Local Events.

Rev. Elmer E. Pemberton was down from Salem Wednesday.

Alden Chamberlain and family have gone on a visit with relatives to Kansas City.

W. H. Whitten and family are expecting to spend the holidays with his parents at Newport.

Elder J. S. Secrist of Olympia, Washington, will have charge of the services of the Brethren church Sunday.

The regular monthly meeting of the library board will be next Monday night at 8 o'clock. Mrs. P. A. ELLIOTT, Secy.

J. B. Forsyth who is well advanced in years and who has been sick of late was able to attend the funeral of his son Tuesday.

W. C. Woodward arrived home from the University of California at Berkeley Wednesday evening and will remain through the holidays.

Rev. C. L. Hamilton and wife came up from Portland the first of the week, the former to assist at the funeral of J. W. Forsyth.

Mrs. Hull's music students will give a recital in the college chapel on Saturday evening, beginning at eight o'clock, to which the public is cordially invited.

Rev. H. J. McDevitt will celebrate mass next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Duncan's Hall. The new Catholic church will most likely be enclosed in about a month from now so that it can be used. The dedication will take place later on.

Enough snow showed up on the side of Chehalem mountain Wednesday morning to make rabbit tracking easy, and its delay in coming was not long enough to materially effect the reputation of our friend J. C. Duncan as a weather prognosticator. Give us just as little of it as possible though, Jim.

Charley Cavil, the Middleton bachelor was down from his ranch Wednesday dressed up in his Sunday-go-to-meeting togs. The shadows of the last days of leap year are rapidly drawing round and it pays to get into the current. Many obstacles may be overcome in the run of a couple of weeks with a display of the proper amount of courage.

Theodore St. Pierre of Concordia, Kansas, who bought the A. C. Churchill fruit farm north of town has arrived here with his family, consisting of wife, a seventeen-year-old son and a young daughter, and have taken possession of the place. We extend a hearty welcome to them and hope they may find Oregon to be all they may have hoped for in coming.

Two Woodburn young men were duck hunting on the Willamette between Champoeg and Butteville last Sunday, one rowing the boat and the other holding the guns which were loaded. The boat was landed, when the one holding the guns stepped out, pulling his gun after him, when it was discharged, the charge of shot blowing the top of his head off and killing him instantly.

Mrs. W. W. Nelson has completed the work of taking the enumeration of the children in the Newberg school district of the age for drawing school money and finds 467 boys and 461 girls, making a total of 929, which is an increase of 91 over the enumeration of last year. The enrollment in the school is 720. Mrs. Nelson says she had great difficulty in many instances in obtaining the correct number of children of school age, the mothers having the impression that it would cost the family something for every name given, and consequently insisting that this one or that one should not be counted as they were not in school.

OUR GREEN CLOTH MEN.

How They Are Building Up Business in Newberg.

Since it is the province of a newspaper to make mention of every business and profession carried on in the field which it is supposed to cover, it becomes the duty of the Graphic to make some little notice of the gambling which appears to have reached the stage of a profession with some of the residents of Newberg.

It has been known all along that there was a certain set that were often kept up late of nights around very dim lights with curtains closely drawn, tempting dame fortune, though little has been said about it, but since it appears that the number is increasing and it is becoming a profession on the part of some of the higher-ups, it is certainly a business calling for some mention on the part of a local paper that makes some pretense of keeping its readers posted in matters of news. The fact is it is imperative. Only one day last week an "interested reader" told the editor of the Graphic that it would be well for some people to attend a little more closely to their own business, and in thinking this thing over since he made this remark we are not sure but that we have been a little remiss in not attending to this matter sooner.

However a considerate public will no doubt give some weight to the mention of mitigating circumstances. Here we grind away at work from ten to fourteen hours a day, being closely occupied throughout the full period of daylight, while the knights of the green cloth get in their work during the still hours of the night after other people have gone to the land of nod. They do a little work during daylight on Sundays occasionally to be sure, but this is rest day for us and consequently we are not supposed to know all that is going on at such hours. Then again it is deemed prudent at times for a newspaper to maintain a say-nothing attitude in order to give the man who wears a star a chance to do business.

All these things aside however for the present. Any growing business like this one demands some newspaper mention and the time is probably overdue.

In giving a write-up of a business we are a little bit handicapped when no newspaper advertising has been done, nor circulars printed to exploit the enterprise, and worse still when no printed sign is displayed to indicate the location, and the principals are reticent about imparting information regarding the amount of capital invested and the stock carried. It is really not giving a newspaperman a fair show, but we feel that an indulgent public will overlook any slight inaccuracies that may be made in this brief mention of one of Newberg's growing industries.

From the best information obtainable it seems that there are more than two dozen of our fellow citizens who have taken stock in the undertaking, some more and others less. It is said too, to be on a sliding scale and very fluctuating. Several locations might be mentioned where more or less of the business is transacted but this will be reserved for special mention at some future time.

It is currently reported that a certain other business concern in town has been very much embarrassed on account of the interest one or more members of the firm has taken in this night work, but of course such things are liable to occur when interest is taken in large outside partnership affairs though prospects may be promising.

Some wives with tear stained eyes may have spent nights of sleepless waiting for husbands who just went "up town," and possibly some children have not been clothed as they should have been, but it is the way of the world, and you can't always tell how an investment is going to come out. Then it is a common remark that men of the green cloth are very generous fellows with their money when they are appealed to for assistance. Isn't there evidence of it right here at home, where it is currently reported that one of the experienced members of this firm has been so generously remembered by the boys down the line, that he has been enabled to build for himself a nice cottage more centrally located for business? More might be said of what these men are doing for Newberg and what a noble example some of them are setting for their growing boys, but enough has been said to give the readers of the Graphic some little idea of their operations. Any parents having sons of good moral character and of the proper age to branch out into business for themselves in a small way, may investigate for themselves if they so desire. The opportunity is here afforded for a starter. Further information furnished on application.

He received his education at Willamette University, Salem, Oregon.

He was married to Miss Minnie Jones Dec. 22, 1886. To them were born six children, five daughters and one son of which two preceded him to the Glory Land; little Margaret in infancy and little Mildred but a few months ago.

Brother Forsyth is survived by his wife and four children, his aged father and three sisters, Mrs. Steven G. Smith and Mrs. F. B. Farwell of Portland and Mrs. John L. Glenn, of California.

He was an industrious man, honest to the core, so was he also an honest Christian and a most earnest, devoted and loyal member of the Methodist Episcopal church. He was a faithful trustee. He loved God supremely. As a man and citizen he was highly esteemed, earning the confidence of the public by his strict integrity and the good will of all by his genial spirit and cordiality.

The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. F. L. Young, assisted by his former pastor, Rev. C. L. Hamilton at the M. E. church at half past ten o'clock Tuesday morning Dec. 15, 1908 after which the remains were laid gently to rest in Rose-lawn cemetery.

While a young man he served three years in the Civil War, after which he taught school for several years. February 1, 1872 he was married to Amyetta Shreve and for fifteen years thereafter he was engaged in business at Damascus, Ohio. Here four children were born to them, three sons, Rollin W. who is principal of the Independence school, Carroll E. who is engaged in Y. M. C. A. work at North Yakima, Arthur G. deceased and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Miles, of Oskaloosa, Iowa.

In 1888 he removed with his family to Oregon and located near Newberg. He was an active member of the Friends church and was held in high esteem by the membership at Chehalem Center. The funeral was conducted at this church on Sunday afternoon by Rev. James P. Price, the burial following in the Newberg cemetery.

Samuel Bottomley and wife, of England, who spent several days in Newberg fifteen years ago while touring the United States, are again in the country and on Tuesday they stopped off here for a short visit with E. H. Woodward and family. They have since gone south and will spend the winter in Southern California.
