Local Events.

Alton Packard, the cartoon artist is coming.

Grass is beginning to start in sheltered places sufficiently to make the cows smile.

A hot time is in anticipation of the basketball meet at the college gym, Friday night. You will want to see it.

Nathan White has sold two acres of his home tract in town, and consequently will curtail his farming operations.

Mrs. Jay Gardner and little ones were down from Rosedale the first of the week visiting with her sister, Mrs. Nelson Morrison.

There is only one Packard and he will be here on Wednesday night of next week. He draws pictures and crowded houses. You will want to hear him.

Sunday evening at the Friends Church Mrs. L. F. Addison, a lecturer of national fame, will speak on the subject of Social Science. Everyone invited. You can't afford to miss it.

Architect S. E. Watkins says the outlook is good for building in Newberg this season. Plans are being worked out for some new business houses and there will be many new residences built.

Holders of season tickets for the lyceum course may call at the usual places on Friday morning and secure reserved seats for the Packard entertainment, which occurs on Wednesday night of next week.

N. L. Wiley, the Rex poultryman, has a very readable article in the last number of the Oregon Agriculturist, in which he tells the uninitiated how to successfully operate incubators and brooders.

Dr. J. B. Moore, who was the first practicing physician Newberg had was here last week visiting with his brothers, A. E. and C. F. Moore. For the past year or two he has been in California with his family on account of the health of their daughter.

The Williams Jubilee Singers, composed of four men and four ladies, made good before a Newberg audience at the hall on last Thursday night. Their work is high class and none need hesitate in making an engagement with them. They are worth the money.

The class of Pacific College of '97 is making good progress in the matter of enlarging the family circle. Will G. Allen recently reported a new baby boy in the family at Eugene, and now comes D. P. Price with an announcement of the late arrival of a daughter in his home circle at Portland.

Seth A. Mills made a hasty visit to the Sound country last week, but soon decided that there were too many big stumps on the land up that way to suit him. He visited with Jonathan and Jane Votaw at Tacoma, former residents of Newberg, finding the former rather feeble in body, but the latter was in good health and looking but little older than when they left here.

As a result of an accident, or casualty, whichever you may call it, the old family mare which has been doing faithful duty for C. E. Newhouse for many years, was consigned to the boneyard on Wednesday, and there is mourning in the Newhouse family. Since taking an interest in the Wilson grocery, Mr. Newhouse has been driving into town each day and tying the mare in the Wilson barn. On Wednesday forenoon a commotion was heard about the barn and on investigation it was found that the mare had got her head fast in the manger and in pulling back had fallen, breaking her neck.

J. D. Gordon has bought the Dr. Bowers property on North Meridian Street.

Miss Cleo White of McMinnville spent Sunday in town with Miss Vesta Kramien.

S. A. Mills and wife went to Corvallis Tuesday to visit with the former's brother, Dr. A. Mills.

Mrs. A. Clark was up from Portland on Tuesday making arrangements for the funeral of her father, Milton Hampton.

W. H. Galland is improving nicely and expects to be able to return home from St Vincents hospital some time next week.

B. C. Miles is reported to be improving rapidly now. He and the family went to Newport last week to remain for some time.

Don't throw your old shoes, tin cans and empty bottles into the streets, but rather put them into a box or barrel to await garbage day.

Uriah Badley who suffered a stroke of paralysis a short time ago is improving and it is expected he will be out again in due time.

Report comes to the office that the Ramsey hill near town on the Dayton road, which was reported to be in a very bad condition, has been much improved. Very good.

James Townsend and wife are recent arrivals from Fountain City, Indiana. They are visiting with their daughters, Mrs. W. I. Kelsey and Mrs. J. C. Hodson.

A fine game of ball is expected for Friday night when the P. C. team will play Philomath. Help the boys out in the expense account by attending, and at the same time enjoy a good game.

H. R. Morris has sold his twenty-five acre tract located a mile and a half north of town to J. J. Jordan, who recently came to the valley from Hood River, the price being $200 per acre.

The contract for carrying the mail to and from the depot from the postoffice has been awarded to B. F. Higgins at $14 per month, and he has already been mustered into the service. Cheap enough.

The Spaulding people say Newberg is furnishing them a much better local market for lumber and other building material than any of the other towns in the valley. All the knockers in the country don't appear to be able to retard the growth of Newberg.

Packard says: "I carry with me, my 'entire company,' consisting of one large bundle, two grips and an umbrella—all stars. I am the leading lady, also the villain and the tenor robusto, also the basso profundo, property man, Marks, Little Eva, Topsy and the ferocious bloodhounds—in fact, I am the whole business."

A very good sized delegation went to Corvallis to hear the oratorical contest on last Friday night. First honors went to Willamette University, with the University of Oregon a very close second. Haines Burgess, who represented Pacific College, is reported to have acquitted himself in a very creditable manner, though he was unable to reach the goal.

As will be seen by reading the statement made elsewhere in this issue of the Graphic by the officers of the Bank of Newberg, under the head of "Announcement," this bank, which is one of the oldest banking institutions in the county, has been converted into a National bank and in the future the business will be done under the name of the United States National Bank of Newberg. The change to the new order of things was made on last Monday and business was begun under the new name. The policy of the bank has always been along conservative lines, and consequently it has gained the confidence of the public, which it continues to hold. The officers remain the same as before.

A few enthusiastic gardeners have been spading for garden "sass."

Noah Heaster and family are preparing to remove to Corvallis this week.

Rev. Marion George, of Portland, was in town on business the first of the week.

C. C. Ferguson looked in on that august body of men at the extra session of the legislature last Tuesday.

S. G. Irvin was over from Newport Wednesday helping to get his aunt, Mrs. Ewing and daughter, get located in their new home out north of town, adjoining the S. W. Newhouse place on the north. The Ewings are recently from Illinois.

Word was received here Tuesday of the death of Milton J. Hampton, a former resident of Newberg, which occurred at Jacksonville. The body is to be brought here for burial today. The deceased came to Oregon from Iowa several years ago with his family and up to the time of the death of his wife they lived a part of the time in town, but the greater part was spent on the farm near Dundee which they owned. The children living are one daughter in Iowa, Edgar L. Hampton, a son, living in Seattle, Mrs. Alvin Clark, Portland, Mrs. E. P. Dixon and Mrs. H. Dixon, Grants Pass, and Mrs. Hester, wife of Dr. Thomas Hester, Jacksonville. The deceased was for a number of years a minister in the Friends church, but was not actively engaged in the ministry after coming to Oregon. The last few years he has spent with his daughters.

Announcement.

The bank of Newberg, a private corporation, was organized and opened for business in 1889 when Newberg was a mere hamlet. By strict adherence to conservative business principles, it has gained the confidence of the public, while its growth has kept pace with its section. In 1905 the capital stock was increased to $50,000.

It has recently been converted into a National Bank, and in the future the business will be conducted under the name of the United States National Bank of Newberg.

The Bank is now under the supervision of the National Government, and is conservatively managed by a Board of Directors, all of whom have been well known residents of this vicinity for many years.

We take this opportunity for thanking our many depositors for their liberal patronage, and we cordially invite the business of others, to whom we are prepared to extend every courtesy and accommodation consistent with correct and progressive banking methods.

J. L. HOSKINS, President.
J. C. COLCORD, CASHIER.

Baseball.
