Editor Ralston, who recently sold the Independence Enterprise, was in town the first of the week visiting with his cousin, J. C. Porter, and incidentally looking for property to rent with a view of removing to Newberg.

In order to relieve the pressure at the public school, another teacher was added this week, Miss Myrtle Stewartson, of McMinnville, taking the position. Pupils are advanced in the grades at this time and beginners are admitted the same as at the first of the year.

W. E. Crozer, assistant cashier in the Bank of Newberg, went to Rosedale last week to look after his orchard and while there his brother's wife, the mother of the Misses Verda and Hazel Crozer died, leaving a babe three weeks old. Emmer Newby and Curtis and Miss Nora Parker went from here to attend the funeral.

J. L. Van Blaricom returned from Shelburn on the Corvallis & Eastern, sixteen miles east of Albany, Tuesday, where he went to close up some business affairs, among which was the matter of getting final release from the office of postmaster, a position which he held there at the time he sold out to come to Newberg.

Mrs. Ann Lamb, who has been away from Newberg for several years, living at Whittier and Berkeley, California, arrived here from the latter named city on Monday evening and is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Will Wight. Before returning to her home in Berkeley she will go to Heppner to visit with her daughter, Mrs. George Whiteis.

The delegation that went from Newberg last Saturday brought back a report of a very satisfactory meeting. Temporary organization of a county development league was effected by electing M. O. With hay selling in Newberg at $20 per ton, the man who has it to sell wears a smile broad enough to balance the scowl on the face of the buyer.

Elwood S. Minchin, who went south recently as an advance agent for the Meneley Lyceum Bureau, is laid off at Berkeley nursing a case of mumps.

Mrs. D. M. Sivyver, who recently returned from Ceres, Stanislaus county, California, where her son has a job, left here for that point again this week with her family with a view of locating.

Notice should be taken of the annual meeting of the Commercial Club to be held on Friday night of next week. We are neglecting opportunities for want of more interest taken in this organization, when we ought to be up and doing.

C. B. Wilson had a communication from Mr. Bussell last Monday saying he had just returned from a trip east where he purchased the machinery for the big cannery at Newberg. As soon as it arrives a force of men will be put to work installing it and everything will be put in good shape for business as soon as the season opens.

A few days ago the news gatherer found uncle Henry Mills located some twenty feet above ground in the top of an apple tree, putting practical horticulture to a test by way of removing the moss covered branches that had outlived their usefulness. While it was a splendid example to be setting for younger orchardists, it looked a little risky for one of his age.

H. F. Baird went to Portland last Saturday and made a selection of a wagonette, with which he will carry passengers to and from trains for the Imperial hotel. He will also make a business of carrying passengers anywhere about town at a reasonable price. Such a convenience has been advocated by the Graphic for a long time and we believe that Mr. Baird will receive liberal patronage.

A bed of lettuce amounting in value to $150 when it retails at five cents per head, is not seen every day about Newberg, but that is just what John Gower, who bought the Seth Mills place, can show his friends at the present time and it is a very pretty sight. He built a greenhouse last season 30x80 feet, which is filled with growing plants—lettuce, cabbage, tomato and other green things, and he expects to build more houses of the same size the coming season. Mr. Gower grew up in the business and a glance about the place will convince one that he knows how it is done. While he has only four acres of ground, he says he has enough work to keep two or three more men busy. Mr. and Mrs. Gower are well pleased with their location at Newberg and say it is the best home town they have any knowledge of.

ELIZABETH E. COLTON, P. C.
The wreck of a freight train near Whiteson Tuesday evening called for the wrecking crew from Portland and delayed the 4.18 train for two hours or more. An inspection of the track at points near Newberg will make plain the cause of wrecks that are occurring of late. Sunken ties for the lack of proper ballast may be seen all along the line.

The Newberg W. C. T. U. will hold a memorial service in honor of Frances E. Willard, at the home of Mrs. Calva Martin at 2:30 p. m. A free will offering for the "Memorial Fund" will be taken.
