Local Events.

Mrs. Lizzie Judd, of Spokane, is in town visiting with her son Charley and other relatives.

James Clemenson, the Portland druggist, spent Sunday in town visiting with relatives.

Better be looking after the dry grass in front of your premises. The firecracker season is at hand.

F. C. Mills, assisted by Clyde Carey, has been at Willamina during the past week moving a building.

Mrs. Laura Minthorn and daughter, Miss Gertrude left for their home at Newport the first of the week.

F. A. Morris and George Sykes have been inspecting timberlands in the mountains west of McMinnville during the week.

Amos Kenworthy and wife, who reside near Portland, visited in town a few days last week with the former's uncle, Amos Kenworthy.

Amos Nelson, who was in the office a few days ago says the crop outlook is very promising, though some wheat has been injured by the pesky bugs.

Rev. Bowman, who has been pastor of the Free Methodist church for the past two years has moved to Forest Grove where his work will be during the next year.

It was along about this time last season that the fellows who asserted that the gravel on First street would "never pack" were having their inning, but it "packed" and they are now out of business.

Lin Ferguson left here last Friday for Kentucky where he will spend two or three months visiting with relatives. This is his first trip beyond the mountains and the chances are he will conclude this is a big country before he returns.

J. S. Larkin and family expect to go to Newport in a few days where they will rent a cottage with a view of remaining most of the summer. They have certainly earned a vacation and rest and their friends hope they will have an enjoyable season of it.

Clarence Brown left for Colfax, Washington, Monday where he intended to begin his vacation work canvassing for views. Since he is good at the case we shall not be surprised to hear of his hanging up in a print shop if orders are slow coming his way.

Eli Heater, son of James Heater is visiting the home land again after having served a term of four years in the United States navy and having visited the shores of many foreign lands. He is somewhat undecided as to the future and may enlist in the service again.

J. Brown, of the Newberg Ax-handle factory, is working a force of fifteen men on the Burns place between Dallas and Airlie getting out timber. Their timber is sawed and bolted on the ground and shipped to Newberg. It costs, delivered, $8 a cord. Thirty carloads have been shipped through Independence this spring.—West Side Enterprise.

Edmund Robinson, who is in the land office at Bismark, North Dakota, sent a copy of the Bismark Tribune of date of June 18 to this office which contained an account of a hail storm visiting that city where hailstones twelve inches in circumference and weighing eleven ounces were dropped about promiscuously, fracturing one man's skull and doing other naughty things.

Miss Effie Votaw, wife of Moses Votaw and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Macy, died at Phoenix, Arizona, last Saturday after an illness extending over many months and at her request the remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Glendale near by. The deceased was well known in Newberg as a sweet spirited, christian woman and that she was triumphant in death no one will doubt.

The Grand Army encampment will be held in Newberg in the month of June next year.

Chas. K. Spaulding and son Walter arrived home from San Francisco last Saturday.

Austin Keeney and family left for Dayton, Washington this week for a visit with relatives.

Henry Morris and J. J. Woods went to Seattle the first of the week as witnesses in the Mitchell trial.

Mrs. Maggie Blum, of Baker City, visited in town with her sister, Mrs. H. R. Morris, the first of the week.

O. H. Allen is down from Boise, Idaho, this week visiting with his mother and looking after business matters.

Rev. James P. Price has given up his work as pastor of the Friends church at Salem and has returned to Newberg.

Fred Barrell is building a new hop house on his farm west of town 26x26 feet with a store-room 26x30 feet. H. L. Christenson has the contract.

There has been a decided increase in the number of President McGrew's close friends since he made the purchase of that fine horse and the two seated rig.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alger, of Amro, Wisconsin, who have been visiting with the J. C. Wills family north of town, are so well pleased with Oregon they talk of closing out their interests and returning here to locate.

The Free Methodist quarterly meeting will begin Friday evening and hold over Saturday and Sunday. The new pastor, Rev. N. Welter, recently from Minnesota is moving over from Estacada and will be present.

Prof. F. K. Jones, who has been in Yale university during the past year, will visit with his parents at Tonganoxie, Kansas, on the way home and will probably not reach Newberg before some time in August. He now has the M. A. degree from Yale.

John A. Hunnicutt arrived from Hendley, Nebraska, last Friday to visit again this summer with his little daughter Eva, who lives with her grandparents. He is a brother of Mrs. James Duncan.

Professors Partington and Davis took in the scenic beauties of the upper Columbia the first of the week, and before returning to their homes in Ohio and Virginia respectively, will make a trip to Newport.

Charley Mitchell, a former resident of this community, arrived here from his home in Illinois Monday evening, expecting to visit here a few days with relatives and then go on to Seattle to attend the trial of his son George which is now in progress.

A. Dorn had the pleasure of a visit from his son E. L. Dorn, of San Francisco, Monday night. Mr. Dorn is vice president of a large life insurance company with offices near the Call building in the stricken city, and he gives a very interesting story of the shakeup and the turmoil and excitement following. He has great faith in the future of the city and expresses the belief that it will be the greatest place for making money for the next five years that can be found anywhere.

The Dayton Herald records an accident that befell a former Newberg young man as follows: 'While at work in the sawmill, near Hopewell, on Sunday last, running the planer, Chauncey Emerson had his left hand severely cut with the planer. The planer caught in the board he was planing and Mr. Emerson endeavored to loosen it with a short piece of board and in his endeavor to push the planer with the board the piece broke, and Emerson loosing his footing his hand was caught on the planer and cut across from fore finger to wrist. Dr. Morse, of Salem, was called. After examination the doctor amputated the arm, about three inches below the elbow. When last heard from Mr. Emmerson was doing well.'

Sam McVey is doing team work in Portland.

Will Frazer is building a new house just west of the electric light plant.

Mrs. J. C. Beckner, who has been sick for some time underwent a successful operation for appendicitis Tuesday.

A large new barn is one of the recent improvements on the L. M. Metcalf farm out northeast of town.

C. J. Edwards' new residence is now far enough along to show that it is going to rank with the best houses in town.

Rev. W. N. Coffee, the presiding elder, will attend the Free Methodist quarterly meeting held here Saturday and Sunday.

Wilson & Hanning are arranging to remove their stock of goods to the Henry Ehret building opposite the Bank of Newberg.

Attorney Clarence Butt went to McMinnville Tuesday where he argued the First street improvement case before Judge Galloway.

Mrs. Nora Cimino and daughter Miss Josie, of Tualatin, are visiting in town with their cousins Mrs. Jennie Remington and daughter Miss Hallie.

Miss Anna Craven, daughter of E. S. Craven, who has been sick for several weeks is now very low and her friends fear that she will not be able to rally.

James Duncan, of the furniture factory, was in Oregon City on Tuesday on business connected with his line. Mrs. Duncan accompanied him and visited with relatives.

The number of fellows going about town lately, carrying their hands in slings, make it appear that an accident insurance agent ought to be able to write a good many policies here.

Mrs. Ida Gilliam, of Bridal Veil, is in town visiting with her niece, Mrs. Ida Horton. Mrs. Nora Walker, of the same place, also visited with Mrs. Horton a day or two the first of the week.

Miss Blanch Wiley, a niece of Mrs. J. B. Mount arrived here from Orient, Iowa, a few days ago and will remain a couple of months. A trip to Newport is a part of the program and a general good time is expected.

E. S. Craven recently completed a mammoth barn covering sixty-six by seventy-two feet, which he has been filling with about the finest crop of clover hay that has ever been harvested in this community. He has already cut twenty-five acres of barley and has several acres now ready for the sickle.

McMinnville had a very destructive fire Wednesday afternoon which consumed three dwellings and two warehouses located just south of the railroad depot, beside a lot of hay and two or three thousand dollars worth of pipe that belonged to the city. The Chas. K. Spaulding Logging Co. also lost a carload of shingles and thirty thousand feet of cedar lumber.

As noted in the Graphic recently Philip S. Bates, publisher of The Pacific Northwest is arranging a subscription contest to run for five months, in which the farmer's daughter securing the greatest number of subscribers for his paper is to be given a free trip to the Jamestown exposition next year, as a representative. It is understood that Yamhill county will have two young ladies in the contest, one from this part of the county and one to be named by McMinnville. At the request of Mr. Bates the executive committee of the Newberg Board of Trade has named a candidate and Miss Gussie Crawford will enter the contest. The Pacific Northwest is doing good service in advertising the resources of Oregon and it is well worth the subscription price which is only fifty cents a year. Lay aside a half dollar and be ready to help swell the list when Miss Crawford calls on you. Each county in the state will be entitled to a representative.
