Local Events.

Mrs. S. M. Calkins went out to Newport the first of the week for rest and recreation.

Edward S. Minchin returned home the first of the week after a fortnight's outing on the north slope of Mt. Hood.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Edwards arrived home the last of the week from their trip eastward having gone as far as Indiana.

J. D. Shearer has the second crop of the season in the barn from his little alfalfa field and says the third-crop now stands at a height of eight inches.

A wagon load of hay overturned with Geo. Christenson one day last week, and in falling he struck a wheel, two ribs being broken. He is improving nicely now.

Edwards street is being opened between Second and Third streets. The Will Christenson house which was erected in the street has been moved westward and now stands on the corner of Edwards and Third.

Mrs. F. A. Morris is arranging to leave next week for Kalispell, Northwestern Montana, where she will make an extended visit with Mr. Morris' sister, Mrs. May Palm, who spent some time here two or three years ago.

Mrs. L. S. Hill of Eugene, who had just returned with her husband from a visit in Southern California, came up to Newberg the last of the week after her daughter Esther who has been spending the interim with relatives here. Mrs. Hill remained several days for a visit.

While Mrs. Harry Hanson was manipulating the clothes wringer the first of the week, the baby slipped up unnoticed on the other side and got the fingers of one hand badly mangled in the cogs of the machine. After careful attention by the physician, there is a good prospect of saving the injured members.

J. P. Thomas sustained a very serious injury Monday morning. Mrs. Thomas was assisting her afflicted husband in dressing, and when she turned to reach for some of his clothing he fell on the door sill, breaking his thigh. The doctor set it as well as possible, but considering the condition of Mr. Thomas, his many friends are fearful of the outcome.

As a delegation from the Newberg Commercial Club to attend the Oregon Good Roads Conference which meets in Portland, August 11, the following have been appointed: R. W. Harrold, H. R. Morris, Jesse Edwards, B. C. Miles, C. C. Ferguson, Clarence Butt, F. A. Morris, John Larkin, C. D. Ross, with F. H. Caldwell, president, and W. C. Woodward, secretary of the Commercial Club, as delegates.

W. Eugene Knox, well known to so many Newberg people as an impersonator and reader, after the close of the Chautauqua session at Gladstone Park, gave an entertainment here Monday evening under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church and was greeted by a large audience. He is now a member of the faculty of the University of Puget Sound of Tacoma, having charge of the department of public speaking.

A merry party of young people from the Epworth League of the M. E. Church had a hayrack ride last Thursday evening and serenaded Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bowman and spent a delightful evening in their hospitable home. Those comprising the party were Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Brouillette, the Misses Ellen, Doris and Maud Gregory, Grace and Wilma Finley, Merle Youngs, Grace Wilson, Lily Hagmann, Edna Richards, Pearl Cobb, Mary and Anna Butt, Edna Forsyth, Eleanor Satchwell, and Messrs. Wesley Wire, Thos. Blaylock, Chester Dimond, Warren Cobb, L. W. Gatchell, Riley Kaufman, Ernest Stone, Lindsey Dudley and Wesley Hagmann.

Mrs. J. B. Parker and daughter Christine, of Selkwood, visited in town the first of the week.

The Misses Mary and Anna Butt leave tomorrow for a week's outing at Newport.

Work is being pushed rapidly on the W. E. Wight cottage, northwest of the public school building.

Clare Buchanan returned Sunday from a week's visit with friends at Corvallis, Independence and Dallas.

Mrs. L. E. Brown joined her husband at Newport the latter part of the week. They returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett White left Tuesday for Sherman county where they will remain a month looking after their farm at Moro.

Sam McVey went to Portland yesterday to see about getting a rock crusher, he having the contract for laying the crushed rock on Main street.

Mrs. A. W. Rees was up from Portland the first of the week to attend the funeral of Herman Woodward, remaining for a short visit with her brothers, Henry and George Morris.

Rev. C. T. Whittlesey, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Newport, was out looking after property interests in the Springbrook neighborhood a few days ago. He was accompanied by his young son Raymond.

Mrs. L. W. Charles and children, accompanied by Mrs. Alice Noel, sister of the Charles boys, leave today for an outing of some weeks down at Fort Canby at the mouth of the Columbia, where Mrs. Charles has a married sister.

At a special meeting of the City Council held Monday evening, the contract for grading Main street from the railroad track to the south side of First street, was let at $450 to M. H. Pinney. Sam McVey has the contract for laying the crushed rock at $1.50 per yard.

A representative of the electric line people was in town yesterday. He drove here from Carlton and said there is the most favorable grade between that place and this for electric line extension he has found. From which it may be inferred — ?

The summer of 1908 seems to be the church building era in the history of Newberg. The new Baptist church has been completed, the Christian church is about so, the Presbyterian edifice is well under way and plans are now being prepared for the German Methodist church to be erected on the corner of College and Third streets.

The Graphic makes the belated announcement of the marriage of Miss Dana Judd to Mr. C. H. Coates, which took place at the White Temple in Portland July 9th, Dr. J. W. Brougner performing the ceremony. Mr. Coates is of Portland but is engaged here as engineer for the Newberg Gravel Company and the young people are residing here.

The H. D. Crumley surveying crew, consisting of Prof. W. A. Newlin, Riley Kaufman, Russel Lewis, Clyde Carey and Huber Haworth, left Tuesday for the scene of their summer's work in Western Washington, their leader having gone on two or three days before. As they had arranged to have their heads clipped in Portland they were careful not to wear any flashy summer clothing running toward the stripe pattern.

Col. B. F. Pike and wife of Moro, Sherman county, who attended the G. A. R. encampment here one year ago, got a pretty good case on Newberg, which the passing months have not relieved. As a result they returned a few days ago to see if Newberg still looked good to them, and have purchased for a home the Walter Fortune house in the west part of town. They are people of prominence in Sherman county, and highly respected. A hearty welcome is extended to them.

The Spauldings are arranging to go to Newport tomorrow to occupy their new summer cottage.

Rev. Jas. P. Price went down to Portland Sunday to see his son Drew, who was suffering from an aggravated case of tonsillitis.

Miss Geneva Vinton, a teacher in the Walla Walla public schools, is visiting in town this week with her friend Miss Leora Buchanan.

Omer Gause, who is working at Rosedale, came home Sunday returning Monday evening. He was accompanied by Clinton Bates of Rosedale.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmer Newby and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Butler left Tuesday morning for an outing in the mountains expecting to be gone a week or ten days.

Work is under way preparatory to building the J. A. Jones residence in the north part of town near the Baptist church, excavation having been completed for the basement.

C. C. Ferguson brought to this office last Saturday a few cherries of the Hoskins variety, eight of which placed end to end measured 9 1/2 inches, without stems. At the Salem Cherry Fair those which took the prize were packed eight in a row in a 9-inch box. Mr. Ferguson picked these cherries from a tree in his yard here in town without any special view to securing the largest ones as they average about alike in size. If anyone has this beat, please step forward.

Herman E. Woodward Deceased.

At the hour of 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, July 19, Herman E. Woodward, the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Woodward passed away, aged sixteen years and ten months.

In the month of February the deceased was seriously sick with mumps which left his system in a diseased condition from which he was unable to recover. Four weeks prior to his death toxin poisoning of the blood developed which resulted in meningitis, from which he suffered seven days before relief came.

The funeral services were held at the home Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, many friends of the family having called from 10 to 12 in the forenoon. The bier rested in the parlor, surrounded by a wealth of floral tokens, many of which were arranged in emblems most beautiful. On the casket rested a beautifully wrought anchor, the suggestive tribute presented by the boys of the Sunday School class of which Herman was a member.

The music for the service was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Emmer Newby, who sang effectively "He Holds the Key," "Still, Still With Thee" and "Jesus, the Very Thought of Thee." After a short scripture reading by Jesse Edwards, he spoke a few fitting words of the departed one—of his inspiring young Christian life, of his peculiar faculty of making and keeping friends on every hand. He repeated a few of the tributes which he had heard paid Herman during the days of his illness by old and young.

Rev. Isom P. Wooton, pastor of the Friends Church, gave a short message, eloquent with consolation and hope. His theme was the ministry of the clouds and shadows in life in effecting the richness and fruitage of character.

"The Eternal Goodness," Whittier's exquisite poem of faith, was read by President W. Irving Kelsey.

Interment was made in the family lot in the Newberg cemetery, the deceased being laid at the foot of the grave of his grandfather Johnathan Maris, who died here four months after Herman was born. Those who bore the latter to his last earthly resting place were Prof. Wallace Newlin, Riley Kaufman, Curtis Parker, Ralph Rees, Claud Lewis and Everett Heacock.
