Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Edwards removed to Corvallis this week.
 Mr. and Mrs. M. M. York and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Edwards went to Willamina Wednesday to take a look at the brick factory.

Jesse Hutchens, a resident in this community twenty-five years ago, was down from his farm above Dayton the first of the week.

J. M. Feathers, of Woodburn, was in town Tuesday taking a look at what we have and sizing up the situation. He said he was much pleased with the town and thought he would return a little later prepared to talk business. The latch string is always out.

Rev. J. V. Milligan, D. D., State Sunday School superintendent of the Presbyterian church will preach at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning and evening, and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock he will conduct a Sunday school conference, showing approved methods. Sunday school workers of other churches are cordially invited to attend.

B. C. Miles, secretary of the Spaulding Logging Co. is removing his family to Portland this week. He says the way the trains run he don't have enough time at their Portland office to take care of their business, hence the removal. With the building of the interurban line he says they will return to Newberg. Mr. Miles has long been identified with the business interests of Newberg and he will continue to hold his financial interests here, but general regret is expressed at the removal with his family from our midst.

In response to the announcement for a meeting called for the purpose of organizing a chorus class by the music instructors in the college, a good number of music lovers met in the college chapel on Monday evening and more than forty were enrolled. Another meeting will be held this, Thursday, evening at 7:45 o'clock in the chapel when opportunity will be afforded for others to join the class. A nominal fee of one dollar for the term will be charged, the principal object of the instructors being to work up an interest in the musical department of the college.

Dr. J. R. Knodel, the assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Oregon, addressed a crowded house at the Friends church last Sunday evening, holding the close attention of the audience for more than an hour. He exhibited maps of the state, the first showing the state all black, with licensed saloons in every county in 1905, the second with eight counties voted dry in 1906, the third with 21 counties voted dry in 1908, and the fourth all white as it is proposed to make the state, all dry, in 1910. Dr. Knodel is a forceful speaker, argumentative in style, with fine voice and delivery and is well calculated to interest and instruct an audience. Vocal music by a double quartet made up from the choirs of the Friends and M. E. churches, and instrumental music by Miss Doris Gregory who gave a violin solo and also by Mrs. Eva Hummer Hull, violinist, and Alexander Hull, cellist, were special features of the evening's program.

W. E. Allison and wife are expecting to go to Sherman county next week to look after their farm and will probably be gone a month or more. C. H. Christenson will drive the laundry wagon in Mr. Allison's absence.

G. W. Byers brought to this office a branch from an olive tree that is growing in his yard on Meridian street, on Tuesday, which is bearing fruit this season. Neither the tree nor the fruit shows any effects of the biting frost of last week.

On last Sunday Mrs. Delano Estle received a telegram from Colfax, Washington, giving the information that her cousin, Miss Mary Parr had committed suicide in that city, coupled with a request that Mr. Estle should go there to take the body back to Hamilton County, Indiana, the home of the deceased. On Monday morning Mr. Estle left here with a view of making the trip. Miss Parr visited with Mrs. Estle here last season, being at the time in poor health, and also spent a part of the season at Newport.

W. E. Williamson, late of the Oregon Agriculturist, came out from Portland Tuesday and after circulating around among the republicans during the day, assisted in organizing a Taft Republican Club at the city hall in the evening. Jesse Edwards was elected president, E. H. Woodward and J. C. Porter vice presidents, Dr. R. W. Harrold, secretary and W. S. Parker treasurer. Meetings will be held at the call of the president, campaign buttons and window pictures of Taft and Sherman will be supplied to all who may desire them, speakers will be supplied and the interests of the republican party looked after. In the meantime all republicans are invited to enroll their names as members of the club. Join in and help to whoop-up for Taft and Sherman.

Enos Ellis and children arrived home from their visit with relatives in Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas last Saturday, bringing with them two nieces of Mr. Ellis, the Misses Josie Ellis and Blanch Davis, from Haviland, Kansas. He says he found one of his brothers in western Kansas harvesting an eighty acre crop of watermelons for the seed. The melons, which pretty well covered the ground, were being fed into a machine which separated the seed from the pulp and rinds, the seed coming out at a spout like wheat from a threshing machine. A contract was made at the beginning of the season with a big seed house for the entire crop, the house furnishing the seed for the crop. The crop has proven to be a profitable one to grow. It ought to be easy to get a crew of hands to operate that kind of a thresher.

Miss Grace Dudley is taking a course in the Holmes Business College at Portland.

Cecil J. Hoskins was down from McMinnville, Sunday feeding from his father's table.

Paul V. Maris, the deputy Dairy and Food Commissioner who was on his way to Dayton to visit the various dairies in that vicinity, stopped off here over Sunday and visited with relatives and friends.

Miss Mary Crute and Miss Laura Evernden, the former a cousin of Mrs. Chas. Clemenson, who were here from Winston, Missouri, on a visit left last Saturday going by way of Coos county.

J. C. Lucas who recently made a trip to Springfield, Missouri, sold his farm while there and since returning home has sold the house he was occupying in the west part of town to A. Bartholomew. He will remove to the property on West First street which he purchased of J. T. Rhoton.

Rev. C. L. Hamilton returned home from the M. E. conference on Monday. He has been assigned to the work at Central church, Portland, for the coming year and Rev. F. L. Young comes from St. Johns to assume charge of the work in Newberg. Rev. Hamilton has done very aggressive work for his church during the two years he has been doing pastoral work here, which has resulted in a largely increased membership and an enlarged and much improved assembly room and basement.

It is surprising what a wide acquaintance some men have. Enos Ellis says that while on his way east, being compelled to stop over at Ogden for a time, Milton Newlin was accosted by a stranger who lost no time in getting quite familiar, asked about Newberg and inquired if Milton knew J. C. Colcord, cashier of the Bank of Newberg, who he said was his cousin. Of course Milton said he did and then a hard luck story was told and a loan of a round hundred was asked for just for an hour or so. Failing to meet with a hearty response he dropped in his little request to thirty dollars, but Milton was old enough and not too old to be wise, and "cousin's" urgent appeal was declined.

Newberg swarmed on last Monday and when all were hived at the big public school building and a total was made up of the names on the register the figures reached 554.
