Local Events.

It's a rare opportunity to hear a man like Judge Artman discuss so vital a question. Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Walter and Clifford Spaulding left for Salem Tuesday where they expect to spend a good part of the summer at work for the Logging Co.

Little Mildred Shirley, who has been visiting for some weeks up at Caldwell, Idaho, in the family of Milt Nicholson, came home Monday, being brought by Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Mills.

Since returning from his Seattle visit of which he has stories to tell of breaking all kinds of anti-speed regulations in his brother's automobile, Frank Taylor finds it rather slow going behind old gray Dobbin.

Mrs. Huber Smith of Marshfield is visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Hadley. She says that living on Coos Bay is like being in cold storage and she came out to get warm before the summer is over.

C. F. Jenson, of West Chehalis, is the first to challenge the Graphic's claims for the best corn patch. He says his doesn't go quite seven feet yet but he has five acres nearly all of which will go six feet. This is the best field reported. Who says we can't grow corn in Oregon?

A Kansas relative in writing longingly of our cherries, says: "We are not going to have any fruit here at all. We did have three cherries on one tree, one of which remains. We are going to eat it soon." Now if that were an Oregon cherry and a Bing it wouldn't be so bad.

Rev. J. Edward Blair, the new pastor of the Presbyterian church, made his first appearance before a union Newberg audience at the Sunday evening service in the grove when he preached a helpful and illuminating sermon which was well received. The several Newberg church audiences are well served from the pulpit.

L. M. Gilbert of Rosedale, one of the leading fruit growers of Marion county, is attending the sessions of Oregon Yearly Meeting and visiting his brother D. J. Gilbert and sister Mrs. M. P. Elliott. He expects his family to join him the latter part of the week. According to Mr. Gilbert nearly six hundred thousand pounds of cherries have been handled at Salem this summer.

One of M. H. Pinney's teams made a dash out of the lumber yard hitched to a load of lumber Saturday, and after almost getting the best of its driver, Byron Brown who tried to head it, tore off down Main street, turning after running a couple of blocks and crashing into an empty store building on the corner, owned by J. C. Duncan. The building was badly demolished, but the horses strangely escaped without injury.

If there were more Frank Woods about here this valley would be better advertised than it is. He is arranging to send to the Jamestown exposition some fine grasses and grains, which he will tie neatly with ribbons on which are printed the name of the exhibit, where raised and the name of the grower. Of the wheat, oats, rye and barley which he will send, the star exhibit will be side oats which stands seven and a half feet in height and the head of which will measure nearly if not quite twenty-four inches. When it is considered that the biggest head on record, exhibited at the Paris exposition, measured twenty-four and a half inches it will be seen that Frank has something that will open the eyes of the Easterners.

N. D. Elliott, the Salem printer and family are tenting on the Yearly Meeting grounds.

Judge Artman of Indiana on the unconstitutionality of the saloon at the Friends church Saturday afternoon.

A fine young Jersey bull was shipped from Spring Hill farm to a breeder at LaGrande named Kelly, the first of the week.

Wm. Floyd, aged seventy-seven years, who lived out south of Dundee died Monday and was buried Wednesday in the Dundee cemetery.

W. W. Baker and family have moved near Middleton for the summer where he is engaged in a sawmill, Mrs. Baker acting as chef for the mill force.

While at work painting on the new residence of J. H. Wilson Friday Chas. Lapp got a fall and a severe shaking up which necessitated his laying aside the paint brush for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Hanson of Portland, are attending Yearly Meeting, Lewis having arranged his vacation from his duties as city mail carrier to correspond with the time of the annual gathering of Friends.

H. W. Keating, employed in the office of the Spaulding Logging Co., who has recently moved his family here from Oregon City, is occupying the Forsyth house on College street, recently vacated by Clem Niswonger.

A. M. Aspinwall of Brooks, who moved to that place from here four or five years ago, is now one of the big Logan berry growers of Marion county. According to the Agriculturist, he shipped two hundred and thirty-eight crates on one day recently.

The busiest man in town these days is Man-afraid-of-work, who is kept on the run, with a few fancy side steps thrown in, to dodge the men who are looking for help. The strain under which he lives would be distressing to the beholder were it experienced in a better cause.

What appeared to be a couple of crates of pumpkins waiting on the truck at the depot the other morning to be shipped to Portland by express, on close observation of curious bystanders proved to be Newberg grown tomatoes. They were raised by W. B. Sims and the price he gets for them is nearly as big as the tomatoes.

O. C. Yocum, the veteran Mt. Hood guide and brother-in-law of the Robertson boys of this place, is said to be laying out a new town on his claim near Government Camp at the foot of Oregon's noted peak, to which he has given the significant name of Pompeii. It is to be hoped that there will be nothing in a name in this instance.

John Keller received word last week of the death by accident of Adolf Urben, up at Revilla, British Columbia, and of the injury of Urben's companion Gottlieb Bentler. Both men worked here for some time at the brick factory, making their home with Mr. Keller. They left here in the spring, but were back three weeks ago, spending the Fourth here. The particulars of the accident were not given, except that a fallen bridge was responsible for the tragedy.

A distressing accident took place at the river Sunday afternoon when Edson Hyde, fourteen year old son of H. A. Hyde, who was in bathing went over a shelving ledge into a deep hole and was drowned. There was no sufficiently good swimmer present at the time to go in after him. The Harrold boys, at some distance up the river, hurried to the scene and began diving for the unfortunate youth, but too late. The body could not be recovered, and an expert was sent for from Portland who succeeded in getting the body Monday forenoon. The funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church by Rev. Hamilton Tuesday forenoon. The sympathy of the community goes out to the family in its sudden bereavement.

E. M. Haworth brought in a box of as fine Logan berries the other day as we have seen this season.

Mrs. May Green, accompanied by two little daughters, is here from Iowa visiting her friend, Mrs. J. E. Buckley.

Henry Thiessen, who has charge of the grain business of Balfour, Guthrie & Co. at Arlington, is visiting here with his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Gower. Mrs. Thiessen has been here for some time.

C. S. Hulin received a letter last Friday containing the sad news of the death of his daughter, Mrs. Nora Hill, who passed away at Sherman, Texas, on Sunday, July 7. She leaves a husband and daughter four years old besides her father of Newberg and a brother in Portland.

Willard Roberts of Indiana, who has just finished High School and who is taking a vacation trip on the Coast, is visiting here with Delano Estle. He is a Webfoot, having been born on the Justin Haworth place which was owned by his father Thomas Roberts who died here fourteen years ago.

All young people in Newberg, and others too for that matter, should be at the Friends church to-night to hear the Christian Endeavor address to be delivered by Prof. Thos. Newlin of North Carolina. He will also give the educational address tomorrow afternoon which will be one of the best sessions of the Yearly Meeting.

D. W. Edwards, a successful insurance man of Indianapolis, Indiana, and wife who are making a short tour of the Pacific Coast, visited in town the first of the week and found many Hoosier friends. Mr. Edwards and the senior editor of the Graphic were academy school mates thirty years ago and had not seen each other since.

A. F. Wresch, a Swede who has been working here for some time, was brought by Constable J. J. Woods before Judge Linville Monday on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He plead guilty and was given a fine of thirty dollars and costs. It is understood that Wresch had given out that his wife was dead and was arranging to marry again and that he was after the man who was responsible for the sudden appearance on the scene here of his wife and children. Wresch promised the court to look after his family, as he is amply able to do as Constable Woods says he drew thirteen thousand dollars from a local bank before leaving town.

The Cannery.

Mr. C. B. Bussell, president of the Weber-Bussell Canning Co., of Seattle, was in town last Friday, examining the site offered by our citizens for the cannery plant. He said it was entirely satisfactory and that as soon as the attorney for the company could examine the title to the property they were ready for the deed. He has since wired that the attorney, W. Lair Hill, who is also secretary of the corporation, would be here the latter part of the week.

As soon as the property is conveyed to the canning company work will begin in the way of cleaning off the grounds and preparing for the building, which will be rushed with all possible speed to completion, and machinery installed for taking care of the pear crop and such other stuff as may yet be offered for the season.

It was suggested to Mr. Bussell that it would be a good thing for him to meet with the farmers and fruit and berry growers in the near future and give pointers regarding the things to plant, in order to meet the needs of the cannery in the future, and he said he would be glad to do so.

He is a pleasant man to meet and goes about things in a business like way and we are certainly fortunate in being able to get him and his company interested here.
