J. L. Hoskins was in McMinnville on business Tuesday.

Mrs. Walter Bruce, graduate of the Ott school of Expression, of Chicago, at Duncan's hall Friday night.

Jesse Edwards and Riley Kaufman were in McMinnville a day or two last week attending a county Y. M. C. A. meeting.

County School Superintendent H. H. Belt, who was in town visiting our schools, made a fraternal call at this office Monday.

Reserved seat tickets on sale at both drug stores for the recital to be given at Duncan's hall on Friday night. This entertainment will be first class.

G. C. Palmer who worked in the mills at Falls City during the season, has returned to the farm in the Chehalem Center neighborhood since his father's death.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held at the M. E. church, Thursday, November 28, at 10:30 a. m. The sermon will be preached by Rev. J. E. Blair, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

F. E. Hobson, a former Newberg lad who has been absent from the fold for several years, sojourning in the eastern part of this state and in Idaho, has been about town during the week doing some surveying.

The handsome cottage built by G. P. Skelton and located immediately west of the M. E. church, will be completed this week and Mr. Skelton hopes to get moved in in time to eat Thanksgiving dinner in the new dining room.

The college students, who are backing the Mrs. Walter W. Bruce recital to be given at Duncan's hall on Friday night deserve liberal patronage. This will be a high class entertainment and the public may feel assured that they will get the worth of their money.

The Newberg Meat Company is packing pork this season and turning out lard and cured meats that will rank with the best in any market. The fact develops that more farmers are raising corn than formerly, as many corn fed hogs are coming to market. The company made a shipment of two tons of lard to the Portland market Wednesday. Everything turned out finds a ready market.

At the meeting held Monday evening in the interest of a public library, the committee appointed to solicit names for membership reported fifty-six signatures with only about one third of the town canvassed. Only a few were found who declined to sign the petition to the city council for the small tax to maintain a free library. Membership fees may be paid to R. B. Linville or to C. A. Hodson. The next regular meeting will be held on the last Monday evening in December, when it is expected that Miss Cornelia Marvin, secretary of the state library commission will be present.

The Lopp-Peters people have changed their plans for locating the milk condensing plant and instead of locating on the river as they had previously announced, they have purchased a site of James Hamnett near the brick yard and where the railroad track crosses Chehalem creek. The plan of the company is to get a water supply for the plant from the big spring west of town. A contract has been let to James Hopkins, for the erection of the building which will be 42x100 feet, aside from the receiving room which will be 20x20, and the engine room. The floors will be of concrete throughout.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fender were down from McMinnville the first of the week visiting at Frank Taylors.

D. McLane of Van Buren county, Iowa, is in town visiting with J. T. Rorabaugh and will remain a couple of weeks.

Sam Cummins, a former Newberger who was in town Wednesday ordered his paper address changed from Carlton to McMinnville, where he is now located.

The Wednesday club met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Hodson this week, the program consisting of two minute talks by the members on present financial conditions.

Mrs. J. P. Phin, of Galt, Ontario, who has been spending a month with her son in Portland, is visiting this week with her niece, Mrs. R. W. Harrold. Mrs. Phin is delighted with our climate and dreads going back to face an Eastern winter.

Mrs. Walter W. Bruce, the reader who will appear in Duncan's hall Friday night, is a cousin of Mrs. Eva Emery Dye, the gifted author of "The Conquest," "McLoughlin and Old Oregon," and other books touching early Oregon history.

Mrs. R. B. Webber returned from Portland Monday where she has been teaching a class in Anthropography, which treats of the actual distribution of the human race in its different divisions as distinguished by physical character, institutions and customs.

F. A. Elliott is expected home from Nevada this week where he has been engaged for three months cruising timber for the Oregon City pulp mills. The timber is so small that his estimates are made in cord wood. In a few days he expects to leave with his family for a six week's visit with his mother at Vermilion Grove, Illinois.

On Thursday fire was started for the first time in the steam heating plant in the new Union Block and everything worked to perfection. The plasterers have completed their work and as fast as the rooms are dried out in the hotel part of the building the plumbers, carpenters and painters are following up with the details that come in finishing up a job.

Wilson Whitmore, who lived in Newberg for several years and who owned a feed store during a part of the time, was buried at Hillsboro last Sunday, his age at time of death being seventy-five years. From Newberg he removed with his family to Goldendale, Washington, but later they returned to Washington county, their home before coming to Newberg.

A few nights ago an accidental shot from night Watchman Parker's revolver made a very neat hole in the postoffice window and the bullet continuing in its course punctured the glass face of the big clock, making some artistic advertising thereon look sick, but without interfering with the time keeper's digestive organs. It is evident that the gun, if pointed in the right direction at the right time, would be effective in "shooting away" night marauders on burglary intent.

New fixtures for the Bank of Newberg which were ordered some months ago from an Indianapolis factory, were put in place in the new banking room in the new brick block the first of the week by Tom Cummings and John McDonald. The counters and other wood work are in oak, with marble bases and marble slabs at the windows, and taken altogether the bank, when located in the new quarters, will be fitted out with facilities second to none in Oregon outside of Portland. The date for the removal has been fixed for Tuesday December 1. The Parker Mercantile firm expects to make the removal of their stock to their new quarters in the same building on the same date.

Raymond Ellis, arrived here from Haviland, Kansas, Tuesday morning and is visiting with his uncle, Enos Ellis.

Mrs. Nellie I. McCully has removed to the home on the farm with her son John since the death of her father, J. D. Tarrant.

J. B. Fletcher was down from McMinnville Wednesday visiting with his brother who has the contract on the Union block.

Louis Hadley was down from Dayton the first of the week making a sale of fat porkers to the Newberg Meat company. He raised a crop of corn this season as usual for his hogs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hoskins spent two or three days in Portland last week and while there they sized up the apple show, which they say was very fine, and they are free to assert that the Willamette valley product suffered not the least in comparison with the apples from other parts of the state.

J. Carl Nelson, foreman of Newberg Hose Company No. 1, requests that anyone in giving a fire alarm will call up either central telephone station and tell plainly where the fire is located, giving, if possible, the building and the street on which it is located. By observing these rules much confusion will be avoided, and more time will be gained than if a hurried, indefinite announcement of a fire is made. And don't you forget it!

A letter received at this office a few days ago from Prof. C. E. Lewis, who is teaching mathematics this year in the High School in his home town, Paonia, Colorado, making request for copies of the Oregon Referendum law and other matter bearing on the subject and stating they needed some such law in Colorado. His request was promptly forwarded to W. S. U'Ren, of Oregon City, and word has already been received from Mr. U'Ren that he has forwarded—well enough matter bearing on the subject to keep the professor busy during his spare hours for the winter.

Bert Satchwell lost his position as auditor of the railroad leading out from Medford to Crater Lake on account of the work closing down, by reason of the closing of one of the Portland Trust companies which tied up the railroad company's funds, and just recently he was again thrown out of a position with a milling company at Estacada by reason of the mill closing down. For the present he has located in Newberg and the children are in school. Mr. Satchwell will be remembered as a former railroad station agent at this place who had a good stand in with the people.

Few of our people, unless they have visited the Baptist church recently, know of the amount of time and money that is being expended in the effort to convert the building into a more modern church edifice, and at the same time provide adequate accommodations for the Sunday school and church services of the Baptist congregation. Thomas Herd has charge of the work and in the reconstruction of the building throughout he is following a Portland architect's plans. The old building was first raised to a height sufficient to allow a basement, full eight feet in the clear and a concrete foundation put in. In the basement aside from the furnace and fuel room and necessary closets, there will be a large Sunday school room and also a room set apart for the ladies aid society. The whole building is being enlarged and the roof plans altered so that when completed it will practically be a new church. The assembly room will be reached by several steps. Here a complete change has been made and the seating capacity largely increased. Between three and four thousand dollars will be expended in making the changes, but when the work is completed the membership will have reason to be justly proud of their efforts.
