Haines and Walter Burgess left the first of the week to work in the harvest fields of Eastern Oregon in the neighborhood of Grass Valley.

Geo. Rogers moved his family from here to Portland Saturday as his business in connection with the Pacific Face Brick Company requires his continual presence in the city.

S. E. Watkins and sister, Mrs. Fogle, spent Sunday across the river at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Eldridge, for whom Mr. Watkins is to build a fine country residence.

The senior editor of the Graphic attended an executive committee meeting of the State Press association in Portland Monday. Arrangements were made for the Oregon editors to hold their annual meeting at Seaside August 30-31.

Mrs. Capitola Cummings made the purchase, a few days ago, of seven acres of land of J. L. Hoskins lying just west of his old home place. The purchase includes the knoll in the field which we have long maintained to be one of the most sightly building sites in the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Colcord are arranging to leave next week on an extended eastern trip. They will visit his mother in Vermont and will likewise visit Mrs. Colcord's relatives in Indiana. After years of faithful and uninterrupted service as cashier of the Bank of Newberg, J. C. has certainly earned his vacation.

J. C. Duncan favored the Graphic the other day with a can of mulberries picked from trees on the Duncan place north of town, which fruit is rare in this section. They had the old time twang which carried ye editor back in memory to his barefoot days "way down in old Indiana" when frequent excursions were made from the corn field to adjacent mulberry trees for refreshments.

The home of Martin Cook and wife caught fire a little after the noon hour Monday, presumably from a spark on the roof. It was a long hot run for the firemen and the case seemed hopeless by the time they reached the scene. The day being close and sultry however, with no breeze blowing, the fire made slow headway and was put out in time to save the lower story. Had there been an adequate supply of water available as soon as hose connections were made without having to lose time in waiting for water from the reserve reservoir, the loss would have been inconsiderable. The household belongings were saved. No insurance was carried on the building.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wilson visited in Portland over Sunday. Mrs. Mary Morris is visiting with her daughter Mrs. Marion Cook near Caldwell, Idaho.

James Vestal attended the holiness camp meeting in Portland Saturday and Sunday.

The union church services in the grove Sunday evening were in charge of Rev. Walters, pastor of the Free Methodist church, an earnest speaker.

Dolan Kenworthy, in connection with his undertaking business, has secured the agency of the Otto Schumann Granite and Marble Works of Portland.

Mrs. F. H. Buchanan, who has been spending a month in Lane county out west of Eugene with Mr. Buchanan where he is acting as timber warden, returned home a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Patton, who live over beyond Gaston in Washington county, visited in Newberg over Sunday with the family of Vernon Hinshaw.

Mrs. L. H. Shirley and little daughters, Miss Bertha Nicholson, and Eula, Eva and Frank Colcord left Tuesday for the salt sea breezes of Newport where they are camping.

Attorney Clarence Butt is spending the week with his family out at Nye Creek beach. We would like to see our city attorney frisking and flirting playfully with the little wavelets of the sounding sea. Yes, we would.

Two brothers, F. S. Plummer and D. Plummer, of Arkansas, Wisconsin, spent a few days in town last week with their former fellow townsman, A. Lapean. They say Newberg beats anything they have seen on the coast yet and their return is not at all unlikely.

Prof. and Mrs. Roy Shigley, of Fremont, Michigan, who are making a thorough tour of the West and visiting various attractions and points of especial interest, visited in Newberg over Sunday with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Fisher. Prof. Shigley is principal of the High School in Fremont, his wife being an assistant in the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Mills, Miss Lelia Littlefield and Bon Eldridge are out at Netarts in the quest of big game. It is reported that Jim took three or four guns, an array of fishing line varying in size all the way from a twine string to half inch rope, some ugly looking knives and "many other articles too numerous to mention," from which it may be inferred that this is his first.

Announcement was received the first of the week of the marriage on Wednesday, July 24, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Boone, at Long Beach, California, of Miss Floy A. Stanley and Edwin R. Hadley. The groom is the professor of science in Pacific College, while the bride will be remembered by many Newberg people as the daughter of Calvin Stanley, she having left Newberg when a mere girl, to make her home with relatives in the East. It is understood that the romance was started at Penn College, Iowa, when both were students of that institution. Their cards announce that they will be at home in Newberg after September first. Long life and much happiness is the wish of the Graphic for these estimable young people.

Miss Dawn Rawley, of Lewiston Idaho, is visiting her cousin, Miss Gussie Crawford, south of Dundee.

J. L. Davis returned to Hood River last Friday after having spent a week at his West Chehalis home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kincaid, Miss Minnie Kincaid and Lewis Mills, of the Springbrook neighborhood, took the overland trail for Woods and Philipps camp Tuesday on a fishing and hunting expedition.

Many interested spectators were lined up on First street Saturday afternoon to see the twenty contestants in the automobile endurance contest go striding by on the home stretch to Portland. Having come thus far over the rough, dusty roads, they "all looked alike" to Newberg.

Mrs. Clark Pemberton, mother of Wilfred Pemberton, a member of the class of 1906 of Pacific College, died Monday morning in a Salem hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jay and eldest son and Mrs. Wilfred Crozer and children went up to attend the funeral.

Rev. H. J. McDevitt of St. Mary's Cathedral, Portland, was in Newberg the last of the week and announced that the Catholics will soon erect a church on north Main street upon property recently purchased by them lying between the Free Methodist church and the home of R. Pettyjohn. Father McDevitt, after riding about over the neighborhood, stated that he had found twenty or more Catholic families in this vicinity.

One humorous incident of the Columbia disaster is told by J. C. Matteson, who was aboard the Elder, as related to him by an eye witness. Two Portland ladies, sisters, were debating whether to stay with the doomed ship or jump into the sea, there being a difference of opinion as to the best course to take. Finally the one who wanted to jump prevailed. The ladies mounted the railing, clasped arms, and then soberly counted aloud, "one, two, three, go!" and jumped together into the sea and were rescued. Thus do the playful habits of childhood assert themselves in grown-ups even in the face of death itself.

The Misses Ione Hill and Nora Parker entertained a company of young ladies at the home of the latter last Thursday afternoon in honor of the Misses Sibyl and Bernice Woodward who leave Monday for Berkeley, California. The feature of the afternoon was the editing of a publication which they were pleased to call "The Western Lady," the guests being assigned the editorship of different departments. The results as read proved highly entertaining. Those participating, aside from those mentioned, were the Misses Florence Coffin, Amy Heater, Mabelle Edwards, Pearl Cummings, Myrtle Gause, Olive Stratton, Clara Tebbetts, of Whittier, California, Lida Wilson, Elsie Mackie and Mrs. Walter S. Parker.
