Rev. A. J. Hunsaker, of McMinnville preached at the Baptist church Sunday.

Miss Carrie Brouillette has gone to Seattle to spend most of the summer with relatives.

M. J. Jones is spending the summer at Aberdeen, Washington, where he is working on a big mill.

The Misses Pearl Cummings and Emma Dorrance visited with friends in Portland Saturday and Sunday.

During the sessions of the Yearly Meeting of Friends church, meals will be furnished in the basement of the church at reasonable rates.

Guy E. Metcalf spent Sunday in town with Mrs. Metcalf and the little tots who are down from Eugene visiting at the old home.

J. S. Larkin and family and A. Dorn were passengers on the south bound train Tuesday morning when the new train made its maiden trip.

Vera, the five year old daughter of Mrs. Campbell who had charge of the Newberg Hotel a few years ago, died at the home of her mother at Waterville, Washington, three weeks ago of dropsy. Mrs. Campbell is married again, her present name being Eurich.

Mrs. W. W. Nelson, in company with her father, Rev. Jos. Hoberg, of McMinnville, went to Portland last Saturday to attend the big gathering of the Kelly clans. She remained over until the first of the week and on Monday night attended a wedding of a cousin in the city.

Cecil Hoskins and Horace Nelson left on Monday morning for Portland where they were to join a Southern Pacific surveying crew, headed by A. W. Rees, which will spend a month or more in the southern part of the state, surveying timber lands. It was expected that Paul Maris and Wilfred Pemberton would also join the party.

Amon Davis who graduated from the Portland Dental College at the close of the year and who passed a satisfactory examination before the state board, spent a few days last week at the home on the farm, "shoveling" hay and improving his complexion. He returned to the city Tuesday morning where he will probably take a position in one of the city offices.

Mrs. G. W. Mitchell left here Monday morning for a point on the Great Northern railroad about fifteen miles from Sulzen, Washington, where Dr. Clough is located, and where Mr. Mitchell has filed on a piece of timber land that is said to be covered with good piling timber. He has been on the ground for some time and has a cabin already erected ready for occupancy.

The members of the Friends church at Chehalis Center are soliciting funds for the erection of a new church and are meeting with good success. The site chosen is located on the north side of the road and a little east of the W. R. Carter residence. Services have been held in the schoolhouse for several years and the members are looking forward to the time when they shall get into a building of their own with a good deal of pleasure.

Mrs. Clinton B. Newhouse (nee Libbie Hadley) had her household goods shipped to Centralia, Washington, this week, where her husband is located. Mrs. Newhouse and her mother, Mrs. Hattie Hadley left here to-day (Friday) for Centralia. Mrs. Hadley who has been in poor health for some time, makes the change hoping that she may be benefitted thereby. The departure of their mother and sister, leaves Ellis and Louis without a cook, and they will, for awhile at least, have to "bach," fortunately they both understand how to cook.—Dayton Herald.

Mrs. Will Vestal and children are in Salem visiting with her parents.

J. W. Coffin went to Portland on Friday of last week to look after his son Herbert who was taken to the hospital that day and operated on for appendicitis. He got along nicely and is on the way to recovery.

The July number of the Crescent which is just out is embellished with seven halftones, showing the different classes of the college, the track team and the Agoretton Club, and withal it is one of the best numbers ever gotten out by the Crescent society.

Dr. C. C. Poling, who recently resigned his position as president of Dallas College, has accepted the Presidency of the Western Union College at Lemars, Iowa, a school of some 250 students. Dr. Poling is settling his business here and expects to leave soon for his new home.—Observer.

Mrs. J. L. Davis returned from Hood River last week where she spent some time with her husband on the fruit and berry farm. She says when she is writing a letter from the home farm up the valley she writes it "Home" and when she writes from the Hood River ranch she heads her letters "Hood River." Mr. Davis still finds it best for him to remain in that higher altitude to get relief from the asthma.

At the suggestion of the Graphic, followed by a personal letter to Mr. Fields, the time for the departure of the new morning train out of Portland was changed to 7:30 in order to connect at St. Joe with the Corvallis train going south. Passengers can now take the train here at 8:52 in the morning and at 6:30 in the evening pitch their tents on the old camp ground at Nye Creek, eat a supper of fried clams and go to bed to be lulled to sleep by the pounding of the waves on the rocks at Jump-Off-Joe.

With the coming of July weather the railroad companies and mill men who have large interests in the forests of our mountain districts, begin to locate their fire wardens in order to lessen as far as possible the danger from fires which in the past have proven so destructive. F. H. Buchanan who has spent the vacation season for the past two or three years in the Coast mountains in the employ of the Southern Pacific, will be transferred to a district in the Cascades this season. Walter R. Miles will probably take a station as warden in the same district.

Will Lawrence and family from Sellwood, in company with his sister, Mrs. James Wallace and husband, spent Sunday at the Lawrence home northwest of town where the scattered children gathered for a reunion under the parental roof. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace have been located at Metlakatla where they have been engaged with Mr. Duncan in his Mission Indian work for several years and although she is the only white woman about the mission, she enjoys the work and they will probably return and take it up again. They are now on their way to Scotland where they will spend the summer visiting.

J. F. Powers and wife of Millinocket, Maine, have been here during the week taking a look at the town and getting acquainted with the people. For the past five years they have been located at the above named town where he has had a position with the largest paper manufacturing company in the world, the mills consuming a million and a quarter feet of lumber in a week's run and employing one thousand men. Mr. Powers says his work meant three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, knowing no Sunlays or holidays, and while the pay was good, he tired out at it and left with the intention of finding employment where life is not so strenuous. They are in Oregon seeking a location.

Miss Blanch Taylor is up from St. Johns visiting with relatives near town.

Isaac M. Pollock recently sold ten acres near Springbrook to John Weed.

George H. Herriett came up from St. Johns to celebrate at home with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Jones, of Brooks, visited with S. W. Newhouse north of town Wednesday.

Walter Wilson returned from Forest Grove last week and has taken his place in the store again.

One of Amos Stanbrough's little girls fell from a seat on a box Tuesday and fractured both bones of one arm.

Mrs. W. H. Taylor whose husband is foreman in the Southern Pacific shops at Portland is visiting with Mrs. A. E. Bowman north of town.

In the ball game Wednesday afternoon between La Fayette and Newberg, the score was six to two in favor of the home team, which came as a surprise to the visitors as they had expected to win an easy victory.

Elwood Minchin who passed through here a short time ago on his way to Minneapolis where he represented Whittier College as well as the Coast states in the International Prohibition Oratorical contest, was awarded second place by the judges. First honors went to a man from the "sunflower" state.

The first business session of Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends church will be held Friday morning at ten o'clock and others will be held in regular order, one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon, with preaching services at night. Besides representative members from throughout the state as well as from Washington and Idaho, there will be present Rev. Allen Jay and wife from Richmond, Indiana, and probably others from a distance.

The city is now receiving more than three hundred and thirty dollars each month for water rents and city recorder Nelson estimates that the total revenue for the year will be in excess of four thousand dollars. He also says both the reservoirs are leaking badly and need attention, as there appears to be enough water going to waste to supply the town. Water consumers are willing to pay for water but they don't like to be cut short.

H. A. Forcht was taking commendable pride in some fine shade trees he planted with a view of beautifying his premises and he feels highly incensed at the action of some person who ruined the trees a few days ago by peeling them. Just why anybody should be cursed with a desire to commit such acts of vandalism is one of the unsolved mysteries, and about all that can be said is that some fellows appear to be possessed of more than their share of devils. Many of them can be cast out however if "Dad" will administer the proper persuasives at the right age. Delays are dangerous and no time should be lost when the first symptoms appear.

All these years Newberg has been setting a splendid example for other Oregon towns, in persistently refusing saloons to get a foothold here and it is with pleasure that we note that so many towns throughout the valley have been "persuaded," by a little outside help, to wash their hands of the saloon business and fall into line for better things. It is specially gratifying to note that a clean sweep has been made in Yamhill county and also that the citizens of McMinnville are manifesting a disposition to see that the law shall be enforced. If they follow this up closely they will see such a change for the better in the county seat in a year or two that they will wonder why they ever allowed a saloon in the town.
