

TWO VICTORIES FOR P. C.

Multnomah Goes Down to Defeat in a Game With Pacific College.

Two splendid games of basketball were played in the college gym on last Saturday evening and the home teams handed out a couple of surprises to the visitors in a way that sent the spectators home, feeling that they had received the worth of their money. In the game played at Portland with Multnomah the home team lost by a score of 12 to 16 and this, coupled with the fact that any team the M. A. C. sends out is supposed by the public to be invincible, caused the spectators to prepare themselves for a defeat while hoping for victory.

Two games were played the same evening, the first a practice game between the second Multnomah team and the second P. C. team, with the lineup as follows:

Multnomah	P. C.
Bennett	F. Hammer
Fisher	F. Foster Mills
Agler	C. Kenworthy
Harder	G. Wilson
Perry	G. Hollingsworth

This was a fast snappy game, played with great vigor, resulting in a score of 20 to 23 in favor of the home team. This was a gentle surprise to the Portland contingent but they remarked that there would be a different score in the game to follow.

Much time was lost in arranging for the league game and it was almost ten o'clock when the ball was tossed up for the first time. During the first half the P. C. boys seemed slow on their feet and as several fouls were called on them they were losers from the start, and at the close of the first half the score stood 4 to 10 against them. This looked bad to the home folks while the visitors wore a "we told you so" expression. From the beginning of the second half the home team put more ginger into their playing, with results that soon told on their opponents and they were urged on to victory by the delighted audience. When the score was tied there was something doing on the side lines in the way of exhilarating demonstrations, and while Multnomah tried hard to rally and pull themselves together they were only able to make one point on a foul and when time was called the score stood 11 to 18 in favor of P. C. and Multnomah's chances for winning in the league games of the season were sent glimmering.

Hodson was at his best and he played a great game. In fact all the fellows played ball in the second half. The visitors spoke in the highest terms of Hodson's playing, saying that he would be a star on any team. The lineup was as follows:

Rash	F. Haworth
Allen	F. Hoskins
Bellingier	C. Hodson
Livingston	G. Spaulding
Dent	G. D. Kenworthy

Philippine Letter.

(Letter from Ethel Taylor McKillop Lucas, P. I.)

Manilla, P. I.,

December 26th—Here we are in the heart of the Walled City, enjoying ourselves to the full. I must begin at the first. School closed on Thursday because the superintendent wished the building for an assembly of the Normal. With Uncle Sam all school time must be accounted for so we earned our salary on Friday by visiting the Normal. We had intended to start for Manilla on Friday, coming overland, but those who had most recently traveled that way told us the roads were so bad that we would have to walk about ten miles. So we concluded to wait for the Barangon (a Spanish boat) which sailed Sunday morning at eight. We ordered a Caramata to take us to the boat, but a cheeky American simply waylaid it and appropriated it for his own use. We sent both boys out to find one, and soon the cook drove up in one and we were off, leaving Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook in charge of our home. We arrived in Cota very soon and found about ten American fellow passengers besides some natives. The sheriff was taking twelve prisoners to Bilibid. One of them was a woman whose crime is that she has been married three times yet has never been a widow. She is sentenced to six years. Another prisoner was a Chinaman who was sent back to China. At Cota we all got into a rowboat and were quickly rowed down the river and out to sea, where Borangon was anchored. We couldn't have had a more delightful voyage than we did. The weather was perfect, the sea smooth and the boat clean. We left the harbor at 8:30 a. m. and reached Batanza at three p. m. Here we stopped until dark, then came on, reaching Manilla about eight the next morning.

We got a Caratela (as they are called here) and were driven to Nevada Hotel, but as their rooms were all occupied we secured a place at their table, and got a room two doors away at a Spanish lodging house.

Yesterday was Christmas day, but it didn't seem much like it with no relatives and not even letters, for our mail is awaiting us in Lucena.

In the morning we took a long street car ride of about an hour and a half. We also walked through the Botanical garden, looking at the big cages of monkeys, birds, crocodiles, snakes, deer, turtle, etc.

That night at the Nevada we had a sumptuous dinner which was fine. The courses were as follows: First—salad; second—celery soup; third—pigeon on hominy; fourth—fish; fifth—ham and potatoes; sixth—beef steak and Saratoga chips; seventh—turkey, baked potatoes, cauliflower, sherbet; eighth—plum pudding; ninth—ice cream and cake; tenth—fruit. We have fine board at the Nevada, American ladies being at the head. Truly, American cooking and dishes seem very agreeable to us who have had Filipino and Spanish meals for so long.

Last evening we walked out on Malacaon drive to the Luneta. Truly, that was the most beautiful sight I have ever seen. The drive is very wide with cocoanuts and beautifully kept grass on either side. The Luneta is a fine large park with many winding walks. The sea borders one side. All was brilliantly lighted with electricity, and I do not at all exaggerate when I say thousands of people were there and hundreds of beautiful carriages were driving all through and around the Luneta. A marine band was playing some beautiful selections.

LATER—On our way home there were a dozen fellow passengers (Americans) and fifteen or twenty natives. The trip was a rough one, the boat rolling and pitching the most of the way. Many were seasick but Mr. McKillop and I were not affected. It rolled so once that it tipped over the chair in which one of our company was sitting and sent him sprawling. The rough sea made us late so it was half past nine when we got home. Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook were sound asleep in our bed, but we soon awakened them.

All were delighted to see us back.

One of the pleasures of getting home was in having the mail. A number of letters and packages came in. We both received some Christmas gifts from our dear native land. Christmas in the Philippines is not like Christmas, but we are comforting ourselves with the fact that there is only one more to spend here.

A Word of Explanation.

Owing to the fact that some of the people of Newberg feel inclined to censure the management of the college basketball team for having scheduled a game for the same night which the band had chosen for their minstrels the following explanation is offered.

On November 3, 1906, representatives from the different teams met in Salem and organized the State Basketball League. A complete schedule for the entire season was made out at that time and each team agreed to put up ten dollars as a guarantee that they would play all the games according to schedule. Most of the games were scheduled for Friday night but owing to the fact that the members of the team representing Multnomah club work during the day, their games away from home were scheduled for Saturday night, thus allowing them to return home Sunday and miss but a few hours work on Saturday. It is not the easiest thing in the world to schedule a season of twelve games and dodge all dates that are known to be booked for other entertainments, and when an entertainment is billed four or five days ahead of the night on which it is to occur and that night happens to be the one which we had selected for a game three months previous, we fail to see why the blame should be placed on our shoulders.

We realize the fact that we are indebted to the business men of Newberg for our greatly improved gymnasium and would not intentionally work in opposition to any organization of which they are members; however our games were all scheduled at the beginning of the season and we cannot possibly put them off without the loss of both money and reputation.

We are trying to give the people of Newberg the best there is in the line of basketball and the two games last Saturday were certainly all that could be asked for.

There will be two more games on the home floor; one on March 1st with Dallas College and the other March 15th with the Portland Y. M. C. A. These will be two of the best games of the season and we sincerely trust that the dates will conflict with no other engagements.

ARTHUR K. WILSON,
Manager.

Wanton Cruelty.

Editor Graphic: There is a resident of Newberg who makes a business of heartlessly shooting the neighbors' pet cats, as well as song birds, within the city limits. It is bad enough to have pets killed outright, but it is the limit when they are shot and crippled to crawl home to die after days of suffering. There is liable to be something doing if the practice is continued. Probably a hint will be sufficient.

Character in the Face.

Is it really possible to read character from the face? The general impression is that it is. Broadly speaking, this may be so. When we see a man with a chin sawed off sharp an inch below the mouth (which is open,) we gather that he is not exactly a master mind. And when a beetle-browed gentleman with a broken nose meets us on a lonely road and offers to "do us in for tuppence" something seems to whisper to us that this is no curate. On the other hand, very few of us can read the ordinary man's character from his face. Many a stout fellow with a bulldog jaw is the very reverse of determined. A writer in a contemporary is pleased with this. "It is this rich incongruity," he says, "that diverts me. It is pleasant to meet a man who has a criminal face, and afterward to discover that he is a popular novelist or a respectable bishop." We note that a book has just been published entitled "The Face, and How to Read it." This volume is full of the most profound observations. We learn for the first time that the expression "To get the hump" is derived from the "large, bulging forehead," men with this brand of forehead being apparently given to fits of melancholy. Rolling of the eyes indicates unsteadiness of character. This is a point to remember. If anybody suddenly finds his eyes beginning to roll, let him stop them at once or he will lose credit with his friends.—London Globe.
