Mrs. J. L. Davis and sons, Harry and Dr. A. M. Davis, went to Portland last Thursday where they met at the home of another son and held a family reunion. J. L. Davis was down from Hood River and Mrs. A. H. Pape was present from her home in California. This was the first time they had all been together for a number of years.

Fred Rogers, a former resident of Newberg arrived here a few days ago with his family from Mississippi. They are visiting with Mr. Rogers mother, Mrs. C. H. Eggers and will remain for some time. For ten years Mr. Rogers has been engaged in missionary work for the Seventh Day Adventist church, his special work being teaching and organizing schools for the colored race. Before returning to the field he will probably give a public talk on his experiences in the Southland.

Mrs. Edwards was called to Middleton last Friday to conduct the funeral of Edwin William Earhart, who died at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland, November 27. The deceased was born in Dark county, Ohio, in 1871 and in 1887 he came with his parents to Oregon. Since that date they have resided at Middleton with the exception of a few years spent in California. For thirteen years he had been an invalid and a patient sufferer. Senator Caldwell has the thanks of the Graphic family for a couple of very toothsome ducks that went to make up a fine "catch" he made the first of the week while on a hunting trip below Portland. He says if the fellows who took the ducks from the basement of his residence had only left their cards he would supply them with fowl on his next hunting trip.

Sarg Britt gave his parents a very pleasant surprise last Saturday evening when he arrived without previous announcement from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where he is in the employ of a large manufacturing concern as draftsman. Sarg's friends are always glad to see him return to the home nest for a visit and they will be pleased to know that he will remain until the holiday season is over.

On Tuesday Enos Ellis left his horse, which was hitched to his rural delivery cart, tied securely, as he thought, to a tree in the rear of Mr. Haggman's blacksmith shop. A little later the switch engine came along which scared the horse, causing him to "slip anchor" and take to his heels. In his fright he made good time down a back street in the southwest part of town where the cart was left hanging up on a stump looking like the "wreck of the Hesperus."

The atmosphere over about the college is charged with pent up oratory, which will find first relief on Tuesday night of next week when the Freshmen, six in number will have a tryout in the preliminary fray that precedes the contest of the classes, held annually to determine who shall represent the college in the state contest. The Sophomores, five in number, will have their tryout on Thursday night of next week. These contests will be held in the college chapel and an invitation is extended to the public to attend.

One evening the first of the week three La Fayette young men conceived the idea that they would try the life of tramps for a few minutes. They dressed up in old clothes and slouch hats and sallied forth to the back doors of residences and asked for something to eat. They were refused at but few places in town, and when the lady of the house was preparing their lunch they would vanish. Everything worked all right until Jim Vickrey tried the joke on his mother, but she knew his walk, and she told him supper was just ready and if he would change his clothes he could eat with the rest of the family. While the boys were having their fun the telephones were busy calling the marshal and informing him of the actions of suspicious characters about town.—Optimist.

Morris went to Portland the first of the week to attend the meeting called to discuss the question of the proposed petition to the governor for a called session of the legislature. Albert La Pean received the information of the death of his father, John La Pean, a few days ago, from Union, Wisconsin. The deceased will be remembered by a number of Newberg people as he spent a year here a few years ago. He was originally from the state of New York but for more than forty years he had been a resident of Wisconsin, and at death was seventy-seven years of age. He was of the Catholic faith, a man of excellent character and habits and was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

The old drum which has done duty at the public school building for the past ten years, and to the flub-dy-dub of which six hundred and fifty pupils have been keeping step, is now out of commission since a new Kohler & Campbell piano has been purchased and placed in the long hallway. The case is designed of true mission lines and it is a beauty. F. H. Buchanan and Mrs. R. W. Kirk went to Portland last week and made the selection. A cash payment has been made on the instrument and the balance is to be made up by the school. For the purpose of raising money public entertainments will be given on Friday and Saturday nights of next week when the music will be furnished by the house from which the instrument was purchased.

On Thanksgiving day, at high noon, occurred the wedding of Miss Beulah Lusanna Barnhart to Mr. Ray Carter, both of Chehalis Center, Rev. L. P. Van Dyke officiating.

After congratulations, amid a profusion of yellow chrysanthemums in the dining room, the company sat down to a splendid wedding and Thanksgiving dinner combined. Only the relatives of the bride and groom were present.

Many useful gifts of silverware, art, linen and cash were received. Mr. and Mrs. Carter have gone to housekeeping on Mr. Carter's farm west of Chehalis Center.
