proposed amendment to the local option law is that it was prepared by the wholesale liquor dealers association and that they are spending a mint of money to carry it through. Their interests and yours are just the opposite.

F. A. Crawford, republican candidate for the legislature, has been too busy on his farm to do much electioneering, but that will be nothing against him in the minds of the voters. Fred will have his work arranged by the time the next legislature meets.

It is noticeable that the Portland Journal, in order to make out a column of Oregon press comment favorable to the democratic ticket has to call more than once on the same papers for expressions, and many of them are insignificant little sheets never heard of before. As a matter of fact the Oregon press is lined up pretty solidly in support of the republican nominees—much more so than ever before.

Newberg republicans gave the county J. L. Hoskins for recorder, who led the ticket in his second election, D. H. Turner, for recorder, whom the democrats find it useless to oppose for re-election, and Clarence Butt and B. C. Miles, both of whom proved second terms in the state legislature. Newberg republicans now present another good man in Jesse Edwards, for state senator, who, if elected, will likewise prove a stayer. And he will be elected.

There is one element in the fight for the governorship which the press, democratic in particular, has naturally been reticent in taking up. It should concern the people of the state however, and it should be given attention. Admitting, for the purpose of argument solely, that Chamberlain and Withycombe are of equal fitness as to point of ability, what of the personality, the private life, the habits of the two men? Those of Gov. Chamberlain are too well known to invite investigation. In this respect he and Dr. Withycombe are entire opposites. The latter is a total abstainer, has no bad habits and stands for the highest and best in our citizenship. What kind of a man do we want to represent us in the governor's chair? One for whom apologies must be made from time to time and who on occasions past has brought the flush of shame? Or one whom we can point out to the young men and boys as a man worthy to be taken as an example by them? Let the voters of Oregon consider this important matter carefully. Give us a man as well as a governor.

The editorial columns of the Graphic are not for sale to the candidates of any party, but our advertising columns are open to candidates of all parties who care to pay the price, which is reasonable and the same rates are made to all. This much in explanation of the statement that some republicans have questioned the loyalty of the Graphic to the party, on account of advertisements that have been inserted for candidates of other parties. All money that comes from legitimate advertising looks good to us and we shall continue to accept for all such that is offered.

When the democratic press implores you to cast aside partisanship and vote for democratic candidates, just ask yourself what policy the democrats themselves pursue. Are they in the habit of disregarding their party nominees and voting for republicans? What special virtue can be found in republicans leaving their ticket when democrats stick to theirs through thick and thin? Wherein is the consistency? The zeal of our democratic brethren is rather too intense and its inspiration a little too obvious to be convincing.

The sentiment expressed in the following, from the Milton Eagle, is found to be general over the state: "Four years ago the Eagle supported George E. Chamberlain for governor. We can say with Judge Lowell that under the same circumstances we would do so again. We have, however, a candidate this year for the gubernatorial office in the person of James Withycombe who commands the respect and confidence of all and who is in every way worthy of the high office. He is entitled to the vote of every republican in the state."

Mothers may talk, work, struggle to make their sons models by which to shape a new heaven and a new earth, says Harper's Bazaar, but the boy's world is in the man who is his father, and the boy believes that whatever may be right on Sundays or at prayer time, the things that are really good, that really count in life, are what father does. Moreover it is what father does which defines the means with which the boy shall work, the sphere wherein his efforts shall be shaped. In a word, what father does is the beginning as it is the end of the boy's achievements.

Hon. Willis C. Hawley is making an excellent campaign for congress in this district and his supporters and friends prophesy a plurality of not less than six to eight thousand votes. Mr. Hawley is surprising even his friends in his campaign, his speeches having a forceful character and a power of logic not heard in a campaign for a long time. Mr. Hawley knows his politics well and is thoroughly up on his political history. He is therefore able to make his hearers agree to his argument, which is unanswerable. Marion county is proud of its candidate for congress.—Salem Statesman.

It has happened in years past that the party ticket presented to the people has been machine made, in which case there was cause for the lack of hearty and united support given it. It is altogether different this year. The republican ticket is in nowise a factional one. It is put up by the people by the provisions of the new direct primary law. The nominees are of our selection, not of the bosses. On the other hand, how have the democrats done? They held "mass meetings," which used to be known as nominating conventions, and "invited" certain men to become candidates, wholly disregarding the spirit of the Direct Primary. There is a machine ticket still, while the republican is the people's ticket. And the people will support their own nominees.

WATCH REPAIRING

A SPECIAL WORD

Unless the delicate, exactly adjusted parts of a watch are kept clean and lubricated, they are certain to become worn to a greater or less extent and the movement will surely lose its accuracy. Tiny particles of grit are bound to work into the best protected movement; the oil will become gummed in time and these combined will serve to cut and grind the pivots and cause friction.

Every watch should be thoroughly cleaned and oiled at least once in eighteen months, and if yours has not been cleaned within that time, it should have immediate attention.

We will clean your watch precisely as it would be done in the best watch factories—take the movement entirely apart, clean each wheel, cog and pivot separately, assemble and regulate it—and when you get it back you may depend upon it being in "perfect shape."
