THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1906.

The Polk County Itimizer has been sold to V. P. Fiske who has been acting in the capacity of foreman in the office for several years. Mr. Wash, who has been in the newspaper business for a long term of years will retire from active business.

After all has been said to prejudice the mind of the public against the town cow when allowed to roam the streets at will, it must be admitted that old "Pide" can give some property owners pointers about keeping in check the growth of unsightly weeds and grass in front of their premises.

When writing to your friends don't fail to tell them that Yamhill county has gone out of the saloon business. Among the class of people who will make good citizens if they come this way it is one of the best advertisements for the county that can be put in print, and if you are speaking for this part of the county just add the statement that Newberg has never been in the saloon business.

O. W. Biggs, who has had editorial charge of the Eugene Register during the past year has sold his stock and retired from the business, and G. W. Gilstrap has again taken the editorial chair after having had a year off at other work. The Gilstrap brothers built up the Register until it ranks as one of the best papers published in the valley and Eugene has nothing to fear from the fact that it is to again be under their full control and management.

With 200 saloons put out of business in Oregon the liquor men estimate their loss as the result of the recent election at about $700,000. This will be a good thing to remember the next time it is argued in their behalf that prohibition and local option do not prohibit and that more drink is sold in dry communities than where they are wet. One statement or the other must be off. They cannot make the people believe both. Either prohibition prohibits or else the liquor interests suffer no loss.—Myrtle Point Enterprise.

All the cuts used in the illustrations of the "Sunset" magazine and of the recently issued "Road of a Thousand Wonders," were burned in the San Francisco fire and the Southern Pacific company has a special car out bearing a party of photographers who are getting a new supply of photographs to replace those destroyed. If they want one of the prettiest landscape views to be obtained anywhere in Oregon, let them come to Newberg and get a photo of Chehalem valley from the top of the mountain. It is not surpassed by any other that may be obtained along the lines of their railroad system in Oregon.

When you see a small boy lounging in a back alley or dodging behind a barn to smoke a cigarette, just put it down that unless he changes his shiftless ways and develops a higher ambition he will go through life a nonentity without causing a ripple on the surface unless it be in some stagnant scum covered pool of vice and crime.—Eugene Register.

The above statement is true enough and since it is true what excuse can there be given for allowing the sale of cigarettes in Oregon, or in any other state for that matter, to boy or man. Of course almost anybody will admit that a boy should not smoke cigarettes, and consequently the protection of the law should be thrown around him until he becomes old enough to choose for himself. It is also evident that many men need about the same protection that is asked for boys. Then why not have a law shutting out the sale of the vile things altogether. If a man must use tobacco he should be compelled to use that which is the least offensive to the public.

The statement has been published that during the year 1904 the amount of lumber cut in the state of Oregon, if bunched together would have equaled a strip of timber one mile wide, and sixty miles in length. During the year 1905 the Portland mills cut 531,320,000 feet of lumber and during the first five months of the present year an increase of twenty per cent was made, over the previous year. The Timberman is our authority for the statement that the mills, located between Portland and Astoria, are now cutting in excess of 3,000,000 feet a day. All the mills in the country are behind with orders, notwithstanding the fact that the price of lumber has been raised, and new mills of large capacity are being rushed to completion in order to get in on the wave. This means a great harvest for the state at the present time and the end is not yet, but it is evident that it is not as far in the future as it was estimated to be a few years ago. There has opened up a world market for our lumber and mill men are rushing their armies of men and machinery to be able to meet it. The motto seems to be "let future generations look out for themselves."

Local Events.

George Metcalf and wife, of Salem, visited with the former's brother, L. M. Metcalf at his home northeast of town the first of the week.

In former years the town cow was kind enough to look after mowing the grass and weeds about our streets but since she has been out of commission the matter seems to have been overlooked by many property owners. The man with the sythe could do much to improve the appearance of many side streets and vacant blocks and a "draft" should be ordered and enforced if volunteers don't show up soon.

It was a verification of the oft repeated saying that all things come to those who wait, when the initial train, representing the new schedule, rolled into the station Tuesday morning at nine o'clock bringing mail and passengers. A good sized crowd was on hand to welcome the new order of things and it was with much satisfaction that our people witnessed the arrival of mail, when for all these years the same has been coming on a mixed train and arriving at hours all the way from eleven in the forenoon to one, two, three and four in the afternoon.

There comes that tired feeling with the thought of writing up a celebration on the morning following, after the firecrackers have all been "popped," the pink lemonade has lost its color in the tall glasses and the soda has ceased to phiz, but it must be said that much credit is due the members of the Newberg band and the G. A. R. for the arrangement of the program for the celebration of the Glorious Fourth at Newberg and for the satisfactory manner in which it was carried out. The music, both instrumental and vocal was excellent, Miss Effie Patterson, who represented the Goddess of Liberty played her part well, the address of the day given by President McGrew was the best ever given on Independence day in Newberg and in fact everything "went off," not excepting the firecrackers, in a way that seemed to please the large crowd present. Good order prevailed and grown up people went home in the evening wishing they could

WATCH REPAIRING
A SPECIAL WORD

Unless the delicate, exactly adjusted parts of a watch are kept clean and lubricated, they are certain to become worn to a greater or less extent and the movement will surely lose its accuracy. Tiny particles of grit are bound to work into the best protected movement; the oil will become gummy in time and these combined will serve to cut and grind the pivots and cause friction.

Every watch should be thoroughly cleaned and oiled at least once in eighteen months, and if yours has not been cleaned within that time, it should have immediate attention.

We will clean your watch precisely as it would be done in the best watch factories—take the movement entirely apart, clean each wheel, cog and pivot separately, assemble and regulate it—and when you get it back you may depend upon it being in "perfect shape."
