An Insidious Danger.

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy at the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. For sale by C. F. Moore.

Postmaster H. M. Hoskins and wife were down from McMinnville Sunday visiting at the Hoskins home near town.

Our friend Jim Duncan is a prophet with no mean record behind him. Note this snow, but don't do it again Jim.

Miss Mabel Blalock who returned to her former home in Missouri a few weeks ago was married last week to a resident of that state.

Melvin Ogden, a student in the University of Oregon at Eugene, was in town last Saturday visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan White.

In answer to many inquiries the date of the Russell H. Conwell lecture, the second number in the Star Lyceum Course, is given as Tuesday night, January 26.

The store of J. T. Smith has been closed during the week on account of the sickness of Mr. Smith who has been threatened with pneumonia. We are glad to report that he is improving.

D. W. Cummins will remove with his family to Independence this week where he has arranged to open a real estate office. Newberg will hold a place for them as they will not remain away long.

Mrs. J. D. Gordon and son Harry left for Southern California on Tuesday, where they expect to spend the remainder of the winter. Mr. Gordon will probably join them later for a short time.

Miss Hazel Young, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Young was married to Thomas Marsden, of Portland, at the home of the bride at the M. E. parsonage on last Sunday at the hour of 12:30 in the afternoon, in the presence of the immediate family and a few of their friends, the father of the bride officiating. The bride has been holding a position as stenographer in the German American bank in Portland and the groom is in business in the city. Their home will be in Portland.

On New Years Evening a rattling good game of basket ball was played in the college gymnasium between the High School and the college Freshmen. In the first half of the game there was little to choose between the two teams, but as time faded away the Freshmen added several notches to their score stick, the final result being 27 to 17. Those representing the High School were the two Larkins, Motschenbacher, Henry, Brunton and Otis. The winners were Lewis, Newby, Smith, Hadley and Rees.

New Years Eve was observed in a very satisfactory and substantial way at the Friends church, the pastor, Rev. Weaver, giving the men of his congregation a supper. Tables were set in the Christian Endeavor room, from which the benches had been removed, and eighty men proceeded to put the good things before them where they would do the most good. The ladies of the church kindly arranged for the supper which was served by the young ladies of Mrs. Weaver's Sunday School class—with the full "consent of the governed." Not the least factor in the success of the occasion was the violin music discoursed by Miss Doris Gregory. The after dinner program was called as follows: "The Masculine in Christianity," Prof. W. J. Reagan; "Relations of the Membership to the Pastor," Prof. F. K. Jones; "The Laboring Man and the Church," Allen Jay; "The Business Man and the Church," J. C. Colcord. The evening was a success, not only from a gastric standpoint, the mingling together of the members socially being greatly appreciated by all concerned.

Miss Grace Finley visited friends at Liberty the first of the week.

Charles Flynn and family were up from Portland last week visiting at the home of Mrs. Flynn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Finley.

Miss Bessie Mills, daughter of A. O. Mills, left Monday for Southern California where she expects to remain some time with relatives.

Howard Harrold who came home from the State University at Eugene to spend the holidays returned to his work the first of the week.

Walter Inman left for his former home in Hamilton county, Indiana last Saturday, in response to a telegram saying his mother was dangerously sick.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Elliott were down from Salem the latter part of the week visiting with relatives. They took with them on their return little Marjorie, the year and a half old daughter of L. W. Charles, she recently being left without a mother.

The public library has been removed to the upper room of the building occupied by F. E. Vestal, the barber. A number of new books were recently bought, which added to those already in the library makes a very nice start toward a permanent library of useful reading.

All day services were held at the M. E. church on New Years day, Evangelist M. C. Van Marten being present and revival services were begun. Rev. Young, the pastor, has been conducting the meetings during the week while the evangelist is completing some work in Oregon City, he being expected to return again the last of the week to continue the meetings.

Rev. J. E. Blair, pastor of the Presbyterian church, has accepted the call, of which mention was made last week, for work in one of the suburbs of San Francisco and will leave for that field some time next week. He goes with the privilege of remaining permanently or not as he may desire, and consequently he will leave his family here during the winter at least. It seems pretty rough to pull up and leave a fine new church building just completed, but he says his labors all along have been more of pioneer work in laying sure foundations for others, and he feels at home in this kind of service. Besides being an active, efficient pastor, Rev. Blair is an all around good fellow and we are exceedingly sorry to see him leave Newberg. The local church will hold a business session on Sunday, when it is understood a decision will be reached in the matter of calling a new pastor.

The snowstorm of the week has caused the old timers to take several glances backward by way of refreshing their memories and comparing other storm periods in order to be able to properly post the tenderfoot regarding the past, the present and the probable future. Little did we anticipate a veering of the wind to the north-east and the coming of snow on going to bed Monday night, but on Tuesday morning the ground was already white and the beautiful continued to fall throughout the day, while the wind did its best to keep things stirring, just a little after the manner of the obstreperous prairie wind, the freaks of which many of our readers have a very good memory. The snowfall has reached a depth of eight inches and is still falling, while the mercury has not been lower than 17 above the zero mark. Some sleds have appeared on the streets and others are in course of hasty construction. If the weather man holds his grip at the present gait, pretty fair sleighing may be anticipated, and the sporty youngster may blow himself for a string of jingle bells with a fair prospect of attracting the attention of some fair maiden who under other circumstances would turn up her nose at a mere glance from him.

Dell Butler of Monmouth, was in town Wednesday visiting with his uncle, J. E. Hale.

Elzie Hollingsworth who has been here for several months visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hollingsworth, left for Delhart, Texas, last Monday morning where he will again take up railroading as engineer on a freight.

A missionary service will be held in the Free Methodist church Sunday at 11 a. m. Jan. 10. A program by the Sunday School will be rendered. Also a sermon by the pastor. All are cordially invited to attend. E. L. SMITH, pastor.

The weather during the week has been ideal for testing the new heating plant that has just been installed at the public school building, and Principal Wiley says it is furnishing plenty of heat and is giving good satisfaction. The company that installed the plant promised to furnish the Graphic a full description of the system but it has failed to show up.

Roy Fitch, Ernest Hadlock and Haines Burgess who will represent Pacific College in the approaching series of the College Debating League of Oregon are hard at work on the ship subsidy question which is the subject at issue. To give them some good hard practice, Professors W. J. Reagan, W. A. Newlin and Rev. A. J. Weaver have organized themselves into an opposing team and the first skirmish will take place at the college this evening. Anyone interested may feel free to attend.

P. N. Skinner is at home again from Leavenworth, Kansas, where he was called by telegram on account of the illness of his mother, though he did not arrive until after her death, which came at the age of eighty-one years. The deceased and her husband, Archibald Skinner who preceded her, were prominent early settlers in Leavenworth. Besides the one son, P. N. Skinner of Newberg, she leaves two daughters, Mrs. S. D. Ryan of Leavenworth and Mrs. S. M. Kelsey of Cleveland, Ohio.

The Oregon Electric surveying crew spent considerable time last week on the survey made earlier in the season between Newberg and the gap of the mountain at Rex, straightening the line. This last work puts the line on the south side of the wagon road at Rex and swings around the hill to the south, entering the valley far enough down to just miss the L. S. Otis farm, when a bee line is made for Newberg, entering town on Second street. This survey cuts off about two hundred feet along the south side of the Levi Lewis farm, better known as the Brutscher place.

The hill back of the Joseph Wilson residence was the scene of a good deal of activity on Wednesday night until a late hour when young men and maidens, boys and girls congregated there with sleds for a slide down the hill. Such opportunities don't come to residents of the Willamette valley very often and they must be made the most of while they last. The oftener the sled turns over and spills the occupants out in the snow the merrier is the crowd, and boys who would scorn to split an armful of kindling in such weather will stay at the "slide" until midnight and vow they are not the least bit cold.

The first inter-high school debate of the Oregon High School Debating League in which the Newberg High School will participate, will be held on Friday evening of this week in Duncan's Hall. The High School will be represented by Dale Trew, Kathryn Bryan, and Vernon Motschenbacher. The opposing team comes from North Yamhill. The question to be debated is: "Resolved, that the Federal Government should own and operate the railroads." The Newberg team supports the Negative. The judges are Hon. F. W. Mulkey of Portland, Prof. J. B. V. Butler of Monmouth, Hon. M. C. George of Portland. A large attendance will be appreciated. Admission twenty-five cents.

A tempest in a teapot is a familiar phenomenon; but only those who live in the cyclone belt are permitted to observe a teapot in a tempest. While you are tinkering around at this season making things, make a few good resolutions, and then stick to them like a sand-bur to a sheep's tail.
