THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1907.

Very depressing weather for young goslings.

Did you have to reach for more cover before the peep o' day.

The legislative session is now on and the Salem hog is on hand rooting for his regular biennial job.

And the plumber smole a smile offendish glee as he answered the numerous hurry up calls for help to shut'er off.

We have a contributed poem on the "Beautiful Willamette," on file but we don't care to spring it on our readers until the weather moderates.

It begins to look like the Panama canal would be built. A requisition has been made for the purchase of a lot of Missouri mules to aid in the work.

Our Jonathan, who is back at Washington getting onto the ropes, is endeavoring to reach the hearts of the big guns by feasting them on Oregon apples. Good head.

It is a matter of regret that Senator Gearin marred a good record by making a speech the other day in the senate, in the course of which he favored the old threadbare doctrine of "State Rights."

A Springfield editor says that before they went dry their town was out of debt and prosperous, now all they have to do is sit with folded hands and see the indebtedness crawl up.—Itemizer. Indebtedness always crawls up on the fellow who sits with folded hands.

Salem dealers are advocating the sale of eggs by the pound, asserting that there are too many small eggs coming to market. Well, how can a hen be expected to lay anything else but small eggs with the kind of weather we have been having.

Frozen water pipes and chafed noses have caused hurry up calls to be turned in for the plumbers, as well as an unusual demand for sweet cream during the week. Few people, who have resided in the Willamette valley as long as two winters, care to see freezing weather.

The legislative session opened at Salem last Monday. Frank Davey, of Marion county, was elected Speaker of the House and E. W. Haines, of Washington, President of the Senate. The "open season" for small game is now on and the corridors of the State House are filled to the point of overflowing.

Men and brethren, who are looking for a promising field for missionary work need not go beyond the boundaries of the state of Oregon. It was stated a few days ago in the daily papers that there was not a church organization in Curry county. What a poor place this must be for the fellows who keep fat on the mistakes of church members.

Sheriff Crenshaw, of Tillamook county, made a roundup recently and took in thirteen fellows charged with gambling and selling intoxicants in violation of the local option law. In nearly every instance conviction was secured and fines ranging from $50 to $250 imposed. This is a good beginning and if the sheriff will maintain the pace he has set, prohibition will prohibit in Tillamook to as great an extent as any other law prohibits the crime it is intended to reach.

H. M. Williamson has been appointed secretary of the Oregon State Board of Horticulture and owing to the duties of the office he has turned his paper, the Oregon Agriculturist, over to his son, W. E. Williamson. The elder Williamson is probably as well qualified to fill the office to which he has been appointed as any man in Oregon and the son is evidently a chip from the old block, judging from the appearance of the paper since he assumed the management.

The Tillamook Herald makes many truthful statements and this is one of them: The prosperity of a town is not gauged by the wealth of its inhabitants, but by the uniformity with which they pull together when any important undertaking is to be accomplished. A man with a thousand dollars at his command and a love for his town in his heart can do more for the up-building of it than the millionaire who locks up his capital and snaps his fingers at home progress.

By the narrow margin of thirteen votes the people of Forest Grove decided at the municipal election held last Monday, to delegate to the city council the power to grant saloon licenses. This was a backward step for Forest Grove to take and we believe time will make good the assertion. Many of the live, progressive towns of the valley are following the lead of Newberg in saying no to the saloon men, and it is a matter of regret to see Forest Grove take the back track at this date.

A Frankfort, Indiana, man is said to have remarked twenty years ago in referring to his little son, "The girl who marries my boy will get a bigger pile of money than she ever saw outside of a bank." Then he went to depositing his hard earned coin in jars and hiding them at the root of an old apple tree. A few days ago the son was married and the father dug up the coin and went with the bride and groom to a bank for deposit. The pile contained all kinds of coin from pennies up and weighed seventy-five pounds. The value of the son was not indicated in the dispatches, but it is likely that the bride got a chump for a husband if he is pattered after his dad.

Treatment of Consumption.

One of the earliest signs of consumption is a loss of strength and flesh, and this should always arouse suspicion in the case of a young man or woman when there is no other evident cause for it. In addition to the gradual emaciation there will usually be found a rapid pulse, shortness of breath, anemia, as shown by pale lips and extreme whiteness of the eyes, a poor appetite and indigestion. There may be feverishness in the afternoon, together with a hacking cough and sometimes a little spitting of blood; but this is more commonly a sign which appears in the later stages.

The two mainstays of the person threatened with, or actually suffering from, consumption are fresh air and a generous diet. In no disease should the injunction to "throw physic to the dogs" be so faithfully obeyed.

If possible the consumptive should sleep actually in the open air, on a balcony sheltered from the north and east winds; but if this cannot be done, the windows of the bedroom should be kept wide open at night and the bed should be so placed that it is bathed in the air entering from without. The patients often fear this will give them "colds" or increase the cough, but it does just the opposite. Of course the sleeper should be well protected, with a hood in very cold weather, and a warm sleeping robe, so as not to become chilled if the bedclothes are accidentally displaced. The daytime should be passed in the open air. The patient, if weakness or a fever keeps him from walking, should sit all day on a porch or by an open window on the sunny side of the house, and should practice full, deep breathing for a few minutes at a time frequently.

The diet should be as nutritious as it is possible to make it. Eggs and milk should be the standbys, with a good allowance of meat, and also of fat if fat can be digested. Care must be taken not to upset the stomach, for much depends upon good digestion; but a patient living in the open air day and night will be astonished at the quantity of food he can eat and assimilate. Fever at any part of the day is a sign to avoid fatiguing exercise. The bowels must be kept in proper condition.—Youths Companion.

Notice to Firemen.

The annual meeting of the Newberg fire department will be held at the council room on Tuesday evening, January 22nd. All firemen are requested to be present. C. F. BUTLER, Chief.

Freeland Here Again.

C. E. Freeland, whom Newberg people will recollect was with the Steel & Freeland company two years ago and gave the most successful exhibition of moving picture excellence we have ever seen here, will again appear, next Thursday evening, January 24th. Mr. Freeland is now the "whole thing," having purchased Steel's interest some time ago, and has improved his apparatus and increased the number of views until he now has the very latest and best show of this class on the road today.

Thinking well doesn't count unless you act well.

The Grip.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by C. F. Moore.

First Annual Clearance Sale

Commencing Saturday, Jan. 12, Ending Feb. 1st

Having had a very prosperous year, and wishing our patrons and friends a happy, prosperous New Year, we are going to inaugurate a Clearance and Bargain sale for the month of January, that will not be duplicated by any mercantile establishment in the county. Patterson, Parrish & Co.

NEVER SPRAY NEVER PAY

Spraying is one of the things necessary if a success is to be made of fruit growing. To make a success of spraying you must have the best pumps and equipment made.

MYERS PUMPS

Have never been equalled for all round work and we have a special style for such kind of spraying.

BEAN PUMPS

Are made by a man who has made a life work of building spray pumps in the greatest fruit growing country in the world. Come in and see the porcelain lined cylinder which never wears out, and get a catalogue containing much useful information. We carry a complete line of these pumps, nozzles, hose, sulphur, lime, disparene spraying compounds and other spraying mixture.

An approved formula for lime, sulphur and salt mixture.

For Scale and Scab apply in winter, while the trees are dormant. Unslacked lime, 40 pounds Sulphur, 20 pounds Common salt, 15 pounds Water to make 60 gallons Some omit the salt
Boil 10 pounds of lime and 20 pounds of sulphur in 20 gallons of water for from one and one half to two hours, or until the mixture is of a deep amber color, which shows that the sulphur is dissolved. In another vessel, slack the balance of the lime, 30 pounds and add the salt; stir the mixture until the salt is dissolved; add to mixture of lime and sulphur and boil together for about forty minutes longer, adding enough water to make 60 gallons in all. Strain into the spray tank and apply to trees. For peach worm apply just before the trees come into full bloom.

KING & BENNETT HARDWARE CO.

The Right Name.

Mr. August Sherpe, the popular overseer of the poor, at Fort Madison, Iowa, says: "Dr. King's New Life Pills are rightly named; they act more agreeably, do more good and make one feel better than any other laxative." Guaranteed to cure biliousness and constipation. 25c at F. H. Caldwell & Co's. drug store.

Pleasant and Most Effective.

T. J. Chambers, Ed. Vindicator, Liberty, Texas, writes December 25, 1902: "With pleasure and unsolicited by you, I bear testimony to the curative power of Ballard's Horehound Syrup. I have used it in my family and can cheerfully affirm it is the most effective and best remedy for coughs and colds I have ever used." Sold by C. F. Moore.
