Mr. and Mrs. Cy Hamnett went to Newport Tuesday.

Mrs. F. A. Elliott is spending the week with her brothers at Gearhart park.

Asa Morse has rented the Sam Parrish place on the river and will take possession of it the first of October.

Mrs. F. A. Morris, Mrs. Wm.
Welch and Mrs. E. H. Woodward visited with relatives in McMinnville last Friday.

John Cummins, wife and little son, who spent a week here visiting at J. C. Nelson's and with other relatives returned to Portland the first of the week.

Miss Eunice Lewis, who has been taking treatment in a Portland hospital, has so far improved that she has been moved to private quarters and her friends feel hopeful for her recovery.

The rural mail carriers are feeling good in anticipation of a two week's vacation on full pay, all the same as city carriers, by the grace of the postoffice department. Everybody knows they earn it.

Prof. Harvey Crumley and family arrived home from Newport Tuesday evening and on the following morning he left for Pleasant Plain, Iowa, in response to a telegram announcing the serious illness of his mother who is seventy-four years of age.

Principal R. W. Kirk arrived home Sunday evening from Berkeley, where he attended the summer school. W. C.
Woodward went south for a two week's vacation with Prof.
Kelsey. They report a very profitable summer's work.

Hugh C. Lawer has sold his harness business to Christ. Held, a young man from Portland.
He will return to his former home in North Dakota to look after some business matters and will probably return to Oregon again later on.

A number of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. S.
Parker were entertained at a reception given by their parents Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Parker, on Thursday evening at their home.
After a social time the guests were invited to the dining room where an elaborate supper was served.

Mrs. N. E. Britt and daughter, Miss Jessie, left here for Buffalo, Minnesota, Tuesday evening where they will visit relatives for two weeks or more. Sarg is expected to go from Washington to meet them there and Mr.
Britt will also go later if he can arrange his business to get away.

N. C. Maris, associate editor of the Rural Spirit, who is out with his camera taking pictures of fine stock for the paper, stopped over in town Sunday to visit with his sisters, Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Woodward. He will go to Sacramento in about two weeks to represent the paper at the state fair.

Last Thursday quite a number of Mrs. Cutts' lady friends surprised her by appearing at the door of her beautiful country home at about 8:30 p. m., to remind her that it was her birthday anniversary, which event she had not thought of before.
Ice cream was served and a pleasant evening spent.

Dayton had a disastrous fire on Friday of last week when the entire block opposite the park on the south was destroyed. The fire originated in the hay in the Bradley livery barn and is supposed to have resulted from spontaneous combustion, due to the heating of new hay. The heat from the barn was intense and as the town had no organized fire company McMinnville and LaFayette were called on for help, both places responding.
Eight or ten buildings were burned and the loss is estimated at something more than $20,- 000. The goods in most of the buildings were saved.

Mrs. F. H. Buchanan went to Sheridan Monday to visit with her parents.

Miss Maude Wills went to Dallas Tuesday evening to take the teachers' examination.

Miss Cora Comer is down from Seattle making her annual visit with her father Silas Comer.

John Illig who has been away working at his trade all season is at home with his family this week.

Miss Daisy Thomas of Mt.
Hood has been in town during the week visiting with Miss Fannie Cobb.

J. C. Nelson is spending a week at Collin's Hot Springs on the upper Columbia, with his son-in-law Tom Belcher who has charge of the resort.

Sam Parrish has bought Daniels interest in the store and is now a partner with Patterson and son in the general merchandise business.

C. F. Moore joined the crowd at Newport last Monday. He will return the last part of the week but expects to go again later in the season when he can remain longer.

The Misses Myrtle Gause, Evelyn Dix, Elizabeth Kirk, Lulu Graves and Margaret Hammond went to McMinnville Tuesday evening to take the teachers' examination.

W. N. Welch, of Bloomingdale, Indiana, who was here last year, has again returned to join Mrs.
Welch who remained here with her sisters. They contemplate spending the winter in California.

In the past two weeks thirty-six members have been added to the M. E. church, ten by letter and twenty-six from probation.
More probationers will be taken into full membership in the near future.

E. R. Horton and wife left here Wednesday morning for Fairbault, Minnesota, where they will spend a month visiting with relatives. They will also attend the G. A. R. National Encampment at Minneapolis.

Mrs. W. T. Andrews and children of Bremerton, Washington, are the guests of Mrs. W. W.
Baker this week. Mr. Baker came up from the Bowman-Spaulding Company mill near Sherwood to spend Sunday.

J. J. Woods made a trip to the reform school at Salem last week, taking with him the fifteen year old Parrott boy who has been making his home with J. M.
Atkinson for the past seven years.

Passengers for Newport on last Friday were T. B. Cummings and wife, Mrs. J. J. Woods, the Misses Ione Hutchins, Margaret Ingles, Ella Macy, Emma Dorrance, Olive Stratton, Pearl Cummings, Lida Wilson and little Margaret and Dorothy Hodson.

The situation of Newberg is such that, look which way you will from any point in town and your vision rests on a coloring of green, surrounded as we are with a profusion of orchards and evergreen forests, and yet some people in selecting a color for a residence seem to lose sight of the beauty of contrast and choose a tint that reminds one of a cross between the color of orchard grass and blue mud.
But it is all a matter of taste as the fellow said who kissed the cow.

J. W. Trew, of Norwalk, Washington, after having taken the Graphic on a three months trial subscription in order to learn about Newberg, came here last week and after having sized up conditions, purchased the property on the corner north of Will Bond's residence for a home. He formerly lived in Kansas where he knew Prof. F. K. Jones, and he remarked while here that the absence of saloons in Newberg suited him. He will remove here with his family in a short time.
Here is another evidence that it pays to advertise to the world that Newberg is not in the saloon business.

Mrs. Chase and daughter, of Portland, visited at Alex Buchanan's last Sunday.

Alden Chamberlain has sold his farm north of town to a Tualatin man named Smith.

Miss Grace Wilson went to McMinnville Wednesday to take the teachers examination.

The Misses Helen and Clara Neugebauer, of Salem, are visiting in town with Mrs. A. B.
Parker.

R. O. Bristow is recuperating at Saint Vincent's hospital in Portland from an operation for appendicitis.

Miss Dorothea Pike returned Monday from an extended visit at Portland and Vancouver, Washington.

Will Thomas came out from his Salmon river ranch the first of the week on business. His parents went home with him for a visit.

Elmer Brown and family of Berkeley, California, visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wood Tuesday night. Mr. Brown is a son of Mrs. Wood's.

J. H. Douglas and family, with cheeks of tan, arrived home from their fishing trip on the Nestucca Wednesday morning. They report a pleasant outing.

Prof. Broughton of McMinnville College, who has preached at the Baptist church the last two Sundays will continue to fill the vacancy during the present month.

Mrs. Nancy Wiley died at the home of her son Nate L. Wiley at Rex on last Thursday and was buried on Saturday, funeral services being held at the Baptist church of which she was a member.

P. H. Johnson and family from Monmouth, and a gentleman named Robinson, all former Michigan friends, visited here a few days the first of the week with the families of George and Nelson Sykes. On Sunday afternoon they all took a ride up the Willamette and Yamhill rivers as far as the Locks.

Mrs. Hattie F. Hadley, of Dayton, the widow of W. Macy Hadley died at Centralia, Washington, on Thursday of last week where she was visiting with her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Newhouse.
The remains were laid to rest in the Dayton cemetery on Saturday, the funeral services being conducted by Mrs. M. E. K. Edwards. The deceased was born in Ohio December 19, 1849, and was married at Mooresville, Indiana, in 1872. In the year 1875 she removed to Oregon with her husband and settled near Dayton which has since been her home. She was an earnest Christian and a member of Friends church.

This is the way it happened.
A gentleman with his wife and child who were visiting in town, was on his way to the train, carrying the sleeping babe of perhaps eighteen months and making it by easy stages as he had plenty of time and was waiting for the women folks who were to follow. Stopping at a real estate office, the agent being out, he laid the babe on the lounge in the back room and stepped out on the street. The agent on returning eyed the innocent babe and visions of an abandoned waif left on his hands arose before him and the alarm was given. Fond mothers rushed in and many were the anathemas that were hurled at the unnatural parent. All trains and boats must be watched to prevent her escape. "The child has been doped" some one said and a test was suggested. Pinching was resorted to and the wail that was set up was good evidence that the effects of the "dope" had worn off. About this time the fond papa appeared on the scene and remarked that he guessed he could dry the tears.
The women all looked daggers at him and he beat a hasty retreat.
The song of "The Lost Child" with variations is now on at the phonograph stations.
