

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Clippings From the Graphic of December 15, 1888—Temperance an Issue Then As Now.

In the older sections of our country where settlement was made two or three centuries ago and improvements have been permanently made, and where the people change about very little, a span of twenty years don't count for much in the making of history, but it is not so in the great, undeveloped, Northwest country where we have a shifting population, with the pioneer marking the way and with others coming later to buy out his improvements while he makes another shift in order to get a little closer to nature as he enters the "forest primeval," or strikes for the sage deserts to await the completion of an irrigation project. In a country like ours the people get into a wonderful hurry to "strike oil" and many of them, fearing the other fellow has outwitted them in prospecting, rush hither and yon to make sure that they are not getting left, and consequently the perusal of a newspaper of a few years back will reveal the fact that a large part of the population has moved on in the great prospecting game.

While in a reminiscent mood a few days ago, a box containing some old files of the Graphic was opened and the first copy picked up was of the date of December 15, 1888, this being twenty years ago and corresponding to this number of the paper. The Graphic had just been launched on the uncertain sea of Journalism by Hiatt & Hobson and this was the second number.

Among the advertisers we find the names of J. T. Smith and J. B. Mount, both in business here now, the latter having continued in the same line, that of hardware, all these years. Miss Margaret Inglis was associated with Miss Graham in running the Newberg House and they had a good business. L. M. and J. R. Smith were proprietors of the "Pioneer Livery and Feed Stable." Notice is made that Morris & Miles, who had the principal general merchandise store, had taken Calvin Stanley in as a partner. There are two church notices, the Friends and Evangelical, and one professional card, J. Bert Moore, M. D., and the latter was associated with C. F. Moore in the drugstore. O'Brien will be remembered as one of the conductors on the railroad which was then a narrow gauge and decidedly in the embryo stage, and consequently the butt of many gags. We find this:

Passenger—"Say O'Brien, whatever is that engine blowing that whistle for?"

O'Brien—"Cattle on track."

Two hours later. Pass—"I say, conductor, what's he tooting for again?"

O'Brien—"Cattle I told you."

Pass—"Great Moses! hain't you got ahead of them cattle yet?"

Walter L. Tooze was not running for congress then but he is quoted as having a potato in his Woodburn store 23 inches long, 17 inches in circumference, weight 5½ pounds.

"Football all the rage" says the academy notes. "We have some high kickers, for one man got a hole in the top of his head." Evangelist Moody was holding meetings in Portland and many are mentioned as attending.

LOCALS.

Jesse Hobson's sawmill has cut about one million feet of lumber this season, six hundred thousand of which has been cut since the first of September.

John Brown, administrator of the Tolson estate sold the farm on the mountain last Saturday. J. B. David was the purchaser and the price paid was $3,300.

Warner & Townsend have purchased the logging outfit of C. K. Spaulding at the saw mill in the gap. Consideration $400.

N. G. Kirk, of Newberg is the owner of some rare old furniture. A very fine desk made in Ireland and brought over by John Kirk in 1725, an earthen jar made in 1617, a sundial made in 1690 and several other pieces equally ancient and valuable.

The public schools of Newberg closed last week. Mrs. Martin and Miss Phillips, the teachers, have given excellent satisfaction and the patrons will be glad to learn that both have been employed for another term.

Passengers waiting for the train and especially new comers, do not speak in very flattering terms in regard to comfort at the depot. We trust Mr. Reid will soon put a stove in the waiting room.

We are in receipt of complimentary tickets to the Literary Society, signed by Elmer E. Washburn, Pres. and Lillie C. Smith Sec. Thanks.

J. D. Tarrant & Co. will now probably have to enlarge their flouring mill and put in a roller process to supply the increasing trade.

Miss Graham and Miss Inglis, proprietors of the Newberg House, are fencing a lot for chickens and making other improvements.

Henry Austin has part of the material on the ground for his new barber shop near Winslow & Nicholson's restaurant and meat market.

The Y's changed the date of their Christmas tree so as not to conflict with the one at Jones' hall.

A. P. Oliver, one of Newberg's real estate men, has been wearing a bouquet of blackberry blossoms. They were picked north of town near Oliver & Colcord's subdivision. Mr. Oliver took a lot of them down to Portland to distribute among the refugees of the frozen East.

Five dozen turkeys wanted at the meat market of Hanson & Martin.

D. E. Holloway has bought Parker's interest in the Newberg Furniture Store and is filling the rooms with new goods.

A motor R. R. from the depot to the steamboat landing would be a good thing for the town.

J. H. Ford, J. H. Campbell and F. A. Elliott, all of Danville, Illinois, have arrived at Newberg.

Newberg was beginning to take on new life at this time, and with the coming of those who were looking for chances for profitable investment along legitimate lines of business, there was pretty good evidence that parties were endeavoring to establish themselves for the sale of intoxicants. This aroused the better element and a mass meeting was called which was attended by nearly all the people in town. The published account of the meeting follows:

TEMPERANCE MEETING.

A large number of the people of Newberg and the surrounding country met at the F. P. A. Gymnasium Hall in answer to a call for a temperance meeting. E. H. Woodward called the meeting to order and Mrs. Jesse Edwards offered prayer. On motion Jesse Hobson was elected chairman and N. C. Maris secretary. A committee on resolutions was appointed, consisting of E. H. Woodward, Prof. Morrison and Rev. Pettijohn. Short speeches were made by Mr. Carter; Mr. Hald, Jesse Edwards, M. M. Edwards and others. The committee on resolutions presented the following which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The saloon is an enemy to all that is good and the home of all that is evil, the school where young men learn to drink and to gamble and the resort where older men squander their money and get drunk. It robs the rich man of his wealth and the working man of his wages, women and children of their support and all its victims of their character and reputation; and,

Whereas, many of us have already come here and others are soon coming from the cold North and from the East to find homes in this lovely land, in our opinion the time has fully come to speak with no uncertain sound on the question of Temperance. Therefore, be it

Resolved, by the citizens of Newberg and vicinity in mass convention assembled, on the 10th day of December, 1888, that Newberg does not need a saloon, does not want a saloon, and will not tolerate one if it can be prevented by lawful and honorable means.

Resolved, that in our opinion no honorable man will attempt to start a saloon or will sell liquor, as a beverage, in Newberg after hearing this expression of its citizens.

Christmas Box For Baby Home.

The W. C. T. Union met at the usual place and had a strong discussion on Civic Righteousness in our town. Three new names were added to the roll. The Union decided to send a box of clothing, and toys, or anything that can be used by little tots, from a few months to three years of age, to the Babies' Home in Portland for Christmas. All members and everyone in town is asked to contribute to this worthy cause. Send the articles to Mrs. Bowerman's or leave them at the Graphic office by Dec. 23.

Our next lesson will be on Purity. A full attendance is desired. Mrs. KOPP, Press Supt.
