THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1907.

Relative to this fuss about "Statement No. 1" which is being raised again by the newspapers of the state—but come, let's put No. 1 on ice until cooler weather comes.

Newberg is having the biggest celebration in its history this week—a three days' celebration with the Grand Army Veterans of Oregon. She will thus be generous and give way to sister towns on the glorious Fourth.

"All things come to him who hustles while he waits." A revision of the old motto worth noting by the host of young men and women who have been leaving college halls within the past few weeks. And by all others as well.

Merle D. Nelson, editor and proprietor of the Cloverdale Courier has gone to the home of his parents in McMinnville on account of sickness, which it is reported will require considerable time to heal. The members of the State Press Association will hope for the best in the case of Mr. Nelson who is a loyal member of the association.

The sight of a boy on the street with an habitual cigarette or pipe between his teeth is bad enough (and there are some in Newberg) but just a little worse is the girl whose tramp, tramp, up and down the street is accompanied by the continued champ, champ, champ of her jaws on a wad of chewing gum. We decline to say whether there are any of these in Newberg.

Sunday, June 30th, has been designated "Stainless Flag" Sunday by the Anti-Saloon League of America. On that day about two hundred ministers in the state of Oregon will speak on some phase of the drink evil and distribute to their congregations twenty thousand copies of Dr. E. S. Chapman's "Stainless Flag" address, which are to be furnished free, by the Oregon State League. This is a movement of wonderful possibilities and no doubt, public sentiment on the drink question will be lifted to a higher level thereby.

Secretary Welch, of the Oregon state fair board received notice yesterday from J. D. Gordon & Son, importers and breeders of Clydesdale horses, at Dundee, Oregon, that they would offer $100 as a special premium for the largest and best display of Clydesdales, American-bred, owned and exhibited by one breeder in the state. This is considered a very valuable addition to the premium list for the next fair and shows a most commendable spirit on the part of Messrs. Gordon, who are among the largest and best known horsemen on the Pacific Coast.—Salem Statesman.

One of our exchanges says: "Every family should have a curfew, which positively should 'ring to-night' and every night if needed. These curfews are inexpensive and can be made at home. Take a piece of siding two feet long and whittle one end down to a handle; then take the child that needs the curfew and bend him over a barrel. Now take the piece of siding in the hand and use it for a clapper. Put it on hot. Divide the strokes evenly and see that none miss. Good for a boy or girl up to the age of sixteen, and applications are warranted to cure the most severe case of loafing that exists.

The music this curfew makes is finer than singing 'where is my wandering boy tonight?'"

Let it be known far and wide that hereafter Newberg will have a complete High School course. This was the action taken at the school meeting of last week and it is but another step toward making Newberg the strong and ideal educational center for which its progressive citizens have long been working. We challenge the attention of parents who wish to give their children a careful, thorough education amid the most favorable surroundings. Our public school is managed in a way to make it a model for other schools. The completion of the full High School course will enable the student to enter the Freshman class of Pacific College where four more years of good, solid work awaits him in an institution which has attained an enviable record in the state.

"Dear, dear, what can the matter be, parents don't visit the school," is the refrain of an old song the writer helped sing frequently in his school boy days. From observations and reports another song is due asking why parents don't attend the school meetings. In one district near here there were but two men present aside from the officers at the annual meeting last week and one of these was a newcomer. We talk grandiloquently of our public school system as the foundation of our great country, the hope of the future, etc., and then can't devote two hours once a year toward considering its interests! We have been hearing much during the week of patriotism and the service it demands—of the great services it has rendered. But we are still far short of the real thing. "We need more of the patriotism which will take patrons to the school meeting—and without the women having to fuss around and get up a big picnic dinner as a drawing card.

The habit of expressing appreciation is a mark of good manners and culture and as such should be cultivated by all. And this applies to people in the aggregate, or audiences, as well as to individuals. There is a tendency with Newberg audiences to become lax in this particular. On not a few occasions of late, excellent numbers on the program to which people were listening were met with scarcely more than a ripple of applause—the "faint praise which damns." It was not because the hearers did not enjoy the number but rather because they were too careless and ill-mannered to show it. A self-respecting audience owes it to itself to express hearty appreciation of something good no less than to the performer who deserves such encouragement in return for efforts honestly put forth to please and entertain. Some people take pride in posing as a bump on a log on such occasions. Such are not worthy of notice. Pity them. But from sane, healthful minded people, a greater degree of courtesy may be expected.

ALAS, TOO TRUE.

There is practically no such thing as gratitude on the part of the public for any moral service rendered by a newspaper. The same is true of a favor done an individual by a newspaper. To the average citizen the newspaper is as impersonal as a railroad corporation and the attitude of the public is often to use it but to beat it if you can. Every editor has had good citizens urge him to attack this or that evil, and probably within a week after the battle was fought and won, the same man for some purely personal or business reason would stop his paper and his advertisement.—Rural Spirit.

Town and Suburban Property For Sale.

The trustees of the Burbank Trust Fund offer for sale to the highest bidder, the Burbank home place, bequeathed to the state by the late Mary E. Burbank, situated in and adjoining the town of La Fayette, Oregon, and containing 51.83 acres; more or less.

This is one of the finest small farms in Yamhill county. The land is of the very best and nearly all in cultivation. The house is substantial, commodious and of good appearance; the grounds are well arranged and beautiful. This has long been one of the show places of Yamhill county; a delightful home, one of the best of its kind anywhere.

The said trustees also offer for sale lot 4 of block 7 and 20x53 feet in the north-west corner of lot 6 of block 6 in the town of La Fayette. These lots are unimproved and situated in the business center of the town.

Sealed bids for any one or all of these three parcels of land will be received by the undersigned up to and until 1:30 o'clock p. m., Tuesday, July 2nd, 1907. Each bid must be accompanied by draft or certified check for one-third of the price offered, payable to George A. Steel, state treasurer. The terms of sale; cash or one-third down and balance on time with interest at 6 per cent. Bids should be endorsed: "Bid Burbank Trust Fund Lands."

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

F. W. BENSON,
Secretary of State.

Dated this 14th day of June, 1907.

The Magic No. 3.

Number three is a wonderful mascot for Geo. H. Parris, of Cedar Grove, Maine, according to a letter which reads: "After suffering much with liver and kidney trouble, and becoming greatly discouraged by the failure to find relief, I tried Electric Bitters, and as a result I am a well man today. The first bottle relieved and three bottles completed the cure." Guaranteed best on earth for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by F. H. Caldwell & Co., druggist. 50c.

Stimulation Without Irritation.

In case of stomach and liver trouble the proper treatment is to stimulate these organs without irritating them. Oriso Laxative Fruit Syrup aids digestion and stimulates the liver and bowels without irritating these organs like pills or ordinary cathartics. It does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. For sale by F. H. Caldwell & Co.

For Instance

You couldn't tell by looking at it whether a watch is cheap or not at $12. Very glittering promises may have been made to you about that watch in a mail order ad. You were told it was this and that and the other thing.

But really no one but an experienced jeweler could tell whether it is good value or not at the price.

He could probably tell in a minute or so, but you must use it and wait developments to find out.

If you will come here you can purchase as good a watch at whatever price you wish to pay as was ever turned out of a factory.
