The Closing Number.

On Friday night of next week the closing number of the Lyceum course will be given by Maynard Lee Daggy, when he will lecture on "Anglo Saxon Grit." Mr. Daggy was born in Greencastle, Indiana, and grew up amid the classic influences of the old college town. After graduating from De Pauw University, he prepared himself for the bar. A year or two of experience sufficed to convince him that his heart was in educational work rather than in law. Then followed a period of graduate study in the University of Chicago, of teaching in high schools, of further work at Boston School of Expression, succeeded by election to the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. Here Professor Daggy taught for three years, until he was called to the University of Washington to fill his present position.

Below will be found some favorable comment on his lecture.

Bloomington (Illinois) Bulletin—"Anglo-Saxon Grit" is a scholarly presentation of the evolution of the American citizen, based on the results of his investigations and researches for a number of years. Mr. Daggy is a natural orator, a man of magnetic presence, and of strong address.

Lou J. Beauchamp, The Laughing Philosopher—I consider Maynard Lee Daggy one of the brightest and most helpful young men for whom the entertainment and lecture platform has been looking for some time. He is not a coming man; he has already arrived, and whatever he does leaves a distinctly favorable impression, making the people say, as an elder people said when they heard Cicero, "This man we must hear again." Committees make no mistake when they choose Mr. Daggy as one of their attractions.

"Maynard Lee Daggy gave the closing number of our Lecture Course this winter. He gave 'Anglo-Saxon Grit,' and it was one of the strongest numbers of the course. His characterization of the Saxon was well done, and his summing up of the life of Lincoln was especially appreciated. He will be given a warm welcome if he ever returns."

Common Colds are the Cause of Many Serious Diseases.

Physicians, who have gained a national reputation as analysts of the cause of various diseases, claim that if catching cold could be avoided a long list of ailments would never be heard of. Every one knows that pneumonia and consumption originate from a cold, and chronic catarrh, bronchitis, and all throat and lung trouble are aggravated and rendered more serious by each fresh attack. Do not risk your life or take chances when you have a cold. Chamberlin's Cough Remedy will cure it before these diseases develop. This remedy contains no opium, morphine or other harmful drug and has thirty years of reputation back of it, gained by its cures under every condition. For sale by C. F. Moore.
