Getting Ready at Seattle.

The grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition are rapidly taking shape and the work of getting the buildings under way is far advanced. The grading and construction of the avenues, circles, plazas and courts is nearing completion and the task of installing the sewer and water systems is being rushed. The general depression all over the country has not delayed the management in its job of getting the 1909 fair ready on time.

Bids have been called for the three permanent buildings to be erected by the board of regents of Washington University in accordance with the bill passed by the last legislature appropriating $600,000 for that purpose. The buildings, which will be used by the exposition and after that by the university, are the auditorium, fine arts palace and machinery hall. They will be constructed with buff brick and finished in terra cotta. In style of architecture they will be classic as far as modern usage will permit.

The contract for the manufacture building a temporary structure, has been let and work on it will begin shortly. It will be one of the two largest buildings on the grounds, the agriculture palace being its twin.

With appropriate ceremonies, the Arctic Brotherhood selected a site recently for its building. It will stand in the northeastern section of the grounds and will command a fine view of Lake Washington. It will cost about $25,000 and will be used during the fair as a club house and will contain an interesting exhibit of curios and relics of the Northland. After the exposition is over it will be turned over to the Washington University for the use of students from Alaska and Yukon.

Since our last report the silent reaper has entered our midst and a little spotless flower, all too fair for earth, has been transplanted to bloom in paradise. And while we mourn the loss of our beloved pupil, and note the gloom of sadness occasioned by her departure, we can but feel the wisdom of the reaper whose garnered sheaves are precious souls as pure and sweet as she.

As a tribute of love and sympathy, to the bereaved family, and in sweet memoriam to little Hazel Burgoyne, who died Sunday, November 24, we dedicate the following:

There is sorrow in our schoolroom
 As we gather here today;
 From our circle one is missing
 God has taken her away.
 In our song a voice is silent,
 In a home a vacant chair,
 In God's acre on the hillside,
 We have laid our playmate dear.
 While the little tender flower Baffled with the angry storm, Wide the gates of Heaven opened,
 And the angels whispered, "Come."
 Then she left us in life's morning
 And has safely reached the goal,
 'Ere the sins of earth could tarnish,
 Or its sorrows blight the soul.

 was voted to amend the charter authorizing the mayor to appoint a committee of four to act with him as water and light commission.

 sent out cards to sixty voters asking them to name four men who, in their judgement would be suitable persons to serve as such commission and as a result the following men were appointed. D. E. Wheeler, C. C. Murton,

No Case of Pneumonia on Record

We do not know of a single instance where a cough or cold resulted in pneumonia or consumption when Foley's Honey and Tar had been taken. It cures coughs and colds perfectly, so do not take chances with some unknown preparation which may contain opiates, which cause constipation, a condition that retards recovery from a cold. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered.
