Local Events.

J. W. Childs is building a cottage near the Free Methodist church for rent.

Mrs. Emma Bell has been up from Portland during the week visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Orville Hollingsworth.

A number of Newberg people have been in McMinnville during the week, in attendance at circuit court.

Mrs. Orland Heacock is here from LaGrande visiting with relatives and will remain for two or three weeks.

H. L. Christenson and son Will are busy at work building a new house on a lot located west of the depot which they bought of Charley Clemenson.

W. E. White has sold his vacant lot on First street adjoining his improved property on the east to D. L. Hannon, of Goldendale, Washington.

Mrs. Wm Galloway, of McMinnville, paid the Rebekah lodge of Newberg a fraternal visit on Tuesday night. While in town she was the guest of Mrs. W. W. Nelson.

R. Pettyjohn who has been laid up for the past year with creeping paralysis is able to be out on the streets a part of the time in nice weather by the aid of crutches.

President Kelsey and Prof. Wallace Newlin went to Albany last Saturday to attend a conference of the denominational colleges of Oregon. All the institutions were represented and a very interesting meeting is reported.

Seth A. Mills and wife returned from Corvallis and Eugene the first of the week, where they visited with relatives and incidentally took a look at the country. Of the two localities they express a decided preference for Eugene.

The public library appears to be a circulating library in fact as well as in name. The latest move has been to the room over the Bell telephone office, which was occasioned by the room over the Vestal barber shop being rented to "Buster" Brown, the tailor.

Mrs. Yocum is down from her home at the base of Mount Hood visiting with her mother Mrs. Rhoades and her brothers, W. L. and W. O. Robertson. Mr. Yocum has put in a small mill at Cloud Clap Inn and now saves the lumber he needs, which saves a long and tedious haul.

J. C. Keller has been transferred to Greenview, Siskiyou county, California, by the Washington Creamery Co., of Portland, and the family will leave here this week for their new location. Mr. Keller is an all round good fellow, a natural born wit, and his many Newberg friends regret to see him go.

The three Newberg lads who purloined the sugar from the cannery building some time ago were let off by the grand jury this week. They may be thankful that they had friends to intercede for them, and they will make the mistake of their lives if they fail to profit by the experience. A second offense will not be passed by so lightly.

The dedication of the new German Methodist church recently completed on the corner of Third and College streets will take place next Sunday. At the morning service, which will begin at 10.30, the sermon will be preached by Rev. E. E. Hurtzler, of Portland and at 2.30 in the afternoon Dr. H. S. Kimball, of Salem will speak. The speaker in the evening will be Prof. Fred Cramer, of Portland. A cordial invitation is extended to the members of other churches and the public generally to attend any or all these services.

Mrs. Cornell, the widow of the late B. B. Cornell, was hurried Thursday morning.

S. W. Potter started for California last Friday to take a ten days' outing with his brother, who will meet him in San Francisco.

Mrs. Maria Higgins died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Adams in Newberg on last Monday, at the advanced age of ninety-six years.

Word comes from Waitsburg, Washington, that Andrew Pickett, formerly a well known resident of Newberg, is in a very low state of health.

Dr. Bowers continues to occupy his home on the fruit ranch north of town, but has opened an office on Main street opposite the Commercial hotel.

Mrs. Frances Morse left last Sunday for her former home at Western Springs, Illinois, in response to a call from her aged mother, Mrs. Kelsey, who is sick.

Rev. S. P. VanDyke, pastor of the Brethren church has begun the erection of a new cottage near the property beyond the depot formerly owned by W. P. Heacock.

The list of real estate transfers sent down from McMinnville this week was so long that we cut out all except those of interest to people living in this part of the county.

The three years old child of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, who live in the Deskins property on Meridian street, fell into a bucket of hot water Thursday morning and was badly scalded.

Miss Katie Diamond who spent the winter in Kansas and Minnesota is expected to arrive home this week. Her sister, Mrs. Lenora Weeks and her children are coming with her.

George Sykes closed the sale of a body of timber land this week owned by himself, Prof. R. W. Kirk and W. C. Woodward, which is located west of McMinnville in the foothills of the Coast range. In the deal he becomes the owner of the Commercial hotel building on Main Street. The timber was sold to a Union county capitalist.

Mrs. Helen D. Harford arrived home a few days ago. She and Mr. Harford spent considerable time in Southern California, where they found many of their oldtime friends. So many in fact that Mr. Harford has not been able to get away from them.

The large audience that greeted Alton Packard, the cartoonist at Duncans hall on Wednesday night voted him one of the greatest entertainers that ever came to town, after seeing him stand in front of his canvas for two hours. It goes without saying that if Packard ever comes this way again he will have a full house. As a humorist and cartoonist he is worth the money.

J. H. Douglas Jr. received word from Pasadena, California, the first of the week announcing the serious illness of his father, Rev. John Henry Douglas, at his home in that city. On Tuesday morning a message came saying he was better, but in the afternoon another came saying he was worse, and consequently, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas left for Pasadena on the evening train.

The Rev. J. E. Blair three acre tract near town on the north-west has been sold to an Iowa party named Philo Willard, and Mrs. Blair and the children will leave this week for the San Francisco suburb where Rev. Blair is located. He writes that the district he is in, has a population equal to that of Yamhill county, and that he is the only protestant minister in the field. He is at home without doubt, however, for he is busy with building a new church, which seems to be his mission on earth. The Graphic will never forget the kind words spoken by him and if the writer ever passes that way he will go several blocks to give him the glad hand.

M. H. Pitman died at his home at the upper end of Chehalis valley a few days ago at the age of seventy-two years.

C. J. Edwards and Emory Hudson are excavating for their new building on First street opposite the postoffice.

The young man Williams, who was arrested some time ago for passing forged checks on different parties about Newberg and who has since been in the county jail, was convicted at court this week and sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary.

Thomas Roode and wife, the former a brother of Mrs. Mack Kaufman, arrived here from Wabash, Indiana a few days ago and are enjoying our spring weather. They know something of Oregon as they spent several months here some two years ago, and they came this time to remain. Some neighbors who were expected to come with them will come a little later.

J. D. Gordon has a force of painters at work on the house he recently bought of Dr. Bowers. When the work is completed he expects to move into the property until he can build a new home on the lots near the Baptist church, which he purchased some time ago from B. C. Miles. He is already at work on a new barn on the northeast corner of the lots.

Hugh Nelson made a trip out on Salmon river in the Coast mountains last Saturday in connection with some timber land deals. From the Indian reservation he rode on horseback a part of the way and finished the journey through the snow on foot. Toward the top of the range there is about four feet of snow that fell earlier in the season, while about two feet more fell last week, and as the weather last Saturday was not pleasant at best he found it pretty rough traveling.

President Isaac Sharpless, of Haverford College, Pennsylvania, who was announced to deliver a course of lectures here earlier in the year, but was prevented from coming at that time on account of his health, will be here next Sunday morning and in the evening will commence to deliver the course of four lectures. He will speak at the Friends church on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, his subjects being along denominational educational lines. There will be no charge for admission, neither will there be any collections taken. All will be welcome and a general invitation is extended to the public to attend. Haverford College, of which President Sharpless has been the head for a long term of years, is one of the oldest Friends colleges in the country and it has the distinction of paying the highest salaries for its teaching force of any college in the United States. He is a well informed man and it will be worth while to hear him.

High School Items.

(By the Pricers From Committee.)

Mr. Kletzer was in Portland Saturday obtaining supplies for the laboratory and the track team.

Miss Maude Gregory of the Senior class read an essay in assembly Wednesday morning entitled "Music."

Mrs. Additon, of Portland, the honorary president of the W. C. T. U. addressed the assembly Monday morning.

The number of pupils remaining in the school last year at the end of the sixth school month was 557, this year 730.

The Juniors contemplate giving a play, in honor of the graduating class, at the end of the school year, entitled "The Rivals," by Sheridan.

The debate between The Dalles and Newberg will be held here on April 9. The question to be debated is, "Resolved that the United States should maintain a system of subsidies and bounties for the protection of the American Merchant Marine."

Short Talk on Clothing for 1909

The test of a suit of clothes isn't how it looks here in the store. By the time the body has wriggled into it and your favorite bones have found nesting places, it takes mighty skillful draping and unusually well performed shaping to keep a coat balanced in the same position that it assumed the first hour you slipped into it.
