"WONDER WHY?"

The Toledo Reporter says: "There were some disgraceful exhibitions of drunkenness on our streets last Saturday. There is no doubt as to who is responsible and it is hoped that our officials will give the offender the full benefit of the law."

Lincoln county is under strict prohibition, having voted "dry" at the last general election. There is not a saloon in the entire county. There are several in Umatilla county and Helix has one just at present, all regularly licensed, yet there have been no such reports as the above reached here from other parts of the county, and there was none to make from Helix. This is a temperance town, but not an intemperate-prohibition burg, and the thought that strikes us when reports like these are published: "Is prohibition a success?"—Helix Herald.

It appears that the Herald intends to convey the impression that they have no "exhibitions of drunkenness" in Umatilla county. This will hardly "go down" with people who have been accustomed to reading the news from Umatilla. Probably the Herald would class the city of Pendleton, with some thirty saloons, a "temperance town" also, but a walk along the streets of that city will cause one to have grave suspicions regarding the brand of "temperance" they keep on tap over there. The license of one of the saloon men was revoked recently on the testimony of witnesses who told a tale of violence, brutality and robbery. A police officer testified that within the past two months or less at least six cases of robbery had been reported from the saloon. And all this occurred in Umatilla county.

Voting a county dry does not prevent individuals from sending away for the stuff that makes drunkenness and disorder. Neither does it always prevent men who go to a resort in a dry county to hold an association meeting, from carrying the "goods" in with them. The Herald man will probably call to mind such a meeting that was held at Newport in Lincoln county last fall, but it would be unfair for him to charge the after session scenes up against Lincoln county and the local option law.

The delegates from Umatilla, Polk, Marion and other wet counties knew they were going on a pilgrimage to a county that had voted dry and they prepared for an emergency before leaving home. Probably the news note quoted from the Toledo Reporter is simply an account of the closing hours of another association meeting of outside people.

Several years ago the city council, acting on the demands of the public, purchased a narrow strip of land leading from a point on Wynooski street to the cemetery and erected a foot bridge across the canyon. This bridge is now so weakened by age that it is considered to be unsafe and a new one must be erected or this convenient way to reach the cemetery abandoned. The ordinance authorizing the purchase of the land and the erection of the bridge called for maintenance as well, but the city council at a recent meeting decided to call for a vote of the people at the annual election to be held next Monday, letting a majority decide the matter of the erection of a new bridge by the city. Without this bridge people who walk to the cemetery must tramp through the dust in the summer and mud in the winter, and there is no question as to the necessity for the maintenance of it. The residents of the town are the people who get the benefit of the bridge and they are the ones who should pay for it. At least it looks that way to the Graphic and we believe a large majority of the voters will so view it.

A Portland lady who desires to spend $2500 in the purchase of Newberg property, writes this office that she fails to find the names of any Newberg real estate agents in the Graphic. Our enterprising real estate men don't believe in advertising but every member of the flock will lose no time in answering the local sent by the Portland lady, and found in our want column.

R. W. SWINK, Principal.
MABEL RUSH, Assistant.

Oregon Number.

The Jamestown Magazine, the official organ of the coming Jamestown exposition, has in course of preparation, a special Oregon number, which promises to be of great interest to the public at large and of special value to the state as a medium through which to set forth the possibilities of the west for home-seekers and investors.

The commercial organizations throughout the state recognize in it an exceptional opportunity to reach a particularly desirable class of settlers and others of advantage to Oregon, and are co-operating to make it a splendid success.

The magazine will be obtainable at all news stands throughout the United States and will also be sent in response to all inquiries for information regarding the fair.

Married.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Taylor at high noon, Wednesday, January 9th, 1907, occurred a pretty home wedding when their sister, Miss Ella E. Greene, became the wife of John T. Rice of Hillsboro, Rev. Herbert T. Cash officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few of their intimate relatives and friends. After receiving congratulations all were invited to the dining room where they partook of a sumptuous dinner. The bride is a graduate of Monmouth State Normal and has been a teacher in this county for some years, while the groom is one of Hillsboro's exemplary Christian men. They left on the evening train for their new home in Hillsboro.

Chehalem Center.

Whew! This is a spell of Minnesota weather.

Mrs. Irene Palmer attended the funeral of Grandpa Comstock in Dundee Monday.

On New Year's day Henry Chase had the misfortune to get his hand too near the saw in such a way as to take off the ends of two fingers on the left hand, while working in their sawmill near Springbrook. The wound is healing very nicely.

The contest held by the W. C. T. U. superintendent of contest work, Miss Susie Barnhart, was very successful, Miss Elma Paulsen winning the silver medal in the oratorical and Chandos Chase the silver in the musical.

Card of Thanks.

To the kind friends, of Dundee and Newberg, we extend our heartfelt thanks for the many kindnesses during the illness and death of our husband and father. MRS. H. E. COMSTOCK, AND CHILDREN.

A New Year's Reception.

On New Year's day a reception was held at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Tangen two miles north-west of Newberg, in which Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Everest and family, Mr. and Mrs. Adams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Clough and family, Mr. and Mrs. Christian and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Bateson and family and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hammond and son all met early in the day and had a pleasant time. The feast of good things we enjoyed was immense. After satisfying our appetites to the fullest extent we retired to the drawing-room to indulge in literary exercises of readings, recitations, singing and speech making. R. W. Everest made some very interesting remarks concerning the development and improvement made in the last forty years. Being an old resident he remembers when Newberg was a forest and only three or four houses in all that thickly settled community, and made prophesy that in the next forty years progress would be even greater than in the last.

We then returned to our several homes to continue the new year as it was begun, full of enthusiasm and bright hopes for the future and good will to all mankind. SOLTARO.

The Feminine Observer.

Perhaps men are as deceitful as women in some things, but they never attempt to transform a yawn into a smile.

When love begins to sicken and decay, sometimes the tonic of indifference will effect a quicker recovery than all the careful nursing in the world.

If we were to subtract the things we do for effect and the things we do for selfishness, how much of our lives would be left?

The Grip.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by C. F. Moore.

NEVER SPRAY NEVER PAY

Spraying is one of the things necessary if a success is to be made of fruit growing. To make a success of spraying you must have the best pumps and equipment made.

MYERS PUMPS

Have never been equalled for all round work and we have a special style for such kind of spraying.

BEAN PUMPS

Are made by a man who has made a life work of building spray pumps in the greatest fruit growing country in the world. Come in and see the porcelain lined cylinder which never wears out, and get a catalogue containing much useful information. We carry a complete line of these pumps, nozzles, hose, sulphur, lime, disparene spraying compounds and other spraying mixture.

An approved formula for lime, sulphur and salt mixture.

For Scale and Seab apply in winter, while the trees are dormant.
Unslacked lime, 40 pounds Sulphur, 20 pounds
Common salt, 15 pounds Water to make 60 gallons
Some omit the salt

Boil 10 pounds of lime and 20 pounds of sulphur in 20 gallons of water for from one and one half to two hours, or until the mixture is of a deep amber color, which shows that the sulphur is dissolved. In another vessel, slack the balance of the lime, 30 pounds and add the salt; stir the mixture until the salt is dissolved; add to mixture of lime and sulphur and boil together for about forty minutes longer, adding enough water to make 60 gallons in all. Strain into the spray tank and apply to trees.
For peach worm apply just before the trees come into full bloom.
