

SOCIETY CIRCUS AND HIGH SCHOOL CARNIVAL.

Planned to be One of the Biggest Stunts Ever Pulled Off in Newberg.

One of the largest undertakings ever attempted by any organization in Newberg is the coming carnival contemplated by the Athletic Association of the Newberg High School. Arrangements have been made for entertainment, amusement and fun for everybody, young and old. Business men are giving it a hearty welcome and are eagerly looking forward to a few nights of enjoyment to help forget the strenuous days before Christmas. A great many are giving the most liberal assistance. Mr. Oliver has graciously consented to turn over the rink to the association for two days and is lending every assistance possible to help make it the best amusement ever attempted in Newberg.

Several large outside exhibits in the line of curios have been obtained and each one alone is worth the price of admission. Two jubilee singers have been contracted with for both nights who will sing the latest comic songs. Judging from their reputation they will by far excel any two singers who could be picked from the Tennessee Jubilee Singers who visited Newberg but a short time ago.

Two cages of ferocious animals have thus far been obtained and the committee is trying to make arrangements with the Park Committee of Portland for the large polar bear in the City Park. It is hoped that the negotiations can be closed in time to get the bear for the carnival.

A great many other amusements which will take too much space to describe will be added; such as, moving pictures, band selections, mysterious caverns, etc. Electrical apparatus has been obtained to give effects such as have never been seen here before.

Then to crown all a basket ball game between the Alumni of the school and the present high school stars will be played on Monday night. For Tuesday night arrangements have been made for a double header, the first between the high school girls and the champion girl team of Yamhill county and the second between the Newberg Stars and the Yamhill County Champions.

Everybody come on Monday night and you'll be sure to come back on Tuesday night. There will be an entire change of program on Tuesday night excepting such numbers as are repeated by special request.

The general admission price is ten cents, children five cents, which also includes the basket ball game.

The Valley of Content.

The praises of Willamette valley cannot be sounded too often nor too strongly. It is seldom that a country so favored by nature is to be found anywhere in all this broad land of ours. For evenness and salubrity of climate the valley leads any section on the Pacific coast. While not perfect, for perfection does not exist, climatically on the globe, when it comes to striking an average, Willamette valley measures up beyond that of any other section. We have no extremes of heat and cold, no damaging storms or disastrous floods, one season gradually losing its identity to another one without perception. Here it is December, five days of sunshine as pleasant and exhilarating as those of springtime with all nature clamoring to burst into bloom. In fact, roses and other flowers yet abound in profusion all through the valley, the summer's building boom continues unabated, weather conditions being ideal for such work.

Plowing in December and in January are not unusual, in fact there are seasons when the valley soil can be worked every month in the year and it comes as near producing the year around as any land to be found in the west.

In addition to soil, climate, and equity of seasons, nature has surrounded us with a lavish environment of resources from which to garner plenty and prosperity. Timber in abundance surrounds the valley on all sides, swift flowing streams create an unlimited water power by which the land can be made to hum with the busy wheels of industry, the mountains hide veins rich in gold, copper, and quicksilver to be had for the delving; the foothills are ideal for stockraising and the industry is flourishing; fruits of all kinds are making the valley famous the world over and the thrift and energy of its people is a watchword and a model after which other sections are copying with success and profit to themselves.

It is not surprising then that people in distant lands who have learned of this favored section are losing no time in cutting loose to make their permanent homes in Willamette valley. This fact alone has been responsible for the most remarkable influx of new people into Lane county during the past few years, known to the upper part of the valley and explains why the immigration is to increase from year to year until Lane county is settled with the most aggressive and prosperous population to be found in the state.

Eugene is proud of the part it has played and continues to play in development of the valley, and time is sure to bring a just reward for the labors thus expended.—Eugene Register.

Keep Smokers Off The Cars.

The following letter received by B. S. Josselyn, president of the Portland Railway Power & Light Company, is self explanatory:

Today's Oregonian contains a statement that the Council committee on health and police will recommend the passage of a resolution by that body requesting the restoration of smoking privileges on streetcars. If such resolution be submitted to you, I beg of you, in the name of all that is decent and all that is manly and dignified, noble and pure, in one in your position, not to be persuaded again to inflict upon a helpless community this intolerably disgusting and reprehensible practice. We can turn from the fumes of tobacco on the street and need not endure it in public places or on trains of steam railroads, but when encountered in streetcars we are helpless and wholly at the mercy of the offenders. There is the only place on earth we cannot flee the obnoxious fumes. We are compelled to patronize your cars, and glad that we have the privilege, hence as I say, we are forced to suffer all the agonies of this frightful nuisance, because unable to escape it. I am a large patron of your streetcar system, my car tickets costing from $10 to $12 monthly, therefore I have considerable opportunity to understand public sentiment on this question and at the time smoking was forbidden I am sure I heard as many as 100 praise the order for every one that condemned it.—Oregonian.

Working For Bill In Legislature.

Dr. T. V. B. Embree returned last night from Portland, where he has been working to arrange to have a measure introduced in the Legislature asking for compensation to the veterans of the Indian war for the services and loss of horses in the Indian war of 1855 and 1856. How large an appropriation will be necessary to cover the loss of horses and services is not known, but approximately $100,000 would pay all the outstanding accounts. The bill will ask to compensate only the survivors, whose ranks are rapidly thinning out. The State of Oregon agreed to pay $4 a day to the Indian fighters, the latter to provide their own horses, clothing and ammunition. Payment for the horses, many of them being killed in the war, has never been made, although half a century has elapsed since the volunteers went to eastern Oregon to suppress the redskins. Dr. Embree has sent the measure to Representative Jones, and will solicit support from as many members of the Legislature as possible.—Polk Co. Observer.

The Brownsville Times says: A man with two heads on his shoulders was exhibited on one of the avenues of Brownsville the other night. Both heads were fully developed and were rather handsome in features. The man is not an ordinary museum freak, as might be supposed, but is a young man who lives in this city and moves in polite society. The other head on his shoulder was that of his sweetheart, and possibly would not have been seen in that deformed position had it not been for the blowing of the window curtain to one side for an instant.

Christ With Us Still.

A gift for a gift, I laid them away.
A simple exchange on Christmas day,
From those who had plenty and felt no need.
Ah! Where was the Christmas spirit indeed?
And I cried in my heart, "The Christ has fled,"
And only the spirit of earth lives instead.
For in meditation and holy prayer,
I have sought the Christ, but He was not there.
I have read of His birth, I have read of His star,
But Oh! He lives where the White Ones are.
Then a child's low cry arose from the street,
With outstretched hands and naked feet,
And clutching it up to my heart with care,
I looked and lo the Christ stood there.
Along the rugged and upland road,
I met a toiler with heavy load.
I offered my shoulders the burden to bear,
And behold: I saw the Christ was there.
Beside the bed of pain all night,
I watched and waited for the light.
Alone, I thought, the whole night through
But no: I saw the Christ there too.
In lonely lane, in crowded street,
I hear the passing of His feet.
Wherever want or sorrow stands,
There comes the touch of His dear hands.
No doubt, no fear, but peace, good will,
Forever, yesterday, today; Christ with us still.
