Local Events.

Jim McPoland, the Middleton hop grower was in town Monday.

G. W. Cutts came up from Portland and spent Sunday with his family.

J. M. Shaw removed to St.
Johns this week where he has bought property.

Peter Jensen sold a sixty acre piece of land up the valley a few days ago to Robert Kinney.

Nelson J. Sykes arrived home from his visit with former Michigan chums the first of the week and reports a pleasant trip.

C. F. Moore made a guess of 1900 on the population of New-berg, just fourteen short of the count. So far as heard from this is the closest guess made.

The second game in the basket ball series will be played on the floor of the College gymnasium Friday evening, between the college team and the Willamette University team.

Mrs. E. C. Luger arrived home from Portland the first of the week where she spent several weeks in the hospital. She is much improved and she is very hopeful for the future.

Miss Lucy Wiedman, daughter of John Wiedman who formerly lived on Chehalis mountain, writes from Waldport that on December 6 one of the worst wind storms experienced for years, swept the coast from Alsea to Yaquina, blowing down much fencing and demolishing some houses.

Abner Blair went to Seattle to arrange for the removal of his family to that city as noted by the Graphic a short time ago.
He rented a house and purchased furniture but found that he could not buy a bushel of coal or a cord of wood for fuel in the city and he has called the moving proposition off for the present.

Walter R. Miles was an easy winner in the oratorical contest at Earlham College, he being awarded five firsts and one second by the judges. He will represent the college in the state contest when he will line up with representatives from the best institutions in Indiana. He may not win first place but he will not be at the bottom of the list when the footings are made.

Paul Maris, who went to his home in Portland last Saturday for a short visit, had an attack of appendicitis and as he had been having such attacks for some time he concluded to go to the hospital and have the appendix removed. The operation was performed at the North Pacific Sanatorium on Monday and he is getting along nicely. He expects to be able to take up his college work at the beginning of next term.

Hon. Fred Crawford expects to introduce a bill in the legislature making the use of broad tired wagons compulsory after a certain date in the future, not yet determined on. In citing the difference in the use of narrow and broad tires, he stated to the editor of the Graphic a few days ago that a neighbor drove across his barn lot recently with a narrow tired wagon loaded with five barrels of apples, when the wheels cut into the sod to the depth of two inches, while he followed with his broad tired wagon loaded with eighteen hundred pounds of grain without making a mark in the sod. He figures that if all the wagons used on the roads carried tires not less than three inches in width the roads would not be cut up nearly so badly as they are at present and he proposes to push his bill in the legislature.
Such a bill ought to pass without opposition.

Chester Dimond is home from Willamette to spend the holidays.

Claud Ferguson has been very sick for several days but is improving.

Miss Lela Chase, a teacher in the St. Johns schools, visited in town Sunday at Alex Buchanan's.

J. L. Vickrey and daughter came down from La Fayette Tuesday evening to attend the oratorical contest at the college.

H. E. Pollett has traded his Chehalis mountain farm to W.
M. Morris, a son-in-law of D. C.
Atkin, for a ranch out in the Little Nestucca country.

H. W. Behnke, Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Manard and daughter of Portland spent Sunday in New-berg with the B. R. Bass and A.
T. Behnke families.

On Saturday about the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon a test is to be made of the fire whistle.
Don't rend your clothes in excitement if perchance you hear the sound thereof.

The friends of Prof. and Mrs.
J. J. Jessup, now of Berkeley, California, will be pleased to know that a baby girl, the third child in the family, made her appearance recently.

A meeting of the Yamhill County Horticultural Society is called to meet at McMinnville on Wednesday, January 2 at ten and two o'clock. Hon. W. K.
Newell is expected to be present.

A contest is reported to be on at McMinnville for the position of postmaster. The candidates so far reported are, J. G. Eckman the present incumbent, Hervey M. Hoskins and Mr. Evenden.
All good men.

A very interesting letter will be found in this issue from the pen of J. L. Davis, a former well known resident of West Chehalis who now lives at Hood River.
The letter will bear a careful reading by apple growers.

When you meet Jesse Edwards give him a chance to start the conversation and the topic will be the patent milking machine.
He has not made a purchase yet but a pretty close study of the new contrivance is being made.

Rev. C. L. Hamilton will go to Heppner Saturday to perform a wedding ceremony, and in his absence President McGrew will preach at the M. E. church Sunday morning, and Mrs. Hamilton will speak at the evening service.

The Graphic printed a very neat calendar this week for the young ladies of the Friends church, with a picture of the church and the pastor at the top, which they are selling at a nominal price, the profits to go toward the purchase of a new church organ. The calendar serves as a very neat but inexpensive holiday remembrance.

Fred Crozer, a former student in Pacific College, has been elected assistant cashier in the Bank of Newberg to take the place of Dwight Coulson who resigned to go to Berkeley. After leaving college Mr. Crozer returned to Iowa where he spent three years in a bank. After his marriage he returned to Oregon and until recently has been engaged in fruit growing at Rosedale. He began work in the bank Wednesday.
Emmer Newby has taken his place as bookkeeper at the sawmill.

The many friends of Mrs. Helen D. Harford will be pleased to know that she has been appointed National Superintendent of Christian Citizenship by the W. C. T. U. She is expected home to spend the holidays, after which she will go to Kansas for a two months lecturing tour, then on for a month each in Tennessee and Texas, after which she will return to the work in Kansas again. Mrs. Harford is probably as well qualified to speak along the line of Christian Citizenship as any woman who is in the lecture field for the W.
C. T. U.

Class Oratorical Contests.

The first of the four class contests in oratory, that of the Freshmen, was held in the college chapel on last Thursday evening before a good audience.
A peculiar interest generally attaches to the Freshman contest from the fact that it is something of an unknown quantity. New material is on exhibition and future possibilities or potential orators are eagerly sought.
This proved no exception. The class showed up strong, a few surprises were sprung and some future winners were picked by the audience.

Prof. Crumly, who presided, called off the following program:
Piano Solo

Miss Ora Buchanan
The Simple Life

Laura Hammer
Great American Orations

Leonard George
The Negro Question

Riley Kaufman
Mastery of Self

Earl Kenworthy
Modern Chivalry

Haines Burgess
Violin Solo

Prof. Scharfenburg
The Goblin Army

Katherine Romig
Geo. Rogers Clark and a Nation's Ingratitude

Harvey Wright
Modern Anarchy

Dollon Kenworthy
The Nobility of Labor

Russell Lewis
The Price of Success

Helena Ferguson
The judges, Pres. McGrew, Rev. H. T. Cash and W. C.
Woodward, united in the following decision: For first place, Katherine Romig; second, Haines Burgess; third, Russell Lewis.

The Sophomore contest was held on the following Saturday evening. Though the class is small, the contest was the closest one held, it taking the judges nearly as long to come to a decision as it did the contestants to deliver the orations. The decision was finally given to Roy Mills, the judges being Rev.
Cash, Principal R. W. Kirk and Pres. McGrew.

The program was as follows:
Invocation Jas. Price Vocal Solo—"When Stars are in the Quiet Skies."

Emmer Newby
"Personality."

Eula Hodson
"The Passing of the Red Man."

Ernest A. Hadlock
"The Triumph of Altruism."

Roy Mills
The Juniors entered the oratorical arena Tuesday evening, when the following program was rendered:

Instrumental Solo
Miss Elsie Mackie

The Power of Music
Sara Knight

Winning of the Northwest
Arthur Wilson

Singleness of Aim
Lena Spangle

Victors of Circumstance
Harry Maxfield

Violin Solo
Prof. Scharfenburg

The Grafter
Harold Vickrey

What Constitutes the State?
Alice Hayes

How the Other Half Lives
Edna Forsyth

Piano Solo
Miss Mackie

The judges, Rev. W. S. Lowry, Rev. Cash and Mrs. R. W. Kirk, decided in favor of Miss Spangle, Miss Hayes and Harold Vickrey for first, second and third places respectively.

Whether the cream of the college oratory has been saved until the last remains to be seen.
The Seniors enter the lists this evening in the college chapel and when two winners are picked from their number the makeup of the list of contestants for the college contest will be complete.

There is nothing more appropriate for a holiday present than a package of business or calling cards. The Graphic will print them for you.
