The Georgians now swear by Taft since he partook of their banquet of 'possum and sweet 'taters. Good feeling often comes by way of the stomach.

The troubles of the republican party in Oregon are grievous to be Bourne, and this last dose of Chamberlain's pain balm has not relieved its gizzard to any great extent.

Tom Kay, of Marion, made just a little bigger fool of himself than any of the rest of the bunch of republicans who voted for a democratic senator at Salem the other day.

No, Chamberlain can't fool all the people all the time, but he don't need to. He can fool enough of them in Oregon to get anything he wants and that is sufficient in practical politics.

While our friends the democrats are casting about for an available candidate for governor, what is the matter with Tom Kay, of Marion. Simply by way of suggestion, since he made good for the party over at Salem the other day.

What will become of poor Mike Wisdom and W. H. Wehrung when there are ten dollar a day exposition jobs to be handed out and our George is down and out of the governors seat? Kind hearted children will please continue to put out crumbs in stormy weather.

Conwell handed the town knocker a few jolts that ought to go home to a class of people who seem to get a whole lot more comfort from the growls they can make, than from saying a good word for their town and in trying to unite the forces for bettering conditions.

There appear to be conflicting statements regarding the sale of wet goods in territory voted dry, and from those most interested in the sale of beverages too. For instance the wholesalers and their friends throughout the country have been telling us all along that more whiskey and beer was being sold in territory voted dry than was sold formerly by the saloons, and now comes one A. J. Ray, of Salem, a hop dealer, with a long statement covering the future gloomy outlook as he sees it, and among other things he says, "The prohibition movement has made very serious inroads into the business and the end is not yet. The beer sales the past year declined ten per cent." The change in the seasons here in Oregon don't appear to be so marked as to warp statements in this way but that is the way they come to us.

When Russell H. Conwell reached Newberg a telegram was here awaiting him, from Pulitzer of the New York World, asking for his opinion of the libel suit President Roosevelt has instituted against him. Conwell said he had not fully made up his mind what he would send to the World, but he said that while he believed Pulitzer deserved prosecution for the course he took in the Panama matter, he thought the President was belittling his position, and that the government was getting down to small business in prosecuting a citizen or a newspaper for libel. On being asked what he thought of Taft he said he was more of the McKinley type, more inclined to weigh matters as a conservative with a level head—a magnificent type as he regards him for president.

The members of the Portland Commercial Club are evidently firm in their belief in the soundness of the scripture statement that "man cannot live by bread alone." At least the report of President Hodson shows that the club restaurant ran behind $10,000 during the past year, while the bar showed up with the neat little sum of $6,000 on the other side of the balance sheet. Of course it is possible that the members regard the bar products as more efficacious for boosting purposes than ham sandwiches and limburger.

On behalf of the business men of Newberg who are back of the Star Lyceum course this season, the Graphic extends to a generous public sincere thanks for the liberal patronage bestowed, and the kind words of appreciation spoken for the two numbers already given. The third and last number will come on March 26, when Alton Packard, the noted cartoon artist and humorist, will appear before a Newberg audience for the first time. Mr. Packard's press comments are all right and people in Newberg who have heard him say he always makes good with his audiences. Owing to various reasons it was thought best to offer but three numbers this season, all high class, but it is hoped that more numbers can be added another season, thus making each number come cheaper to those who purchase season tickets.

Here's a pointer for the legislature now in session: A gentleman enters a county printing office, which by hard work and by scripping of money has secured a Gordon jobber and a gasoline engine. He doffs his hat says good morning and spits on the floor, at the same time throwing out a smile that warps the ceiling, touches the engine with his foot, he takes out a book scribbles a line or two, says "good morning" and passes out. This gentleman is the inspector of factories and workshops, and his annual visits costs every printing office $5, which is just so much money stolen from the proprietors. In large cities an inspector of factories and workshops is probably needed, but it is simply a graft when it comes to assessing a small office $5 for an unnecessary "inspection."—Western Oregon.

What has become of the committee on legislation appointed by the State Press Association a year ago? Indeed what has become of the State Press Association?
